CHILEAN HEIRESS ARRESTED

WANTED TO GET HER SON

"I Am Glad I Did It," She Said, Because Father Had Kept Boy from Her.

Mrs. Bianca De Saulles shot and killed her former husband, John Longer De Saulles, ex-captain of Yale's football team and society man, on the porch of his country home, "The Box," in the Meadow Brook Colony, near Westbury, L. I., at 10 o'clock last night. About an hour later Constable Thorn found the woman, who is a Chilean heiress, 23 years old and famous for her beauty, hiding behind a hedge in the rear of the house. With her was her maid, Susanna Monteau. When he arrested her, Mrs. De Saulles exclaimed:

"I killed him and I am glad I did it. He refused to give me my child, although he was ordered by the court to do so on the first of July. He has refused again and again since then to let me have the boy."

From what could be learned last night, Mrs. De Saulles, who drove her own touring car from her home at Roslyn, L. I., with her maid, walked up to the porch on which her husband was sitting, presented a revolver at his head and demanded that he should give up the child instantly. De Saulles either sought to parley with her or to disarm her, and a few seconds later she fired five shots at him.

He sank back on a couch on the porch, where he was found dying by his father and sister. While they attended him the cook called up the hospital and then the county authorities. De Saulles was taken to the Nassau County Hospital, where he died at 10:20.

The father and sister of the dead man told Constable Thorn that Mrs. De Saulles had killed him. Her automobile was still outside of the house, but she had made no effort to escape in that, and neither the family nor neighbors who were aroused by the shooting had sought to detain her.

Mrs. De Saulles was unarmed when the constable found her. When asked what she had done with the weapon, she said that it would be found near the hatrack. The constable went into the hall, which the woman had entered after the shooting, evidently in search of the child. There he found a new revolver with five empty shells in it.

Mrs. De Saulles did not find the child and the authorities were not sure last night whether the boy was at "The Box" or not. The decree of divorce recommended by Referee Phoenix Ingraham provided that the mother should have complete custody of the child during the months of August, September, and October. In spite of this the father kept the child, and it was this, according to the mother's statement which caused her to shoot him. On a charge made by the constable, Justice of the Peace Walter R. Jones held Mrs. De Saulles for murder in the first degree and held the maid in bail of $1,000 as a material witness. Both were locked up in the Nassau County Jail at Mineola.

Mrs. De Saulles was formerly Señorita Bianca Errazuriz of Santiago, Chile. She came of a prominent and wealthy family, one of her uncles having been President of the Republic, while she was heir to millions invested in railroad and mining interests.

Mrs. De Saulles was allowed entire possession of the child during the months of July, August, and September. During the school year, however, it was provided that the child should be in the father's custody, but that the mother might be with the boy three hours each day. It was specified that after the war, when traveling was safe, Mrs. De Saulles might go abroad for the period of seven months and take the boy with her.

John Longer De Saulles was a football player whose name as a gridiron star passed into tradition with those of a dozen or more who have stood head and shoulders above the ordinary celebrities. He was Captain of the Yale 'Varsity team in 1901, the year in which he was graduated.

He went to Chile in 1911 as representative of the South American Concessions Syndicate. It was on this trip that he met Señorita Errazuriz, then living on her mother's immense estate at Vina del Mar, a suburb of Valparaiso. Señorita Errazuriz was the daughter of a woman whose beauty had given her the name of "The Star of Santiago," and the daughter's beauty was held to rival that of her mother in her prime. Shortly after the meeting the engagment of the couple was announced, and the marriage took place at Paris in December, 1911.

The dead man was prominent in many ways. He was well known in the business world as a member of the real estate firm of Heckscher & De Saulles, at 50 East Forty-second Street. He had been interested for a time with ex-Senator William H. Reynolds in the devel-

By The Associated Press.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Aug. 3.—It has been learned that at least a part of the German infantry is now wearing steel armor, which covers the chest and stomach. This armor is in the form of a sheet of steel which is attached to the shoulders and gives the wearer the appearance of just having stepped out of the Middle Ages.

Specimens of the armor found on German prisoners have been examined and found to be vulnerable to rifle fire. On the whole the armor seems a very unsatisfactory protection, and its weight renders the movements of a man accoutered most difficult.

FOOD BILL PASSES; ITS FOES ASSAILED

LIKENED TO ANARCHISTS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The House voted unanimously today to accept the conference report on the Administration's Food Control bill, and the adopted report will go to the Senate for action tomorrow. The vote in the House was 357 to 0. Representative McLemore of Texas voted present. On the viva voce vote the House subsequently adopted the conference report on a companion bill for a food survey by the Department of Agriculture and the "stimulation of production." This bill was passed several weeks in advance of the major measure.

The debate on the conference report on the Food Control bill brought a speech from Representative Heflin attacking persons and interests opposing the war legislation of the Administration. Mr. Heflin was so bitter in his attacks upon two members of the House—Representatives Britten and Mason of Illinois, (Republicans)—that some of his remarks were stricken from the record.

Representative Heflin accused Mr. Britten and Mr. Mason, who are out of the city, of "stirring up opposition to the war and the selective draft." The Alabama member also criticised sharply members of the Senate who obstructed the passage of the Food Control measure and the Aviation bill.

His speech caused considerable excitement in the House and he was called to order for referring to members of Congress by name. Speaker Clark said, however, that while this was against the rules, members were frequently guilty of omitting the third person reference.

Lever's Work Commended.

Chairman Lever of the Committee on Agriculture was commended during the debate for bringing about the retention of so many of the House provisions of the bill and the elimination of Senate amendments. However, Representative Gillett of Massachusetts complained that Mr. Lever and his fellow-conferees had erred in one particular.

"I regret the elimination of the Senate amendment for creation of a committee on war expenditures," said Mr. Gillett, the ranking Republican of the Appropriations Committee. "This proposed committee is to stand for the rights and powers of Congress against the rights and powers of the Executive. The chairman of the conference failed to protect the rights of the House, but has catered instead to the President. The only argument against this provision was the letter of the President. While I have great respect for the President, he is not omniscent and cannot possibly know personally about all the expenditures that are made for the conduct of the war."

Representative Kahn, Republican of California took an opposite view, complimenting the conferees for standing out against the war expenditures committee.

"We have had these 'snooping committees' before," said Mr. Kahn, "and they have spent thousands of dollars and accomplished nothing. It is the duty of this country to present a solid front behind the President and not to hamper him in this war. He will have to give an accounting of his stewardship later. Let us help him to bring the war to a speedy and successful conclusion."

Representative Powers of Kentucky offered a motion to recommit the conference report because of the coal-price fixing provision. His motion received only a few votes, and a motion by Representative La Guardia of New York to recommit because Mr. Hoover's assistants are not to be under the civil service, was ruled out of order.

Traitors, Cries Heflin.

"The other day one member in another body by his objections held up for ten days the airplane bill. Would Germany have asked anything more? Another one praised the slackers and the traitors of Canada for resisting the selective draft. Would the Kaiser have asked more? Another has tried to discredit Mr. Hoover before the country. And on yesterday another introduced a bill to have a referendum whether the commander in chief should send men out upon the ocean to fight for the liberty of this country. Would the Kaiser have had him change his tactics?

"In this House a member from Illinois introduced a bill, and it is now pending, and the German spy system is having petitions sent to members asking that the selective draft be repealed. Another gentleman from Illinois—Mr. Britten—introduced a bill to exempt all men of

LIST OF CITY MEN FOR ARMY SERVICE GROWING RAPIDLY

With All Boards at Work, Indications Are That 3,400 Will Be Added Daily.

529 IS YESTERDAY'S TOTAL

New York City made a still better showing in the Selective Draft yesterday, and the indications are that by next Monday, when all the 189 exemption boards in the city will be at work, the number of men who will be obtained for the National Army will average about 3,200 a day. Reports received late last night by Deputy Attorney General Roscoe Conkling indicated steady improvement in various parts of the city and a steadily increasing percentage in the number of men who waive exemption.

Draft lists reported up to midnight show that thirty-two exemption boards in the city examined 2,898 men yesterday and accepted 583 of these. This is an average of eighteen to a district.

The best record reported up to midnight was that of Board 118, with headquarters in the Stuyvesant High School, which examined 82 men yesterday, and out of this number 47 who passed the physical test waived exemption. Board 115, with headquarters in West Forty-seventh Street, examined 100 men, and obtained from those who stood the physical tests 42 men for the army.

On the other hand, Board 91, sitting in Public School 1, Henry and Catharine Streets, examined 147 men, and of this total only 16 were obtained for the army. Board 1, sitting at 260 East 138th Street, examined 176 men, and found only 15 who waived exemption. Board 111, at 332 West Forty-third Street, examined 58 men, and reported 2 who had waived exemption.

When Board 90, with headquarters at West Houston and Clarkson Streets, began its examinations yesterday two young Italians stepped forward. Both passed the physical test, and when asked if they would claim exemption both Latins showed their willingness to fight right there. It requires the combined arguments of a board member and several men past draft age to prove to them that they had not been insulted. Both said they were in the war "to fight," and they are now of the National Army. One is Frank Asti and the other Leonard Friscia.

Ready to Do His Best.

H. Jarvis Beach, who lives at the Hotel Warrington, 160 Madison Avenue, appeared before Board 130, sitting in Public School 18, in East Fifty-first Street.

"You needn't waste that time on me," he said, "just count me in. I want to go and I am ready to do my best."

"We are very sorry," said George Gordon Battle of the board, "but we will have to examine you. However, we appreciate your spirit." Mr. Beach will take the physical test this morning. This board continues one of the banner boards of the city. Out of the first fifty men examined yesterday twenty-two who passed the physical examination waived exemption.

Charles Courtois, a wounded veteran of the French army, appeared for examination before this board. He is an artist who was just establishing himself in New York when the war started. He returned to France and enlisted in the 169th Infantry. He was twice wounded, in the thigh and in the arm, and the latter is still partially paralyzed. His discharge is signed by Marshal Joffre.

"If my arm gets strong and I think it will, I am going back to my regiment," Courtois told Mr. Battle.

"I am glad to know you, and since you are not an American I am glad you are a Frenchman," Mr. Battle told Courtois as he shook him by the hand.

Board 139 had its first conscientious objector yesterday. He is Harold E. Roy, who said he belonged to the International Bible Students' League, and, as a member, was unable to fight for his country. Until recently he lived in Canada. Henry Slobotzky, who has been fighting with the French and is now recovering from a wound in the head, showed his furlough papers and was excused. Otto Salm, a member of the Austrian nobility, was among the aliens examined by this board, as was Diego Suarez, an Italo-Spaniard from the Republic of Colombia, who said that one of his brothers had been killed in the Italian service, and another was still fighting under the Italian flag.

Board 115, sitting in Public School 17 in West Forty-seventh Street, got thirty-seven recruits for the national army on Thursday. Yesterday it reported forty-two. One man rejected by the board was Andrew Mellert of 510 West Forty-seventh Street, whose eyes were affected. He left to consult an oculist, and later notified the board that he would appear for a re-examination within three days. Another man asked to see his original registration card, saying "I forgot to write something on it." This was that he was married and was the father of two children. His case is being investigated.

A record in the number of men examined is believed to have been made by Board 130, with headquarters in the Patriotic League at Broadway and 105th

8 Naval Gunners Drowned When the Motano Was Sunk

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Eight naval gunners were lost when the American tank steamer Motano was sunk by a submarine on July 31. Sixteen members of the crew also perished.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Twenty-four lives were lost in the sinking of the American steamer Motano by a German submarine on July 30, according to an official report reaching the State Department today. The master and twenty-two of the crew were saved. The Department's telegram states that four gunners were saved and landed.

TO TAKE 700 SHIPS NOW BUILDING HERE

SHIPS AT SEA COME NEXT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The Shipping Board today decided to commandeer immediately all ships on the stocks in American shipyards and hasten their construction. This means the seizure of about 700 vessels of more than 1,500,000 tons, about 1,024,000 tons of which is being built by British interests.

The commandeering of ships on the stocks will be followed by an order placing under Government control all American-owned ships on the seas, this making it possible for the Government to direct their operations. In the direction of this shiping the Government will work in co-operation with the allied Governments.

It was said today that Rear Admiral Capps, General Manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, who will be in direct control of this phase of the shipping program, was at work on the commandeer order, and that it might become effective tomorrow, or Monday at the latest.

It is proposed that the Government, in order to hurry construction, shall take title to the contracts and the hulls in the present stage of construction. This will make it possible for the Government to put extra shifts of men at work and guarantee additional pay for overtime.

It is likely that in completing the contracts the Government will refuse to pay the high price for steel agreed to by allied countries, and will do its work on the basis of the price to be fixed after the investigation by the Federal Trade Commission into production costs.

The question as to ultimate ownership of the vessels which will be commandeered has not been settled, but final disposition of the foreign craft will be left to negotiations between the United States and the Governments concerned.

If conditions warrant the Government will permit private capital to regain ownership of the vessels after they have been completed; otherwise the Government will take them over. The latter course would involve a large expenditure of money some officials favor putting to other use.

General Goethals's plan for constructing two Government-owned shipyards for building fabricated steel ships is to be taken up by the Shipping Board later. It is understood that Rear Admiral Capps is opposed to the form of contracts proposed by the General for this work, and that the whole plan may be abandoned. In that event the fabricated ships would be built in private yards for Government account.

American steamship owners here declined yesterday to comment on the plan of the Shipping Board to commandeer all shipping now under the American flag. The impression was general that the Panama, Ancon, Colon, and Allianca of the Panama Railroad Company, which are Government owned, would be taken over for the Atlantic trade, as they are big freight carriers, and that steamships of the United Fruit Company would have to carry freight from Colon to New York at Government rates. Two of the largest United Fruit liners are already in service of the Navy Department.

It is understood that several steamships engaged in the West Indian and Central American trade, will be taken off within fifteen days and put into the Atlantic trade to carry food to the Allies.

The American Line fleet which carries passengers and mails and about 3,000 tons of provisions on every voyage to England will not be interfered with by the Shipping Board, it is said.

SAYS ALLIES CAN WIN IN SHIPPING CONTEST

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A leading authority on shipping said today that a survey of the present situation, just completed, showed that there was enough available tonnage and enough shipbuilding capacity to insure success to the allied nations. A rearrangement of belligerent and neutral tonnage for allied uses and great sacrifices of trade would be required, he insisted. In part, he said:

"One of the problems for America is to determine how much of her South American trade she can sacrifice, either by actually cutting off her ships that call at South American ports or by substituting for her ships neutral vessels, unsuitable for the war trade, thereby freeing the American ships. Great Britain has apportioned 2,000,000 tons of her shipping to allied uses, and this does not include the amount she has taken over for her own war service.

"The sacrifices that have been made and that are being made will not be accompanied in any instance by jealousy or hard feeling if all the belligerents at war with Germany make them together. Thus would eliminate the most difficult problem in connection with this phase of the war, because it would leave no room for the charge that one country was trying to slip in and take trade away from another."

AMERICAN LABOR SHUNS COUNCIL AT STOCKHOLM

WEAKENS HENDERSON PLAN

America Again Has Supplied Leadership for Allies, Says London Morning Post.

AUSTRIA REPORTED YIELDING

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—W. A. Appleton, Secretary of the General Federation of Trade Unions, and M. Jouhaux, Secretary of the French Fédération Générale du Travail, cabled recently to Samuel Gompers, asking whether American labor intended to be represented at the proposed international conference at Stockholm. Yesterday Appleton received the following reply by cable from Gompers:

Jouhaux having asked my opinion upon a conference of labor representatives of all countries, I am replying as follows:

In responding to your request for my opinion of an invitation to a conference of labor organizations of all countries, without hesitation I answer that such a conference cannot at this time or in the near future be productive of good, and as far as the American Federation of Labor is concerned it will not send representatives. New and more favorable results must develop before a conference of labor of all countries can advantageously be held.

The Morning Post, in an editorial headed "American Ginger," remarks that Arthur Henderson in the Commons took great credit to himself for having secured a postponement of the international conference on the ground that "a great country like America and the great American Labor Federation would be enabled to be represented." Gompers's message, continues The Post, makes short work of Henderson's conclusion, which he expressed in the Commons, that the Stockholm conference was inevitable.

"Once again," says the paper, "the Allies, and particularly the Government of this country, have to thank America for its timely lead. While our Ministers are paltering with pacifism, the leader of American labor puts his foot down much in the manner of our own Seamen's and Firemen's Union a short while ago. Yesterday Bonar Law went so far as to hint vaguely that the Government might, after all, refuse passports for the Stockholm conference. Can this suggestion of new courage be an effect already of Gomperian forcefulness?"

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR RECEIVES MICHAELIS

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Emperor Charles of Austria received in audience yesterday Dr. Michaelis, the German Imperial Chancellor, says a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Central News Agency.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3. — According to a published account of conversations in Dresden, Chancellor Michaelis said that while he was ready to accept any opportunity given to him to secure an honorable peace the requirement of the hour for Germans was to avoid any manifestation of nervousness and prove to their opponents that Germany's might was unweakened.

Germany's opponents, Dr. Michaelis said, had been greatly encouraged by the exhibition of nerves in the latest inner crisis and by the German longing for peace, which was interpreted abroad as a sign of weakening of the German people. Peace would be brought no nearer, he said, by such things, adding that the Government would continue its efforts for peace, but would avoid earlier mistakes.

Chancellor Michaelis intimated that the prospects for a speedy peace were not bright, but that unexpected developments at any moment might bring the question to a head and produce tangible results. He appealed for unity and declared that the entire German press must back the Government in all vital questions.

General Erdelli Shot in the Back By Treacherous Assassin in Petrograd

PETROGRAD, Aug. 3.—General Erdelli, Military Governor of Petrograd, says the Bourse Gazette, has been killed. He was treacherously shot in the back.

General Erdelli, a dispatch from Petrograd on July 25 announced, had been appointed Military Governor of Petrograd, in succession to General Polovtseff, who had resigned after failing to put down rioting in the Russian capital. General Erdelli had been commander of the Eleventh Army. According to a dispatch from Petrograd published yesterday, however, General Vasselkovski, a Cossack officer, had been appointed to command the troops in Petrograd.

BRITISH OCCUPY ST. JULIEN AGAIN

GERMANS FEAR WAR IS LOST

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The British troops have again occupied the village of St. Julien, northeast of Ypres, which they lost late on Tuesday after sweeping beyond it in the first rush of the offensive. This announcement is made by the War Office tonight. The British also improved their positions south of Hollebeke, while north of the Ypres-Roulers railway their fire broke up an attempted counterattack.

The total number of prisoners captured by the British and French in Tuesday's battle was 6,122, including 132 officers.

East of Monacy-le-Preux, on the front east of Arras, the British have retaken nearly all the ground on Infantry Hill that they lost to the Germans.

In the course of the day our troops again established themselves in St. Julien. North of the Ypres-Roulers railway bodies of German infantry, massing for a further counterattack were broken up by the fire of our artillery and the enemy was unable to develop his attack. We gained ground during the night south of Hollebeke.

East of Monchy-le-Preux the enemy has been driven from nearly the whole of the ground gained by him in last night's attack. Hostile raiding parties were repulsed during the night northwest of Gouzeacourt and southwest of Fontaine-Les Croisilles.

Parties of our troops successfully raided the enemy trenches south of Lombaertzyde.

The number of German prisoners captured by the Allies in the operations on Tuesday was 6,122, including 132 officers.

The statement made public earlier in the day said:

The weather continues wet and stormy. Early last night the enemy renewed his attempt to drive us from our positions on Infantry Hill, east of Monchy-le-Preux. After a heavy preliminary bombardment his troops, attacking on a front of about a half mile, succeeded in obtaining temporary possession of a portion of our front line trenches at two points. Our counterattacks, in which we secured a few prisoners, have already regained part of the lost ground.

During the night the enemy also endeavored to raid our trenches southeast of Queant and attacked one of our newly established posts northwest of Warneton. He was repulsed in both cases.

The statement issued in Paris this afternoon says about the situation in Flanders:

The Paris communication, issued this evening, says:

GERMAN 1918 CLASS ALL AT THE FRONT

By The Associated Press.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Aug. 3.—German officers captured in the battle in Flanders have discussed quite freely both the military and political situation as it affects the Fatherland. Germany's loss in man-power they admit to be serious.

The interesting information has been volunteered by these prisoners that the class of 1918 recruits is now in the field in its entirety, and, what is more significant, it is said that small elements of the 1919 class already are at the front, although it is asserted that they are serving only as volunteers. This is the first time that any German officer has admitted that any men of the 1919 class were on the battlefront.

The whole trend of the statements made by these captive officers is that they are beginning to fear that they may lose the war. More depressing than anything else is the fear that there

AUSTRIAN ARMY IN CZERNOWITZ

KIMPOLUNG ALSO GIVEN UP

BERLIN, Aug. 3, (via London.)—Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, has been captured by the Teuton forces, according to the official statement issued today by the German General Staff. Austro-Hungarian forces penetrated the city from the north early today, while other troops under personal command of Archduke Joseph entered from the west. The statement reads:

Eastern Theatre: Front of Prince Leopold, Army Group of General von Boehm-Ermolli—To the east of Husiatyn there were local engagements. In spite of stubborn resistance by the Russians several villages on the lower course of the Zbrocz were captured by storm. The Bavarian Landsturm especially distinguished itself during the capture of Kudrynce.

Between the Dniester and the Pruth the enemy still made a stand in the morning. In the first hours of the afternoon he began to give way and retreat before the army group of Infantry General Litzmann. Villages to the north of Czernowitz are enveloped in flames, indicating the rout of the Russians.

Early this morning Austro-Hungarian troops under Col. Gen. Krit, coming from the north, penetrated into Czernowitz to the south of the Pruth, while the royal and imperial troops under the personal command of his Imperial Highness and Commander of the Army Front, Archduke Joseph, entered the city from the west. The capital of Bukowina has been liberated from the enemy.

Further south other forces operating on the front of Archduke Joseph yesterday penetrated the Russian positions near Slobdozia and Davideny. Czudyn, in the valley of the Seret, and Sadeu and Falpei, in the Suchawa Valley, were captured. In Kimpolung the Austro-Hungarians are fighting their way forward in a house to house battle. Also in the mountains on both banks of the Bystritza we have fought our way forward. On Casunului fresh attacks of the enemy were fruitless and caused heavy enemy losses.

The victorious advance of the allied (Teutonic) troop has liberated Galicia, almost completely, and the greater part of Bukowina from the enemy.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 3.—The Russian forces in southeastern Galicia, the official announcement says, after a battle with the Austro-Germans retired across the River Zbrocz at its confluence with the River Dniester. Between the Dniester and the Pruth the Russian retirement is continuing. Kimpolung, in southern Bukowina, has been evacuated. The statement follows:

Western (Russian) Front—In the region of the confluence of the River Zbrocz with the River Dniester the enemy attacked our positions. After a stubborn battle our troops retired across the Zbrocz at some places. The enemy occupied Latkovce, Trubczin and Wolkovce.

Between the Dniester and the Pruth our troops are retiring eastward.

In the Carpathians, the enemy having penetrated our positions occupied Falkei. To the north of Kimpolung our troops are waging a battle on the River Moldovitza.

Rumanian Front—Under the pressure of the enemy we have evacuated Kimpolung. Our troops are engaged in battle on the River Bystritza. There were fusillades on the rest of the front.

Caucasus Front—Northeast of Kigi we beat off a Turkish attack. There was no change on the rest of the front.

Aviation—In the region of Chotin our airman, second Captain of Cavalry Kozakoff, brought down his fifteenth enemy airplane. The Austrian occupants were made prisoner.

Czernowitz has been the scene of some of the most bitter fighting of the war and the Bukowina capital has changed from Teuton to Russian hands altogether ten times.

Czernowitz was first captured by the Russians from the Austro-Hungarians on Sept. 4, 1914, only to be evacuated a few weeks later. In November of that year the Russians again occupied the city and held it until February, 1915. In the following month the Russians again returned to the attack and after a terrific battle stormed the capital and drove the Austrians out. This time the Russians held the position for only two weeks. Twice in January, 1916, the seat of the crownland changed hands, and in June of that year it was again captured by the Russians and held until the present time.

Czernowitz is situated on a hill south of the River Pruth and is about 140 miles southeast of Lemberg, the capital of Galicia. Before the war it had a population of about 70,000.

Root Mission Arrives Safely from Russia

A PACIFIC PORT, Aug. 3.—The American mission to Russia, headed by Elihu Root, reached here tonight en route to Washington.

The mission will remain here over night and will be entertained at a civic luncheon tomorrow. The Governor of the State and the Mayor of the city will be among those receiving the mission. The mission has been away from the United States since May 19.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 3.—As the result of accusations of being connected with the German General Staff, made against M. Tchernoff, the Socialist Minister of Agriculture, whose resignation they had accepted, and of a complete breakdown of the negotiations to bring the Constitutional Democrats into the Cabinet, Premier Kerensky and his fellow Ministers, with the exception of Vice Premier Nekrasoff, resigned tonight. Later, all save M. Terestchenko, the Foreign Minister, withdrew their resignations.

A last attempt will be made to reconstruct the Ministry under Premier Kerensky with the chief new members being exclusively from the Socialist and Radical parties.

In a letter to Premier Kerensky tendering his resignation, M. Tchernoff said his motive was to obtain freedom of action in order to defend his character. His colleagues in acceding to his request expressed the conviction that he would succeed in rehabilitating himself.

Vice Premier Nekrasoff informed The Associated Press that some of the documents supposed to incriminate M. Tchernoff already had been examined. He considered the charges against the Minister of Agriculture as not being very grave, but the Cabinet was obliged to accept the resignation provisionally. These documents are said to indicate that he made contributions to a newspaper in Switzerland which has relations with the German General Staff. It is reported that the portfolio of agriculture will be left vacant temporarily.

New Chief of Black Sea Fleet.

Captain Nemitz has been promoted to be Rear Admiral and Commander of the Russian Black Sea Fleet. He succeeds Vice Admiral Kolchak in command of the fleet.

The Commanding General of the Twelfth Russian Army has decided that all soldiers belonging to units which disbanded owing to mutiny or refusal to take part in an offensive shall wear on their arms a distinctive emblem which shall be black in color. When their conduct under fire shall have rehabilitated them they will be permitted to discard the emblem.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The negotiations between the Russian Cabinet Premier Kerensky and the Constitutional Democrats with a view to the latter joining a coalition government, says a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd dated Thursday, have been broken off.

A dispatch to the same news agency dated Friday in Petrograd, says that M. Avksentieff, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Council of Peasants' Delegates, has been appointed Minister of the Interior.

General Gurko, former Commander of the Armies of the South of the Russian western front, has been arrested, according to Reuter's Petrograd correspondent. It is also announced that the military authorities at Kiev have arrested Ensign Krylenko, a member of the Central Executive Committee of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, on a charge of circulating Maximalist propaganda in the Eleventh Army.

The Times correspondent at Russian headquarters on the southwest front, under date of July 31, confirms reports of improvement in morale in the Russian Army as a consequence of measures against desertions and panics. The correspondent says that disaffected Russian regiments have returned to the front.

Kaiser Entered Tarnopol.

Emperor William and Field Marshal von Mackensen, according to the same dispatch, made a triumphal entry into Tarnopol. The weight of the German offensive, the dispatch adds, appears to be directed toward Kamenets Podilsky enroute to Odessa.

As on former occasions the men in the Russian Cabinet who were put forward to voice the theory of "peace without indemnities or annexations," "land for the peasants," "equality of private and officer," and a lot of other Utopian ideas, have been deserted apparently by their backers, the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates and Council of Peasants' Delegates at the crucial moment.

Terestchenko, a non-Socialist, known as "the Deputy from Kiev," has been a member of the Provisional Government from its inception on March 16, first as Minister of Finance, under Prince Lvoff, then as Foreign Minister in the second Lvoff Cabinet of May 21, and then with the same portfolio when Kerensky, as Premier, was invested with absolute power on July 22. As long as Terestchenko remained in the Cabinet Kerensky had hopes that the "bourgeoisie" of Russia would rally on the union of the Zemstovs or Country Councils as a basis, and then form a strong, rational opposition to the extreme radicals. The "bourgeoisie," however, held back, and gradually Terestchenko lost standing with Prince Lvoff, who as President of the Zemtvos Union, advocated their activity as long as he was Premier, and even resigned that he might attempt to organize them more thoroughly.

Tchernoff came into the reconstructed Cabinet of Prince Lvoff and remained with Kerensky—retained, it is believed, for his influence with the Council of Peasants' Delegates, another organization which Kerensky had hoped would offset the growing influence of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates and keep it from vain obstruction.

Tchernoff soon proved himself to be an extremist, however. He had written a number of pamphlets on land and the agrarian question, and is the representative of the Labor group. He is an advocate of the nationalization of land. The transference of land to the laborers already advocated was in the main principles of the program of the Labor group of 1906. Tchernoff, it is said, thought more of putting his theories into practice than he did of opposing his council to that of the Workmen's and Soldiers.'

Three days ago Terestchenko sent a telegram to the Russian diplomats accredited to the allied powers renewing Russia's pledge to continue the war to a triumphant conclusion.

The retirement of General Gurko was announced last May. It was stated at the time that he had been ordered dismissed because he objected to interference by the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates with the Provisional Government. A few days ago he was summoned to attend the meeting of military chiefs past and present, at Field Headquarters at which Premier and War Minister Kerensky was present. It is said that at this conference the fighting Generals served an ultimatum on Kerensky to keep the army henceforward out of politics, threatening to resign in a body if there was further meddling with their plans.

MINIMIZES CABINET CRISIS.

Bakhmeteff Says Such Events Are Unavoidable and Necessary.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The importance of the resignation of the members of the Russian Cabinet and the breakdown of the negotiations to bring the Constitutional Democrats into the Cabinet was minimized here tonight by Ambassador Bakhmeteff, chief of the Russian mission.

"These conditions are only the result of the development of events and have been in general expected by the earnest student of the situation," he said. "Events of such a kind, no matter how dangerous or threatening they may seem, are unavoidable, natural, and necessary in the process of the reconstruction of the life of 180,000,000 people in the formation of the new, free nation.

"I have pointed out frequently the necessity of overlooking individual facts and occasional happenings and constantly called attention to the tendencies of processes, the outcome of the development of events. It is from this point of view that we have to take things, to question whether conditions are improving, whether constructive processes are taking the upper hand, promising prospects are being realized.

"The period of absence or disorder which followed the formation of the Coalition Cabinet, the lack of anarchy, the sweeping advance of Korniloff's army showed progress and inspired faith. But the facts showed that the constructive processes had not yet been sufficient for the consolidation of the nation, that further trial and sacrifice were necessary."

DEMORALIZATION PERSISTS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

RUSSIAN HEADQUARTERS ON THE SOUTHWESTERN FRONT, Tuesday, July 31, (Dispatch to The London Times.)—The improvement in morale of the Russian armies is far from substantial and unless the whole political situation of the country undergoes a prompt and complete change it would be wrong to indulge in optimistic views.

The reliefs, coming slowly from the interior, provide poor material.

The authority of the officers is still unrecognized owing to the maintenance of army committees.

The death penalty has helped greatly, but this was only the first step, the effect of which will be diminished unless a strong Government appears with the will and the power to place the interests of country above considerations of party and the program of the conferences, proceeding in Petrograd, Moscow and the headquarters, afford scant hope of this.

It is evident that a majority of the persons engaged therein have little comprehension of the magnitude of issues confronting Russia.

Here one has seen the practical results of the activity of the Council of Soldiers and Workmen's Delegates and its Ministers and representatives, both in army and among the peasants and laborers. The so-called revolutionary armies have opened the front for the enemy to walk in. Railwaymen have struck work at a critical moment when everything depends upon the prompt removal of property. In the rear within sound of the guns of the invaders the peasants are robbing the fields and harvesting grain that does not belong to them.

RUSSIA'S ANSWER TO FINNS.

Will Submit Her Own Law Governing Russo-Finnish Relations.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A dispatch from Petrograd says that the Provisional Government's manifesto refusing to acknowledge Finland's independence, dissolving the Landtag, appointing a general election on Oct. 1, and declaring that the Government when the Landtag meets will submit its own law regulating Russo-Finnish relations, is signed by all ten Ministers. It expounds the Provisional Government's contention that Finland enjoys independence only within the limits defined by her Constitution, the essential factor of which is the position of the Emperor and Grand Duke, which has now passed to the Provisional Government.

The independence law, the manifesto says, not being submitted for the sanction of the Provisional Government as the authority invested with the former Grand Duke's right of sanction, is unconstitutional, and further declares that the Government cannot "recognize the Finnish Landtag's right arbitrarily to seize the freedom of will of the coming Constituent Assembly."

The fate of Finland can be decided only in agreement with the Russian people, the manifesto declares.

The Minister for Finland took the manifesto to Helsingfors and delivered it to Governor General Stakovich, who read it to the Senate, after which he made a friendly speech in which he said: "This manifesto is the most democratic action yet performed by the revolutionary Government, for it makes Finland's people master of their own destiny."

The Socialist majority threatens to defy the manifesto and continue in session, while the non-Socialists expect to obey it. It is stated that the members of the High Court have telegraphed to Helsingfors declaring that they would refuse to administer any future Landtag enactments passed under an unconstitutional independence law.

CAPTURE WOMAN WARRIOR.

Russian Lieutenant Forced to Disclose Her Sex to Germans.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 3, (via The Hague.)—It is reported from several points on the eastern frontier that women in considerable number have been noticed in the retreating Russian army, and Russian prisoners say that some women have even officers' rank. One of the latter has now fallen into German hands.

Large numbers of Russian war prisoners are passing through so-called lausoleums, institutions which clean them from vermin. Among those who passed through the lausoleum at Oppeln was a good-looking young Lieutenant who persistently refused to undress and be treated in presence of his comrades. Finally this officer confided to a physician that he was a woman, which on examination by a female nurse was found to be true.

OSCAR II. PASSENGERS HELD.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—With the closing of the Russian border the State Department was notified today from Christiania that 600 passengers on the steamer Oscar II., who were en route to Russia, were forced to stay on board ship.

The Oscar II. arrived at Christiania on July 9 with about 800 passengers, three-fourth of whom were bound for Russia. As the Russian border was closed, the Norwegian authorities refused to allow the passengers for that country to disembark on the ground that there was no possibility of housing them. Many of these passengers are Russians and Finns. According to information reaching the State Department they will probably have to remain on the boat until they can proceed to Russia. A number of Americans en route to Russia, however, have been allowed to land. The newspapers in Christiania announce that entry into Russia is prohibited until Aug. 15.

The American legation at Christiania has informed the State Department that it will be advisable for passengers to Russia to ascertain the exact situation before leaving the United States.

NEW HONOR TO HINDENBURG

Kaiser Bestows Decorations of the Hohenzollern Orders.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A Copenhagen dispatch to Reuter's Limited contains the following message telegraphed by Emperor William to Field Marshal von Hindenburg:

"It is a need of my heart, my dear Field Marshal, at the conclusion of the third year of this mightiest of all wars, in which you incessantly and with brilliant strategy and art have defied the enemy's superior forces and cleared the way for our armies to victory, to express anew to you my inexhaustible thanks.

"I grant you the Cross and Star of the high command of my royal orders of the House of Hohenzollern. The badges will be posted immediately."

Investigate Bulgar General's Death.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—General Kolew, Commander in Chief of the cavalry forces of the Bulgarian Army, died suddenly yesterday in a sanatorium at Vienna. Although death apparently was due to blood poisoning the police of the Austrian capital are reported to be investigating it.

FRENCH DEPUTIES' SESSION PROROGUED

THOMAS'S POSITION IN PERIL

Baron Cochin, in Resigning, Says American State Department Now Controls Blockade.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—The Chamber of Deputies has been prorogued until Sept. 18, following the withdrawal of support from the Government by strong Socialist groups yesterday.

The Cabinet met this morning in the President's Palace to discuss the military and diplomatic situation. M. Painleve has taken over the affairs of the Ministry of Marine pending the appointment of a successor to Rear Admiral Lecaze, who resigned Wednesday.

Albert Thomas, Socialist, who is a member of the War Council, but regarding whose retention of office there has been some discussion, was present at the early part of the conference. He left later to attend a meeting of the Socialist group in the Chamber of Deputies, which, it was said, was to discuss the question of M. Thomas continuing to hold his portfolio.

Baron Denys Cochin, who resigned Wednesday as Under Secretary of State for Blockade, when asked the reason for his action, told the Matin that in view of his close friendship with Rear Admiral Lacaze he thought it was his duty to follow him in retirement. He said he believed that as the American State Department had taken over general control of the international blockade there was not much left for him to do at the Quai D'Orsay. Baron Cochin also said that he had been deeply affected by the loss of two of his sons killed in the war.

According to the Temps, the desire of Rear Admiral Lacaze to resign dates from the recent interpellation on submarine warfare in the Chamber of Deputies. The Government, the newspaper says, recently refused to give the Naval Committee of the chamber power to make a general investigation, but allowed it to investigate certain specified matters, notably the inaction of the French fleet in August, 1914, concerning the German warships Goeben and Breslau, and the conduct of naval operations in Greece in 1916. Admiral Lacaze, it adds, refused to assent to even this restricted inquiry.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The Daily News, which favors the Stockholm International Socialist Conference, learns that if the French Government refuses to issue passports for the French delegates, Albert Thomas, Member of the War Council, will withdraw from the Ministry and French Socialists will cease to have any connection with the Government. The Daily News maintains that if the conference is held the British Government, notwithstanding the statement made by Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons yesterday, will be compelled to grant passports. It holds that the opinion of moderate Conservatives is veering toward a tolerant attitude regarding the conference.

GERMANS' NEW BID TO CONTROL PRESS

COPENHAGEN, July 15, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Attention is now being directed by German Liberal Socialist newspapers to efforts of big business and industry to gain a commanding position over the German press and foreign news field. Before the war Krupp and associated concerns in heavy manufacturing had furnished capital for an enterprise designed to assist German business abroad, particularly in South America and the Orient, by a news service and during the war big businesses have extensively financed news services designed to manipulate neutral opinion by means of press dispatches.

One of these, the wireless concern known as "Transocean," headed by a former Director of the Foreign Office Press Bureau, formed the ambitious project of establishing itself, through control of wireless and a monopoly of official and semi-official news during the war, in such a position in the American field that after the war it would be able to continue to furnish American newspapers direct with its brand of German news delivered from New York as well as in South America and Asia.

The American declaration of war and rupture of wireless communication blocked these plans for a time, but the company, a few weeks ago, held a meeting and doubled its capital stock, money coming from the same old sources.

Now the Foreign Advertisement Company, a concern founded shortly before the war to act as distributing centre for advertising in both foreign and domestic newspapers of a number of great business and industrial concerns, has increased its capital from 200,000 to 1,000,000 marks, and the Munich Post is able to publish the names of its stockholders and those of the holding company controlling it. Forty-four stockholders in the holding company include a whole galaxy of the heavy industrial world, such as Krupp, Stumm, the Hugo Stinnes Steel Works Association, the Sochum and Mulheim mining syndicates, and the Augsburg machine factory, with Director Hugenburg of Krupps holding voting control.

The advertisement company will be able to dispose of the advertising of 150 of the largest German concerns. It is pointed out in the press and admitted by the founders that an institution with such an amount of advertising to distribute may hope to influence editorial views of newspapers.

JEERS "UNTRAINED LOUTS."

Our Army "Chaff," Is Reported View of German Officer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The State Department received today a message which contains an account of the reported views of a certain German naval officer, who said that the military party treated America's entrance into the war very lightly.

The message stated that members of that party said that "America will send over a crowd of untrained louts in wooden vessels that we can sink with hand grenades," and even if the United States should send 5,000,000 men, they would be scattered like chaff for lack of training.

Bread in France 1 Centime a Slice.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Included in the bread card regulations is a stipulation that hotels and restaurants must charge separately for bread. They may serve bread only in slices, and at 1 centime per slice.

U-BOAT SUBMERGED DROWNING 38 MEN

Only Three of Them Survived—Were Left Without Clothing, and One Died of Exposure.

A BRITISH PORT, Aug. 3.—Thirty-eight members of the crew of the steamship Belgian Prince were drowned in a most deliberate manner by the German submarine which sank her, according to the account given by survivors of that British vessel who have reached British shores. The chief engineer of the steamer, who many times after the steamer was torpedoed was perilously near drowning, gave the following narrative of his experiences:

"About 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, when we were 200 miles off land, I saw the wake of an approaching torpedo. The vessel gave a lurch as she was hit, and I was thrown to the deck among the débris. The vessel listed heavily and all of us took to the boats.

"The submarine approached and shelled the vessel and then ordered the small boats alongside the submarine. The skipper was summoned and taken inside. The others were mustered on the deck of the submarine.

"The Germans removed the lifebelts and the outer clothing of all except eight of us, smashed the lifeboats with axes, and then re-entered the submarine and closed the hatches, leaving us on deck. The submarine went about two miles and then submerged.

"I had a lifebelt. Near me was an apprentice boy of 16, shouting for help. I went to him and held him up until midnight, but he became unconscious and died of exposure. At daylight I saw the Belgian Prince afloat. I was picked up after eleven hours in the water by a patrol boat."

The second engineer, who also was a survivor, succeeded in reaching the Belgian Prince before she blew up. The Germans came on board and looted her, he reported. He was in hiding, but finally jumped into the sea and kept afloat on the wreckage.

AMERICAN TANKERS BATTLE WITH U-BOATS

One Is Badly Damaged, Being Saved by Timely Arrival of American Destroyers.

The officers of an American tank steamship, which arrived yesterday at an Atlantic port, told of an encounter they had on July 10 with a German U-boat off the French coast. After a torpedo and twenty-one shots from the deck gun of the submarine had been fired at her, the tanker escaped by her superior speed.

When the torpedo had missed the steamship by forty feet, the officers of the tanker said, the U-boat rose to the surface and commenced to shell the vessel at 2,5000 yards. Sixteen shots from the stern gun of the American steamer were fired at the submarine without effect, and then the tanker got out of range, as the Captain considered his cargo of gasoline too dangerous to take any risks with.

According to the officers of a British steamship which reached an Atlantic port yesterday, they had a narrow escape on the eastward voyage off the English coast from attack by a big U-boat of the latest type, which had apparently been waiting for the steamship to come along. An American oil tank steamship was just twenty minutes ahead of their vessel, the officers said, and she commenced an artillery duel with the submarine.

The tanker was hit by shells which started fires in two of the oil tanks and covered the surface of the sea with burning oil. The tanker was saved by two United States destroyers, which came up at a thirty-knot speed and drove off the enemy craft.

The damaged oil ship was towed into a British port fifty miles away, pouring out her cargo astern all the way.

HOLLAND TO INTERN U-BOAT.

But Will Release Another Held in Port Since February.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—A semi-official statement received here from Berlin says that as a result of an investigation by the International Commission at The Hague, the German submarine U. B. 6 will remain interned in Holland and the U. B. 30 will be released.

The German submarine U. B. 30 stranded on the Dutch Island of Walcheren last February. It was disarmed and interned at Flushing. There are no available records concerning the U. B. 6.

STORM DAMAGES CROPS IN NORTHERN GERMANY

Caterpillar Plague Is Also Causing Loss Throughout the Fatherland.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 3.—The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant says that, according to reports from the frontier, the harvests in Hanover and Westphalia do not look promising.

The storm of last Sunday did great damage, so that the oats and buckwheat now lie flat and the destruction of fruit trees is such that hardly an apple or a pear is left on the trees. Beans and small fruits are unpromising, as they have been smothered by weeds and thistles.

The reports say that boys are unable to do the heavy field work allotted to them. The former plan of employing prisoners with women was unsatisfactory, as many of the prisoners escaped.

It is learned here from a competent source that great damage has been done crops all over Germany by a plague of caterpillars of unusual size.

BAR FORAGING EXPEDITIONS.

German Authorities Forbid Favorite Sport of Berliners.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—Hungry Berliners' favorite sport of foraging excursions to adjacent rural regions, according to German newspapers received here, has been stopped by the military authorities, who have made the purchase or sale of eatables under such conditions a crime punishable under martial law.

Gendarmes have been instructed to confiscate all foodstuffs captured in transit.

WILSON DEPRECATES TALK OF DISLOYALTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—President Wilson in a letter to Representative Dyer of Missouri today reiterated his confidence in the loyalty of the great body of American citizens of German blood.

Representative Dyer complained that Federal officials had discharged, without hearing, and simply on statements or affidavits, citizens of German blood in St. Louis, whose loyalty had been questioned, and that Government officials there, assuming the attitude of determining what is patriotism, had insulted some of the best people in the city simply because of their German forefathers.

Otto Sassmann of St. Louis, for sixteen years a railway mail clerk with a clean record, a Spanish-American war veteran, who had subscribed for Liberty Loan bonds, contributed to the American Red Cross funds and had flown the Stars and Stripes over his house ever since the war with Germany, Mr. Dyer said, was discharged for disloyalty without notice, and has yet to learn what his disloyalty consists of.

"Your letters have struck a responsive chord in my mind," the President wrote. "I have been made aware from various sources of the unfortunate position in which a very large number of our loyal fellow-citizens are placed because of their German origin or affiliations.

"I am sure that they need no further assurance from me of my confidence in the entire integrity and loyalty of the great body of our citizens of German blood. You know that not once, but many times in my public addresses I have expressed this confidence. I do not like to make another occasion to express it simply because it would seem to indicate on my part a doubt as to whether the country had believed my previous assurances to be sincere.

"May I not very respectfully suggest that it would be easy to make use of the passages I have referred to from my former addresses to do something, I hope not a little, to offset the evil influences that are at work."

AMERICA WON'T JOIN ALLIED CONFERENCES

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—According to the opinion of Government officials there is little prospect that the United States will participate in conferences of the allied nations. This opinion was given as the result of the hope expressed yesterday by Jules Cambon, General Secretary of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, that the United States would "take part and make its voice heard in all future conferences" of the Allies.

Officials here said that they appreciated the sentiment which prompted M. Cambon to make the statement, but thought that as the United States could obtain all information concerning these conferences without attending them, it was not necessary to participate.

This policy is believed to be dictated by a desire to avoid the necessity of having to declare the position of the United States regarding the vexing questions, many political, arising at such conferences. America's entrance into the war alone, it was said, has affected its character incalculably, and it is held that the influence of the United States will be the stronger the longer it holds aloof from political discussions before the time comes for peace conferences.

Another reason is that the United States is not at war with Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey, and most of the conferences take up questions with which the United States is not formally concerned.

HURT AT AMERICAN CAMP.

may be another Winter campaign. Peace without annexation or indemnity is indorsed by all the officers who have discussed the question, but most of them have indicated that they favor the annexation of Eastern Belgium and a part of the coast of Flanders, if such a thing could possibly be done.

The men are highly intelligent. An officer who has made a study of economic matters said the war already was costing the Fatherland 10,000,000,000 marks annually in interest charges. He appeared to be deeply impressed by the gravity of the situation.

Almost without exception the German officers still maintain that Germany is innocent of causing the war, and say that there is "all manner of documentary evidence to prove it."

Discussing the present battle the German officers say the British gas shell bombardment on the two nights preceding the opening of the infantry charge was most effective, and that the Germans suffered heavily. The Guard Fusiliers were heavily gassed Sunday and Monday nights. Sunday night they were still in their supporting positions, but the following night, preceding the battle, they were in the process of carrying out a relief movement. The men wore gas helmets, but the gas clouds from the British penetrated the helmets and large numbers of the troops were overcome.

A German division which was being held in support on the back line crossing the Ypres-Menin road also suffered severely. So disastrous was the effect of the gas at this point that at least one battalion which was being rushed up to the relief of the men in the front lines never reached its objective.

It is the irony of fate that it was in this section of the front that the Germans early in the war for the first time in history inaugurated the use of gas shells.

The allied troops are leading a semi-aquatic existence, splashing about in water-logged trenches and carrying out consolidating operations over inhospitable and marshlike ground, into which they sink deep at every step. Meantime the rain, which began to fall late Tuesday, continues in a steady downpour, adding to the discomforts and difficulties of the situation and giving little hope that, even should the storm end immediately, the sun could dry out the earth sufficiently to render the movement of infantry and artillery easy for several days.

Stories continue to arrive from the battlefield showing the wonderful organization evidenced by the British troops in Tuesday's offensive and the fighting spirit they exhibited. One incident of the battle related today shows the élan and initiative of the troops sent against the Germans. Between Saint Julien and Frezenberg was a section of farm land some two miles in width which presented extraordinary difficulties. The fields behind the trenches were filled with cement defenses, ranging in size from those able to contain two machine guns to larger ones which took on the characteristics of forts.

The British troops found little resistance in the front line trenches, for these had virtually been leveled by the terrific bombardment from the British guns. Back of this line, however, they encountered the concrete fortifications, and not only faced a steady stream of machine gun fire from all directions, but were at the mercy of sharpshooters concealed in advantageous positions.

To add to the difficulties, most of the concrete structures were surrounded by ditches, and the land about them was marshy and hard to traverse. The British divided into sections and stalked the German forts with bombs and rifles, surrounding each in turn and bombing it until the occupants either were killed or surrendered. The fighting here was severe, but the attacking troops did not waver and continued their work until they had swept beyond this fort-studded field, leaving nothing but ruins behind them.

SAY ALL ATTACKS FAILED.

Germans Report Gun Duel Raging Despite Bad Weather.

BERLIN, Aug. 3, (British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—In Flanders yesterday, because of the rainy weather, only the artillery was active, says the official statement on operations on the western front issued today by the War Office. The Germans are reported to have repulsed attacks in the Ypres area. The statement reads:

Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht.—On the battle front in Flanders yesterday, during the rainy weather, the artillery battle only was especially lively on the coast and to the northeast of Ypres. English advances on the Nieuport-Westende road and to the west of Bixschoote failed. Strong attacks at Langemarck also failed.

The town of Roulers, to which a great part of the Belgian population had fled from the battle zone before the fire of their liberators, was bombarded by the enemy with his heaviest guns.

Engagements to the north of La Bassée Canal and at Monchy Le Preux and Havrincourt took a course favorable to us.

BRITISH IN ADVANCE MET MANY OBSTACLES

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, Thursday, Aug. 2.—Conditions are still abominable, with heavy rainstorms, waterlogged battlefields and dense mists over all the countryside. It is bad for fighting on land and worse for fighting in the air, but fighting goes on.

Yesterday the Germans made strong counterattacks at many points of the new allied line, and especially to the north of Frezenburg, west of Zonnebeke, where at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the infantry advanced after a violent bombardment. They were swept down by artillery and machine gun fire.

At 5 o'clock they came on again, moving suddenly out of a dense smoke barrage, and gained 300 yards of ground. The British guns poured shells onto this ground, and at 9 o'clock last night the British went behind the barrage and regained this position.

Generally the situation is exactly the same as it stood at the end of the first day of battle, when the allied advance was firm and complete at the northern end of the attack, where the Guards and the Welsh had swept over Pilken Ridge without great trouble and where, further south, the troops which had advanced beyond St. Julien had to fall back a little, partly under pressure of counterattacks, but chiefly in order to get into line with their right wing, which had been engaged in the hardest fighting and had not reached the same depth of country. That was in the wooded ground, southeast of the salient, where the Germans had a large number of machine guns in the cover of small woods and copses. Outside of one copse there was a very strong position, known to the British as Stirling Castle. It was once a château surrounded by a park and outbuildings, long destroyed, but made into a strong point with concrete emplacements. A rapid machine gun fire was poured out of this place against the British, but it was captured after several rushes. The trenches in front of it were also gained by some Scottish and North Country lads. Later a counterattack was launched against them by the Germans of one of the young classes, and here at least these lads, who do not seem to have fought very well elsewhere, came on like tiger cubs and gained some of their trenches back.

All through the night and yesterday the German barrage fire was fiercely sustained and the British dug themselves in as best they could and took cover in the shell holes.

Hard fighting had happened that day southward and on the right of the attack past Hollebeke and the line between Oosttaverne and Warneton. Opposite Hollebeke there were English country troops, and they went over the bags, as they call it, in almost pitch darkness. This was the cause of an accident which was almost a tragedy. As they went forward over that shell-destroyed ground they left behind them Germans hidden in the shell-pits, who sniped them in the rear and picked off many of them, until later in the day they were routed out.

Beyond this open country the ruins of Hollebeke were full of cellars, made into strong dugouts and crowded with Germans, who would not come out. They will never come out. The British flung bombs down into those underground places and passed on to the line where they stay, on the east side of the village.

On the extreme right of the attack were the Australians and New Zealanders, in the ground below Warneton. It was a difficult country. The enemy had gone to great trouble to wire his hedges and camouflage the shell holes with wire netting, below which he hid his machine guns and snipers.

The village of La Basse ville, a mere huddle of broken bricks, had already been taken once and lost in counterattacks. Now it was the New Zealanders who took it. The same thing happened as at Hollebeke. The Germans refused to leave their dugouts. and were bombed to death in them.

Not far from La Basse ville was an old windmill standing lonely on a knoll. Because of its observation it was important to get, and it was the Australians who captured it after hard fighting.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Germans came out in waves across the Warneton-Gapaard road and so encircled the windmill that the Australians had to go back and leave it, but at midnight, after it had been shelled for several hours, they went back, routed out the garrison, and now hold it again.

At 3:30 o'clock the same afternoon the New Zealanders were counterattacked at La Basse ville, but the Germans were beaten back.

So the fortunes of the day were alternating, but at the end of it the position became clear. The Allies had made and held all ground that was intended. Then the men dug in, and the rain, which began the afternoon of the battle, grew heavier. It has rained ever since.

Enemy Counterattacks Futile.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, Aug 3.—In spite of repeated efforts the enemy has not succeeded in his counterattacks after the British line withdrew somewhat at the end of the first day south and southeast of St. Julien.

In my first accounts of the battle I did not give full measure to the hardness of the fighting in which some of the British troops were engaged, nor to the stubbornness of the enemy resistance. It is now certain that whereas many of the German infantry were terrorstricken by the British combardment and surrendered easily enough others made good use of the strong defenses not annihilated by the gunfire and put up a desperate defense. Fresh troops like the 221st Division were flung in by the German command in the afternoon of the first day and made repeated attacks under cover of mist against the British, who were tired after twenty-four hours in the zone of fire and who in some sectors had suffered heavily, but who fought still with a courage which defied defeat.

The enemy made repeated attacks, especially against Pommern Castle, but every time he has been broken up by the fire of British guns and rifles. I hear this afternoon that he is again massing for another attempt, according to orders given to German troops that they must get back all the ground they lost at all costs by Aug. 3, which is today.

The weather remains the same, and the mud and discomfort of the men living under an incessant rain and considerable shell fire do not decrease. Nevertheless, they have broken up attack after attack, and their spirit is unbreakable. The enemy is suffering from the same evil conditions, and his only advantage is that perhaps he has better cover in which to assemble his men, and that owing to his defeat he is nearer to his base, so that they have not so far to tramp through swamps in order to get up supplies of food for guns and men.

FRENCH REPEL ATTACKS.

German Attempts Near Cerny, on the Aisne Front, Frustrated.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Troops of the German Crown Prince after an intense artillery bombardment last night delivered several violent attacks against the French positions near Cerny, in the Aisne region, along a front of about 1,500 yards. The French official statement issued this afternoon says that all the attacks were repulsed.

East and south of Cerny after a bombardment of extreme violence German forces delivered on a front of about 1,500 yards violent attacks, but they all were repulsed by our fire. In the course of the fighting we inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Artillery fighting on both banks of the Meuse, (in the Verdun sector,) was particularly spirited in the region of Avocourt Wood and Hill 304.

The statement issued this evening says:

The day was comparatively quiet on the larger part of the front to the north of the Aisne. The Germans to the east of Cerny attempted to reach our lines. Their attack was completely repulsed.

On both banks of the Meuse intermittent artillery activity is reported.

BERLIN, Aug. 3, (British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—Army headquarters issued the following statement today concerning operations against the French:

Front of the German Crown Prince—To the west of Allemant on the Laon-Soissons Road French companies temporarily penetrated into one of our trenches, but they were driven out again immediately.

At Cerny our troops completed the success of the battle of July 31. By a surprise attack they obtained possession of the French position at the southern exit of the tunnel and maintained it against several counterattacks, bringing back numerous prisoners.

On the left bank of the Meuse French attacks, after a strong artillery preparation, on both sides of the Malancourt-Esnes Road in the morning and evening were repulsed.

CROSSED THE YSER JULY 27.

French Began Preliminary Stage of Offensive Four Days in Advance.

By G. H. PERRIS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FLANDERS, Tuesday, Aug. 31.—Unfavorable as the weather conditions continue to be the airmen do their best to keep going at their all important work. They found a body of German troops evidently gathering for a counterattack under the cover of some woods opposite the French. One of the heavy batteries quickly got the range and the formation was literally broken up. I have not sufficiently emphasized the interest of the practically bloodless passage of the Yser Canal by the general army forming the left of Tuesday's movement.

Particularly minute and powerful artillery preparation was directed upon this sector. So effective was it that the enemy gradually evacuated their first line along the canal, not waiting for orders to do so, and on the night of July 27 the French began to cross. There was little water in the canal, so it was easy to throw light bridges over. Thus when the general operation began at dawn Tuesday our allies had already cleared the only obstacle they had seriously to fear. The men had then actually to be restrained by their officers. Both immediate and "eventual" objectives were passed within a few hours, with exceptionally light losses.

All that was permitted beyond the fixed program was the occupation of Bixschoote village and a few points offering an advantage for defense in the region of the mud flats, where it is difficult to get any sort of cover. This restraint is one of the most imperative lessons of past offensives, and the essential feature of the new battle method. The whole movement, of which the French army makes an important part, is planned out in advance to the smallest detail. If the first step in any sector be too short or too long a thousand modifications may be required. There is no room for extemporization, however brilliant it may be in the modern battlefield. Every unit has its exact place and task, or rather its exactly prearranged succession of places and tasks from which nothing, not even success, must divert it. A Napoleonic genius could not now alter this prime condition of victory.

Until the enemy has been worn down to the point at which real demoralization sets in, the advances can only take place by short stages, each stage being limited to the area within which the artillery of the offensive has broken all power of resistance. This area must then be organized and held by the infantry that has occupied it until the guns and other services are brought forward for the destruction of the next enemy region. Any irregularity in the result of the first stage of operation will provoke counterattacks and handicap the second stage.

Every soldier hopes the time will soon come when, as a leading General put it to me, the period of usury will merge into a period of exploitation and this rigid mechanical organization of today can be relaxed and freer play given to bold initiative and talent. We are saved from much mischief by the fact that in the allied commands there are no illusions on that score.

SAY HAIG TOOK LANGEMARCK.

But German Newspapers Declare a Counterattack Drove British Out.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—German newspapers of Thursday morning contain no details of importance on the battle in Flanders beyond the official reports. German war correspondents are as yet observing the battle from a safe distance near Charleville, several hundred kilometers behind the front, and endeavor to give the news from the scanty material supplied by the military censor. That the correspondents observed instructions is evidenced in all the newspapers by the heading "Specials from the Front," and all say that the German artillery was able to hold its own with the Anglo-French in the preliminary bombardment. All of the accounts emphasize the mass character of the British and French attacks, and all claim the preliminary victory, explaining, however, that the heavy fighting has not ended and may continue for weeks.

A semi-official survey of the Flanders battle supplied by the German General Staff through the Wolff Bureau mentions that Bixschoote (three times changed hands, the French eventually retaining the village at nightfall, but that the German lines gripped the village north and east. The British, according to the survey, delivered the main thrust before Ypres and succeeded in capturing Langemarck in addition to other places mentioned by Field Marshal Haig, but were unable to hold Langemarck and St. Julien in the face of a German counterattack and were repulsed.

The report seeks to give the impression that only the immediate front line trench in any case was lost, and carefully avoids any mention of the depth of the Entente gain.

"The great brutal force of the initial blow has been parried," writes the Tageblatt's correspondent regarding the Flanders battle. "We survived the gruesome tension occasioned by the uncanny artillery fire, and we are able again to hold our heads high as the battle of living men is resumed. The struggle has now reached the phase of human effort, after unseen mechanical death has been knocking at the door day and night for weeks. The German fighting spirit was fully awakened, and heroes flung themselves from the islands of defense in the conquered district against the advancing masses and seriously weakened the flanks of the oncoming troops. Millions of shells have been spent, and now comes the test of strength and nerves.

"The mainspring which impelled the German fighting man on was the strong realization that he was here called upon to defend the German U-boat—to serve the mightiest, most promising weapon of his country and bar the path to it with his life. The German troops counterattacked in frightful bayonet and hand grenade combats. It was the mightiest counterthrust, following the mightiest impact, which the world has ever seen.

"Nightfall witnessed the happy German achievement. The foe had won German trenches, had gained control of Bixschoote, and had carried off prisoners, but he lay bleeding at the foot of the wall he desired to scale."

BERLIN, Aug. 3, (via London.)—The special dispatches from the front in the Berlin newspapers agree in describing the battle in Flanders as a struggle for the submarine bases in Belgium, as well as in characterizing it as the most stupendous combat of the war.

The British advance in the Wytschaete sector on June 7 is commented upon by the correspondents as part of the strategic scheme to gain the U-boat bases, the June attack being calculated to give the Entente forces freedom of movement and permit them to proceed from the Ypres battleground in a northeasterly direction and strike at Zeebrugge from the rear.

KUEHLMANN GETS ZIMMERMANN'S POST

ister and of Dr. von Wallraff, the chief burgomaster of Cologne, as Imperial State Secretary for Home Affairs. Kühlmann's nomination is no surprise, but the other appointment is unexpected.

The appointments have their interesting features. Neither of the the new Ministers is a fire-eating Junker. The Kaiser's new Foreign Minister, who has held posts on both sides of the Atlantic, will be well remembered in London, where he was Councillor of the German Embassy for some time before the war. Kühlmann probably owes not a little of that imperial favor, which he has enjoyed in recent years to an act of personal bravery. When the Kaiser arrived at Tangier on a famous occasion it was too stormy to land, but Dr. von Kühlmann, who for some time had been the German representative there, faced the violent storm in a small boat, and reaching the Imperial yacht, climbed aboard by means of a rope. This feat greatly pleased the Kaiser.

Kühlmann's appointment will certainly not please the Junkers. Only a few days ago Count zu Reventlow in the Deutsche Tageszeitung fell upon him and charged that he was without sympathy with German ideals, and that he was harboring pro-English notions even now. Before the war the Count said Kühlmann was one of the greatest advocates of an understanding with England and of a policy of "German world politics without war."

He says also that Kühlmann is still an opponent of unlimited submarine warfare. He was certainly a brilliant second to Count von Lichnowski in his endeavors to keep England out of the war.

In the early part of the 1914 crisis he was absent from London and he has been known to boast that had he been in England instead of on leave in Bavaria, England would not have entered the war. He urged the influential Bavarian press at the time not to attack England, so sure was he of her neutrality.

What the new Foreign Minister's attitude will be remains to be seen. If some of his acts in Constantinople and in Holland, where for some time he was Minister, are any indication, he has the makings of as good a reactionary as even zu Reventlow.

Wallraff is probably one of the most efficient chief burgomasters in Germany. He is a great personal friend of the Kaiser and a member of the Prussian Upper House, where he sits with the Centre or Catholic Party. Before the war he was a strong advocate of better relations between England and Germany and organized numerous reciprocal visits of leading trades and professions. He headed one of these deputations to London on the eve of the war.

By The Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—In his comment on Dr. Richard von Kühlmann, Reventlow says that Dr. von Kühlman in the ante-bellum days was the leading protagonist of a policy of understanding with England at the expense of German sea power and that as Minister at The Hague he endeavored to prevent submarine warfare by warnings of warlike complications with Holland. Dr. von Kühlman as Foreign Secretary, the article declares, would render harmonious co-operation between the Foreign Office and the navy on submarines out of the question.

There is little doubt, according to the belief expressed here, that Count zu Reventlow in this article is speaking for naval circles.

SAYS AUSTRIA IS NEAR CONCORD WITH RUSSIA

International Socialist Secretary Blames Germany as Obstacle to Peace.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Camille Huysmans, the Belgian Secretary of the International Socialist Conference, in an interview today with a correspondent of the Dutch newspaper Handelsblad, said that Russia and Austria-Hungary were on the verge of coming to an understanding, according to a dispatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—The Vossische Zeitung, under a Stockholm date, prints an interview given by Camille Huysmans, Secretary of the International Socialist Conference, containing hard words against Germany. M. Huysmans is quoted as saying that the Reichstag resolution remains a scrap of paper unless converted into deeds, and that tangible results are not expected by the Socialist conference unless German democracy musters courage to put an end to the military reactionary autocracy by thoroughly democratizing the German parliament.

Austria and Russia are ready to come to an understanding, M. Huysmans says, and the French Parliament has disclaimed "alleged annexation designs" by which the German Government tried to make capital to check the peace current. It depends solely upon Germany to show its good-will, he says, or bear the entire responsibility for the fourth Winter campaign.

M. Huysmans praises Arthur Henderson highly, and says that participation of Ministers like Henderson, Albert Thomas, and Tseretelli in the Socialist conference might bridge the gap between the recommendations of the conference and the action of the Governments.

SAYS FRANCE IS WEAKENING.

Balfour Tries to Spur Her, North German Gazette Declares.

BERLIN, Aug. 3, (via London.)—The North German Gazette sees in British interest in the fulfillment of French war aims an indication of a weakening of the Entente Allies' cause. It says:

"A notable indication of the precarious condition of the Entente Allies is found in England's sturdy championing of French lust for Alsace-Lorraine and English interest in the fulfillment of French wishes. A perusal of the text of Balfour's speech, as it has come to hand, would seem to indicate that this interest is only valid, if, as he assumes, the war will end favorably for England.

"So long as the Entente prospered and French war fervor required no stimulant England appeared wholly unconcerned regarding French war aims. Now that France is revealing signs of exhaustion England is endeavoring to save this ally by revivifying its avarice.

"In keeping with her unscrupulous position England hopes to continue to benefit from dismembered Continental Europe. Such politics, however, will suffer shipwreck on the rocks of the free German Empire, which did not provoke the war, in contrast to the Entente nations fighting for conquest and enslavement."

SONNINO CONFERS IN LONDON

Mission Not Concerned, It Is Said, with Austrian Peace.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—An official dispatch dated yesterday and received here today from London seems to dispose of reports that the visit to London of Baron Sonnino the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs, was based on the suspicion in Italian circles that some of the Allied powers were about to institute negotiations looking to a separate peace with Austria-Hungary, to which Italy objects.

The message received here said:

"Baron Sonnino yesterday had another conference with Sir Cecil Hardinge. In order to avoid any misinterpretation, it is officially stated that in these conferences only economic problems, and questions relating to the provisioning of the Allies, have been discussed.

"The conferences here have been preparatory to a special meeting of the representatives of England, Italy and France, who will discuss technical problems. The representatives of the Allied powers will be assisted in this work by the members of the permanent Italian mission in London, at the head of which is the former Italian Ambassador to the United States, Mayor des Planches.

"After the conference with Sir Cecil Hardinge, Foreign Minister Sonnino spent the remainder of the day with Premier Lloyd George. On Friday he will be received by King George.

"Thus far the impression prevails among those who have spoken to the Italian Foreign Minister that his mission in London has been very satisfactory."

CALLS PENFIELD PLOTTER.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 3.—Commenting on Mr. Balfour's observations regarding Austria-Hungary, Count zu Reventlow, in the Deutsche Tageszeitung, says that the demand that individual nationalities shall control their own development is equivalent to a demand for the dissolution of the empire, which is the purpose of the Bohemians and Poles. This object, he says, is being forwarded not only by the whole allied press, but also by secret allied agents supplied with immense sums of money.

"The American share in this work is especially noteworthy," continues the article. "It dates from long before the breach with America, and was managed by the former American Ambassador at Vienna, Mr. Penfield. Americans who left Austria after the breach expressed themselves to neutrals very confidently about the condition of affairs, and particularly emphasized that it would soon appear that the Germans in Austria were completely isolated politically. They asserted that in Hungary the secret organization of the Entente and America would soon bear fruit. Both prophecies have been fulfilled."

Count zu Reventlow adds that "we do not know how long the former Ambassador at Constantinople, Mr. Elkus, remained in Vienna or whether he is still there." [Mr. Elkus has returned to New York.]

KITCHIN ATTACKS SENATE TAX BILL

Charges Favoritism to Big Corporations in Finance Committee Changes.

BURDENS PUT ON PUBLIC

Majority Leader Insists the House Cannot Accept the Measure In Its Revised Shape.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug 3.—Following the completion today of the revision of the War Tax bill by the Senate Finance Committee on lines which will raise about $2,000,000,000, Representative Claude Kitchin, majority leader and Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, issued a statement assailing the revised measure as being in the interest of the large corporations and inimical to the individual and the small business man

In re-writing the original bill, said Mr. Kitchin, the Senators had taken an enormous load of taxation from big business concerns and placed it upon the shoulders of the farmer, small business man and others having modest incomes; had stricken out by wholesale House proposals for taxes on luxuries, substituting levies on necessities; had eliminated income tax schedules that would have taken needed millions from the incomes of the rich, and had added a grossly inequitable excess profits section which was impossible of administration.

The statement of the House leader was accepted generally as a warning that should the Finance Committee amendments prevail in the Senate, they would encounter a stubborn resistance when the measure got to conference.

"When the Democratic members of the Senate Finance Committee and the Senate come to realize what is in this bill they themselves cannot support it," said Mr. Kitchin. "The Senate bill, as it stands today, has no chance of approval in the House."

Attacks "Excess Profits" Tax.

"On the profits in excess of (a) $5,000, plus (b) 8 per centum of the amount of actual capital invested, including paid in or earned surplus and undivided profits; that is, after allowing an exemption of $5,000 flat in all cases and a further exemption of 8 per centum net profit on actual capital invested including surplus and undivided profits, the tax of 16 per centum is levied on the balance of the profits. This deduction applied equally to all, big and little, whether the profits were large or small, before the war or now.

"The amendment of the Senate Finance Committee provides, after the manner of the English system, as the basis of deduction or exemption and computation of the tax, the average net profits of the taxable person or corporation during the three years, 1911, 1912, and 1913, called the 'pre-war period.' The tax is levied on the amount of profits made each taxable year, beginning with 1917, in excess of the average amount made during the pre-war period. In case not as much as 6 per cent. on the average capital employed was made on the average during these years the person or corporation is permitted to have as a deduction or exemption, and as a basis of computation of the tax, 6 per cent. on 'the average capital employed' during the taxable year.

Mr. Kitchin then quotes the sliding scale rates of the Senate bill on excess profits, which are 12 to 50 per cent. on the excess over pre-war profits, and continues:

"This basis of deduction or exemption of the tax makes an undue discrimination in favor of the fortunate persons or corporations that were highly prosperous during the pre-war period, and equally as prosperous or more so now, as against the less prosperous and less fortunate persons or corporations during such period—but prosperous now. It works an intolerable inequality.

"Under the provision of the Finance Committee amendments the more prosperous persons or corporations during the pre-war period, and equally or more prosperous now, have a larger exemption and pay less taxes—and in many cases no tax—than the less fortunate and less prosperous during such period, though it may be a competitor.

"For instance, I have in mind an actual case. Corporation A, with $100,000 capital invested, made during the pre-war period $25,000, or 25 per cent. profit. It now makes $25,000 a year. Corporation B, in the same business, same capital, but many years younger, during the pre-war period made $6,000, or 6 per cent. It is now making $25,000, or 25 per cent., just the same as the older corporation.

"Under the Senate Finance Committee amendments Corporation A will pay not a cent of excess profits tax because there is no profit in excess of the pre-war profit, while Corporation B will pay $6,929, as it is allowed only a $6,000 exemption, being its pre-war profits. During the three pre-war years and the first taxable year, 1917, the first corporation, A, will have made $100,000 clear profits, while the second, B, will have made less than $43,000 profits. Yet it pays $6,929 taxes to the Government to help finance the war, and Corporation A pays nothing.

"A corporation of $10,000,000 capital, making during the pre-war period and now $1,500,000, or 15 per cent., (and there are such cases,) will pay not a penny of excess profits tax, while a little corporation, —a merchant or farmer with $20,000 capital, making 6 per cent., or $1,200 during pre-war years and now making $6,000, will pay over $1,800 in taxes.

"There are hundreds of corporations whose annual profits each year reach into the hundreds of thousands and millions that will not pay a cent of excess profits tax under the Senate Finance Committee's amendments, because being highly prosperous during the pre-war years they are making the same amount of profits now, and therefore have no excess profits under the Senate basis of computation. The House bill made no such discrimination.

"Under the Finance Committee amendments as to excess profits and incomes, the United States Steel Corporation, with a billion and a half capital, making over $270,000,000 annual profits, will pay not a cent of tax, either on incomes or excess profits, while the little farmer, worth less than $20,000, making a profit of $6,000, will pay $2,071."

"The Senate amendment expressly permits 'water' to be counted as 'capital employed' in computing deductions from the taxable income or profits by including specifically 'trade marks, trade brands and like intangible assets' as a part of capital employed. Most of the water in all big overcapitalized corporations is in their value of 'trade marks, trade brands and like intangible assets.' The House bill expressly prohibits such 'water' to be counted as actual capital invested in computing deductions or exemptions from the tax.

Picks Many Other Flaws.

Among Mr. Kitchin's other criticisms are that the Finance Committee struck out the Lenroot amendment increasing surtaxes on incomes of $40,000 to $1,000,000, thus relieving large incomes of taxation totaling $66,000,000 annually; repealed the munition manufacturers' tax, relieving munition makers of more than $25,000,000 a year; exempted all corporations from taxation for dividends received from other corporations, relieving the big corporations of more than $50,000,000 a year, and eliminated the additional tax on the transfer of estates, relieving big estates and inheritances of $6,000,000 the first year and $28,000,000 or more yearly thereafter.

The Finance Committee struck out entirely, said Mr. Kitchin, many millions of dollars of taxes which the House imposed on the manufacture and sale of automobiles, tires, cigars, and musical instruments, shifted over $100,000,000 to the owners of automobiles, and to necessities like sugar, coffee, tea and cocoa.

Instances of Favoritism.

Many big business concerns which for years have been at the feet of Congress praying for favoritism have at last had their prayer granted by the Finance Committee, the house leader declared.

The Senate provision exempting from income taxation all corporation dividends received from other corporations has been sought repeatedly, he says, by concerns like the United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, American Tobacco, and the du Ponts. United States Steel alone, he calculates, will benefit by the committee's action in this respect to the extent of $10,800,000.

Relief prayed for since 1913 by the railroads was granted by the Senators, Mr. Kitchin asserted, when they provided that the roads need not pay direct to the Government a tax on the income from their bonds, which in the bonds themselves they have contracted with the purchasers to pay.

A plea by the United Cigar Stores Company for favoritism denied by the Ways and Means Committee, was granted by the Senate Committee, Mr. Kitchin charged. Under the Senate provision, he says, a tobacco dealer with a capital of $1,000 or $2,000 and barely making his living will get an exemption on only 100 pounds of tobacco, 500 cigars, and 1,000 cigarettes, while the United Company, with $30,000,000 capital, will have exemptions totaling 100,000 pounds of tobacco, 500,000 cigars, and 1,000,000 cigarettes.

The Senate amendments, says Mr. Kitchin, "levy no tax on coffee, tea, and cocoa in the hands of the importer, dealer, or wholesaler when the act passes. It is estimated the big importers and dealers have on hand 400,000,000 pounds of coffee and tea. This escapes taxation and thereby the dealers make a clear profit of 2 cents a pound on coffee and 5 cents on tea, and the Government loses that much."

Provisions of Revised Measure.

The revised War Tax bill, as put into final form for report to the Senate Monday, provides for approximately $2,000,000,000 in taxes to meet war expenses, but makes no provision for further bond authorizations. About $327,000,000 has been added during the last week because of the latest war estimates.

This increase over the committee's original draft is distributed on corporate incomes of $15,000, and over, $27,500,000; distilled spirits, $95,000,000; beer, $12,500,000; wines, $17,000,000; war excess profits, $5,000,000; bank checks, $2,000,000; floor, or stock taxes on sugar, coffee, tea, and cocoa, $6,000,000.

The additional levy on incomes of corporations applies also to partnerships, joint stock companies and associations, including life insurance companies. Their normal income tax is increased to 6 per cent., 4 per cent. more than the present law and 2 per cent. above the original House and committee program.

The increased surtaxes fall on individuals having incomes of $15,000 or more. They are as follows: Between $15,000 and $20,000, 6 per cent.; $20,000 and $40,000, 8 per cent.; $40,000 and $60,000, 10 per cent.; $60,000 and $80,000, 12 per cent.; $80,000 and $100,000, 16 per cent.; $100,000 and $150,000, 20 per cent.; $150,000 and $200,000, 23 per cent.; $200,000 and $250,000, 26 per cent.; $250,000 and $300,000, 29 per cent.; $300,000 and $500,000, 31 per cent., and over $500,000, 33 per cent.

An additional $1 a gallon tax is imposed on distilled spirits withdrawn from bond except that used for industrial purposes, increasing the tax on distilled beverages to $3.20 a gallon, as compared with the present rate of $1.10. Beer would be taxed $3 a barrel, double the present rate.

In increasing the wine taxes, the committee decided to levy 4 cents a gallon additional, doubling the present tax of 4 cents on dry and still wines containing less than 14 per cent. of alcohol. On sweet wines, liquor, cordials and other compounds, the new rate was fixed at $1.10 a proof gallon, double the present law. On alcohol used for fortifying wines, the new bill levies $1 a proof gallon in addition to the present tax of 10 cents a gallon. Present taxes on champagnes, sparkling and artificial wines would be trebled.

Plan to Tax All Checks.

The $5,000,000 increase on war excess profits was gained by minor changes in the schedule of such taxes, providing for a total revenue of $528,000,000. The $2,000,000 additional from bank checks would make $10,000,000 from that source. The committee originally planned to tax only checks of $5 or more, but decided today to extend the 1-cent rate to all checks.

The committee wrote in a new provision exempting from all postage letters written by American soldiers and sailors in foreign lands and provided that the proposed new tax of 1 cent on each 25 cents paid for transporting parcel post packages shall not apply to packages weighing less than four ounces.

BOSTON GREETS BELGIANS.

Baron Moncheur Addresses the Constitutional Convention.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Victory is in sight for the Allies, now that America has bared her mighty arm, Baron Moncheur, head of the Belgian war mission, said in addressing the members of the Constitutional Convention at the State House today. This was the first formal event of a two days' entertainment of the mission.

"Three years ago last night," the Baron said, "my Government received a most insulting communication from the German Government, demanding that we allow German troops to pass through our land and offering us a bribe. We were given twelve hours in which to reply. That was more than sufficient time for Belgium.

"King Albert summoned his Cabinet at once, and there was not a dissenting voice to the reply that Belgium sent that very night.

"Since that fateful day my country has been ravaged by fire and sword. Old men, women, and children have been deliberately and ruthlessly massacred. Our war materials and our crops have been seized without payment; our factories have been destroyed; our machinery stolen and sent into Germany, and, crowning infamy of the centuries, our workmen have been torn from their homes and sent into slavery.

"The Belgian people still stand caged behind the steel bars formed of German bayonets. Those who have escaped fire and sword and other nameless evils are still hungry, famished, and enslaved, ground down beneath the heel of the tyrant; but their courage remains unbroken and unbreakable."

Expressing the gratitude of his country for American food and arms, the speaker said:

"You are not fighting for aggrandizement or gain. You are fighting for our liberty, for your own liberty, and for the liberty of the world. It must be a fight to the finish, and the finish must be right. Military autocracy must be crushed down, never to rise again. May that day soon come when we shall together acclaim the triumphs of our common cause."

HELD ON TREASON CHARGE.

Pharmacist Arrested After Statements Made in Exemption Affidavit.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Charged with a treasonable utterance for making an affidavit that his sympathies in the present war were with Germany and for saying that he would take up arms with Germany rather than against that country, William Herman Arndt, 24, a licensed pharmacist, was arrested at Newark, Wayne County, today by Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Moran. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin C. Smith here this afternoon and held under $5,000 bail for further hearing before Commissioner Smith on Aug. 8.

Arndt is American born and the son of the Rev. William Arndt, minister of the German Lutheran Church in Webster.

In an affidavit claiming exemption from the draft, made on June 21 before a Notary Public, Arndt said:

"I have several near relatives, including cousins and uncles, in the German Army. It would be unjust to expect me to harm them. My parents were German born and reared in Germany, for which reasons my sympathy is with Germany."

WHITMAN FAVORS STRONGER FOOD BILL

MAY DRAFT A NEW ONE

Also Regards Naming of Commissioners as an Effort to Block Appointment of Perkins.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 3.—Governor Whitman does not believe that the bill drafted by the Joint Committee on War Measures of the Senate and Assembly and introduced at the legislative session last night will prove an effective instrument for food control. He wants a more drastic law for one thing, and he objects to naming the proposed food control commissioners in the bill, although it is understood that they were named with his knowledge.

"I am utterly opposed to the bill in the form it has been introduced," the Governor said tonight.

Probably the bill now pending before the Legislature will be radically amended or Governor Whitman will cause a bill drafted under his own supervision to be introduced when the lawmakers meet again next week.

Governor Whitman upon his return from Plattsburg this evening heard that Theodore Roosevelt had declined to serve on the proposed Food Control Commission. The Governor declined to comment either on the action of Colonel Roosevelt or on the provisions of the bill in general. It is known, however, that he regards the action of the War Committee in naming three Commissioners in the bill as an attempt to prevent him from appointing George W. Perkins.

The bill, broadly speaking, is regarded by the Governor as a measure framed for the protection of the cold-storage interests. This industry, the Governor believes, must be rigidly regulated before there can be food control that will do the consumer any real good.

The Governor is not in accord with the plan to leave food seizures in all instances to the Federal Food Administration. Nor does he believe the drafters of the War Committee bill have acted wisely in limiting to municipalities the power to deal in necessaries of life in competition with private interests. He thinks the food control commission itself should have similar powers.

The Governor is determined to have a law that will protect consumers against extortion by the middlemen, and he believes that the Legislature will pass such a measure. The Governor is prepared to make a campaign through the rural sections to explain what sort of measure he wants, and believes that when the farmers are fully informed on the subject they will welcome such legislation as he recommends.

Governor Whitman to-night is going over the War Committee's bill with Franklin B. Lord, his legal adviser. Mr. Lord, it is known, does not approve of the measure. The question in the Governor's mind is whether the bill can be amended so as to meet his views or whether it will be necessary to introduce a new bill.

Governor Whitman's attitude on food legislation was known to the lawmakers before they began drafting the bill, and the introduction of a bill differing so widely from the Governor's views in itself indicates that they are willing to take issue with him.

The legislative leaders have left the Capitol and gone home to spend the week-end. Senate Leader Elon R. Brown, before going away, said that the naming of the three commissioners had not been undertaken with any view to hampering or embarrassing the Governor.

"The fact that the committee decided to name the commissioners should not be regarded as a reflection on Governor Whitman," said Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet of the Assembly. "They were named in the bill in the hope that the high character of the men selected would silence objection and aid in the passage of the measure."

Senator Cotillo, in submitting a minority report on food control, says the bill should empower the commission to provide for terminal markets and cold storage plants; to regulate the prices of bread, milk, eggs, coal, ice and meat; to purchase and distribute all other necessaries of life. He contemplates moving to amend the bill.

COL. ROOSEVELT DECLINES.

Thinks His Activities Have Not Fitted Him for Food Board.

Theodore Roosevelt issued a statement yesterday declining the nomination to serve on the proposed State Food Board. He said:

"I appreciate the courteous intention of the authors of the bill, but it is impossible for me to accept. In the first place, the position should be filled by a man who has knowledge and aptitude of a very specialized kind, and my activities and interests for the last three years have led along wholly different lines. In the next place, I believe that, save under exceptional conditions, which do not obtain in this case, the Chief Executive should make all appointments to executive office.

"But I am glad to take this chance to say how vital I deem this kind of preparedness and how all far-sighted people should hail the interest being taken in it by the National Legislature at Washington and by the Legislature of our great State.

"Our first need is to raise and put on the battlefront in the shortest possible time great masses of fighting men. But we cannot do so unless without any further and lamentable delays we build quantities of ships, unless we arm and equip our troops, and unless we grow and conserve immense quantities of food which will be needed not only by us, but by our allies. This last is a matter of vital importance to us at home, to the armies abroad and to our own hard-pressed people. There must be co-operation by all as regards growing, conserving and marketing the crops."

SHAM, SAYS PERKINS.

He Denounces Food Aid Bill Introduced at Albany.

George W. Perkins, head of the State Food Aid Committee, is opposed to the Food Commission bill introduced in Albany, characterizing it as a hollow sham in a statement given out yesterday. He said that it was an attempt to mislead and deceive the people.

"It is perfectly clear," he said, "that the same forces are at work at Albany to defeat Governor Whitman's plan for worth while legislation that have been at work in Washington in an attempt to defeat President Wilson's plan for worth while food legislation.

> Any municipality in this State may in case of famine or when deprivation of necessaries for any part of its inhabitants creates an emergency therefor, purchase food with municipal funds or on municipal credit, and sell the same to its inhabitants, but before the exercise of any such power or authority by any municipality it shall have the consent in writing from the State Food Commission to exercise such power. The Mayor, if any, and the governing body or bodies of any such municipality shall file with the State Food Commission a resolution and certificate stating that such a necessity has arisen in said municipality, and otherwise satisfy the State Food Commission that such a necessity exists. The State Food Commission shall act upon the application as in its judgment the public interest requires.

"It is perfectly evident from the draft of this Section 11 that the men back of it think it makes no difference how high the price of food goes, so long as it can be had at some price or other; and this is precisely the position that the gamblers, the speculators, and the hoarders of food want the Legislature to take.

"Do these men think that the Legislature was called together in special session by the Governor to legislate for the producer, the distributor, and the consumer, or for the gambler, the speculator and the hoarder?"

27 CENTS A DAY FOR FOOD.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Aug. 3.—Twenty-seven cents a day is the irreducible minimum for the average American's food in these war times, according to the findings of a Rutgers College diet squad which has been experimenting a month.

The 27 cents is plenty, however, to provide a pleasant and well balanced diet. The girls have all gained weight, and all expressed willingness to continue indefinitely on the fare provided.

The students were divided into four families of seven each. All purchases were made in local retail stores, and care was taken that conditions should be the same as those the average housewife must meet.

A total of $11.09 a week was the lowest that any student family was able to live on, but this average was not maintained throughout the month.

ASK AMERICAN TROOPS TO PARADE IN LONDON

LONDON, Aug. 3.—In response to suggestions made by London newspapers, the War Office and the commander of the American troops in England are considering parading the troops through the streets of London to give the people a chance to welcome them. The arrangements may be completed within a few days, when an announcement is expected from the War Office. The announcement by one of the newspapers that arrangements for the parade already had been made was said today to have been premature.

All the London newspapers assert that the people of London are awaiting a chance to welcome the Americans.

CALLS WAR GOD'S LAUNDRY.

So Writes Chicago Woman Who Has Given Three Sons to Nation.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—"This war is God's laundry," Mrs. Mary J. Lamb, who has given three of her four sons to the army and navy, said in a letter which was before a local exemption board today.

"I asked for a special permit for my 16-year-old son, who was in college, and enlisted him in the marine corps on April 1," wrote Mrs. Lamb. Another son is also in the marine corps and a third in the army.

"A fourth son's greatest sorrow is that he is too young and only a Quartermaster in the Scaron Cadets of Notre Dame University.

"It makes me disgusted with womanhood to hear so many selfish mothers voice their terrors. No mother loves her family more than I do, but I look upon this war as God's laundry."

NO DELAY IN MAIL TO TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—American soldiers at the front now are receiving their mail without interruption as a result of the establishment of the United States postal agency in France, Postmaster General Burleson announced today.

A corps of experienced workers under the direction of Marcus H. Bunn is handling mail matter at the base Post Office and at branches established at Paris, the training camps, and at the American port of disembarkation.

At present all letters sent to or received from soldiers must bear the regular domestic rate of postage. The Postmaster General, however, has asked Congress to grant troops free postage for letters sent home. The agency, in addition to receiving and transmitting letters and parcel post, is doing a money order business.

The French Government recently promulgated an order admitting free of duty all parcel post matter for American troops.

LABOR UPHOLDS THE WAR.

Union Committee of 1917 Resolves to Back Gompers and Wilson.

Voicing unanimous approval of the stand taken by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, to keep the labor interests intact during the period of the war in support of the effort of President Wilson, the Laborers' Union Committee of 1917 at its headquarters, 244 Madison Avenue, last night adopted resolutions indorsing Mr. Gompers's activities.

The committee, representing various labor unions in this city, elected these permanent officers; Chairman, Timothy Healy; Secretary, Charles J. Reed of the Electrical Workers' Union.

INSISTS BERLIN KNEW OF AUSTRIAN DEMAND

Informed 14 Hours in Advance of Ultimatum to Serbia, Washington Hears.

GERMANY HAS DENIED IT

Admission of Knowledge Would Have Made Kaiser Party to Determination to Declare War.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The United States Government, it was disclosed today, has had information for some time confirming the allegation recently made that the German Emperor and his advisors had in their possession fourteen hours in advance of its sending a copy of the ultimatum delivered by Austria-Hungary to Serbia in July, 1914.

This charge has been denied by the German Government, which realizes that admission of its truth would put Germany in the position of having been a party to Austria's determination to make war. Officials of this Government have been convinced that the claims of the German rulers as to the part they are alleged to have played in attempting to avert the war are pure inventions.

One of the stories that has been going the rounds of official circles, but for the truth of which those who have heard it do not vouch, has to do with the war council in Berlin on July 5, 1914. On that occasion there were present Emperor William, the Crown Prince, Field Marshal von Moltke, Chief of the General Staff; Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor; Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, Minister of Marine; General von Falkenhayn, and some others. A discussion of the situation brought the opinion from these advisers that Russia probably would take the part of Serbia. As for France's attitude, they were uncertain, but felt that she would not act unless assured of British support, and the conferees were satisfied that Great Britain would not take part in the war if it came.

The story goes on that after the return of Emperor William to Berlin from the yachting trip which he abandoned so suddenly he was informed of the suggestion of Sir Edward Grey, (now Viscount Grey,) then British Minister for Foreign Affairs, that the questions at issue should be arbitrated. Emperor William is credited with having shown a willingness to accept this suggestion, but was dissuaded by his advisers. The story has it that von Moltke, Falkenhayn, and Tirpitz laid their swords on the table in the Emperor's presence and said they would resign then and there if arbitration were accepted.

While this story has not been substantiated in any official or other authoritative way, it is known in Washington that Dr. Zimmermann, then Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, admitted under pressure of questions that the Berlin Foreign Office possessed the text of the Austro-Hungarian ultimatum to Serbia fourteen hours before its delivery.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—The Deutsche Tageszeitung challenges the German Government to prosecute Dr. Cohn, Socialist member of the Reichstag, for his alleged revelations regarding the Crown Council held at Potsdam July 5, 1914. The newspaper says it knows the revelations published in The London Times came from Stockholm direct and from the German Independent Socialists, and it offers to give the fullest evidence in case the Government desires to court-martial Deputy Cohn.

The London Times asserted that a conference was held in the presence of Emperor William at Potsdam July 5, 1914, at which political and military personages in Germany and Austria-Hungary took part, and at which a plan was proposed to let loose the war. The Wolff Bureau of Berlin on Aug. 1 said it had been officially authorized to declare that the statement was a pure invention. The news agency said The Times had supported its allegation on statements made by Deputy Cohn in the Main Committee of the Reichstag. These statements, it was added, were refuted in committee by the German Government as incorrect.

McADOO URGES INSURANCE.

Asserts Nation Must Support Dependents of Our Fighters.

MONTEREY, Penn., Aug. 3.—Government life insurance for soldiers and sailors was advocated by Secretary McAdoo, speaking at a fair here today. A bill, incorporating the Treasury plans for insurance, will be introduced soon.

"We must see," said the Secretary, "that no man leaves this country, if we can get the legislation in time, without giving him the assurance that the loved wife and children, mother and father, or the loved sister who may be dependent upon him, are not left to the fortuitous chances of charity, but that they are ging to be supported with all that a nation can give to save them from want while he is fighting the battles of his country."

WAR WILL NOT STOP WINTER OPERA SEASON

Metropolitan Management Says Plans Are Complete—Subscriptions Approach a Million.

To a rumor yesterday that the Metropolitan opera season for the coming Winter might be abandoned on account of America's going to war, the authorities of the closed house at Broadway and Thirty-ninth Street yesterday gave smiling but emphatic denial. The season is fully arranged, even to the repertory of the opening performances next November.

Subscriptions already approach a million dollars, but checks will not be received till Oct. 1, owing to a chance of increased price to meet war taxes. Few of the artists, and none of the principal stars, returned to Europe this Summer, and Director Gatti himself remained on this side rather than risk detention abroad, where it is difficult to leave any of the warring countries.

Plans for the season will be made public in September, which is some months later than usual, the Director having decided that, for the first time in the history of the Metropolitan, conditions warranted selecting the entire repertory and personnel of the company here.

The Metropolitan gave no opera in the Spanish war year, not because of that war, but on account of the absence of Jean De Reszke, its reigning tenor. The chief star of the present day, Enrico Caruso, is expected to return directly to New York from his engagements in South America.

WANTS US TO EXAMINE SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Great Britain has suggested that the examination of neutral ships bound from ports south of New York to Europe be transferred from Halifax to Norfolk, Va., in order to relieve the congested conditions in the Canadian port The State Department has referred the question to the various departments interested, and will not be able to reach a decision until it has heard from them.

The Treasury has been asked if its customs examination could be carried out there. The Post Office Department has been asked about the delivery of the mails, and the Shipping Board about any agreements it may have entered into as to neutral shipping.

The British have long been anxious to relieve the congestion at Halifax. At the time the examination of shipping was transferred largely from British ports to Halifax, it was said that another British port to the south, possibly in the Bahamas, would be selected for the examination of ships from Gulf ports. Since America's entrance into the war, however, Norfolk has become the most desirable port for this southern examination, and the British feel that its selection would be of advantage to all parties.

This would, of course, necessitate the erection of considerable American examination machinery along lines absolutely untried by this Government. Just what would be done with the mails is uncertain, as the United States now has no mails censorship provision, and as yet very little attempt has been made to obtain one.

DEFY ARREST IN BARRICADE.

Father and Son Taken When House Is Surrounded.

Special to The New York Times.

VERONA, N. J., Aug. 3.—After men from the Sheriff's office had surrounded their home at West Caldwell, where they had barricaded themselves, Rudie and James Walsh, father and son, were placed under arrest today on a charge of assault with intent to kill. They were arraigned before Judge Martin and held to await the action of the Grand Jury. The father's bail was fixed at $10,000 and the son's at $2,500.

Early yesterday morning Agent Eyesoldt of the S. P. C. A. went to the Walsh farm with Detectives Godfrey and Meyer to arrest the elder Walsh on a charge of cruelty to animals. According to the three, they met Mrs. Walsh, who told them that her husband had barricaded himself and son in the kitchen. One of the detectives telephoned to the Sheriff and help was sent. The alleged assault for which the defendants were held occurred when Eyesoldt and Recorder Yost went to the farm on the preceding day. The elder Walsh, it was alleged, seized a shotgun and threatened to kill the officer, while his son abetted him.

Army Mules Reported Poisoned.

Thirty-eight mules at the camp of Companies B and D of a regiment on duty near Jersey City are sick and are believed to have been poisoned. Officers of the regiment said they were not at liberty to give any information about the report. It is said that several mules which died on the way to this camp showed symptoms of poisoning.

MAY WIDEN SCOPE OF INSURANCE BAN

URGE ACTUARY AS CENSOR

Skilled Insurance Man, Attorney General Is Told, Could Easily Detect Illegitimate Information.

The Federal authorities began yesterday to take steps to prevent the transmission to Europe of information of military value through the agency of neutral insurance companies, with German connections. The order of President Wilson suspending the business of German insurance companies in this country did not apply to neutral companies carried on partly or wholly by Germans, but methods of preventing Germany from getting aid from insurance companies of any nationality or character are now under consideration.

The first step to guard against the cabling abroad of important shipping information by neutral insurance companies was taken by the Attorney-General of the United States in calling this special source of danger to the attention of the Navy Department, which has charge of the censorship of cable messages.

The possibility of leakage through this source was placed before the Attorney General, with the recommendation that a skilled actuary should be added to the force censoring cable messages. An actuary, it was pointed out, would be able to tell at once whether facts sent by an insurance company here to its home office in Holland or a Scandinavian company contained legitimate information or whether it contained facts and figures of no value to an insurance office, but of great value to a military agent who might interpret them as describing men or ships.

Department of Justice Warned.

At the same time a warning was sent to the United States Attorney General that Germans who had been prevented from doing insurance business by the President's proclamation on the subject, were seeking to re-enter the insurance field by organizing American companies, which would give them the same facilities for getting information about American shipping that they formerly had enjoyed. Further information placed before the Federal authorities was to the effect that certain companies organized in nations of the Allies were represented in this country by men of German sympathies.

No charge has been made that any insurance companies are keeping Germany advised of American shipping, but it is asserted that there is as much reason for taking precautions against some of the companies of neutral nations as for taking precautions against the German companies. The following information is taken from a memorandum on the subject which was drawn up at the request of a New York organization for the information of the Federal authorities:

"The International Reassurance Company of Vienna, Austria, is managed by Mutzenbecher & Baiiard of 80 Maiden Lane, New York City. This firm also manages the Skandinavian Reinsurance Company of Copenhagen, and the Jakor Insurance Company of Moscow, Russia. Mutzenbecher is one of the largest and most prominent German insurers.

"The Allies Underwriters of New York and Chicago Lloyds have had extensive German relations. Their attorney is E. C. Eintemann of 51 Sixth Avenue. The Netherlands Fire and Life Insurance Company of The Hague, Holland, and the Prussian National Insurance Company of Stettin, Germany, are both represented in this country by the same man, Harold W. Letton of 175 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

"A dispatch from Washington published in The Journal of Commerce on July 16 says that the business of the following companies has been stopped by the President's proclamation: Aachen & Munich, Allians of Berlin, Cologne, First Bulgarian, Frankona, Hamburg Assurance, Hamburg-Bremen International Reassurance, Mannheim, Minerva, Munich Reinsurance, North Deutsche, Prussian National and South German Reinsurance.

Order's Scope Criticised.

"The order thus stops the operations of Hamburg Insurance Company, but does not stop the Jakor Insurance Company, which is managed by the same manager, with the same clerks, operating at the same quarters. This is one of several similar examples. It is plain that the order is not sufficiently far-reaching when it permits the staffs of employees of suspended German firms to continue insurance operations in the name of a neutral firm.

"It should likewise be noted that the danger of aiding the enemy to obtain information is not confined to marine business. Fire companies which insure munitions plants and factories doing Government work, and casualty companies writing workmen's compensation and liability insurance, obtain full information about such plants and the disposition of their output. They gather intelligence which might be of great value to the enemy."

It was reported yesterday that a large German insurance company had taken initial steps toward creating a new insurance company which should be ostensibly American, though backed by German interests. The name of this insurance company and other facts were submitted to the Department of Justice.

A WAR OF PRINCIPLES.

Chilean Paper Asserts Blame for Conflict Rests with Germany.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 3.—Commenting on the end of the third year of the war, the Mercurio says that it is difficult today to contradict the assertion that responsibility for the world conflict rests with the Central Powers.

"From the moment the neutral powers understood that the defeat of the Entente Allies would bring about the ruin of the Allies as well as of the neutrals," the newspaper says, "the war was changed into a war of principles—democracy against autocracy. Great Britain was the first to proclaim this, then followed the United States, and President Wilson, drawing the American people with him, opposed to military autocracy the popular will."

MORE TROUBLE IN GREECE.

Martial Law Proclaimed, Subject to Parliamentary Sanction.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Owing to threatened agitation on the part of the late régime in Greece, martial law has been proclaimed in the department of Attica, including Greece and Piraeus, and the neighboring department of Boeotia.

SHOT MISSES SERB PRINCE.

George's Horse Killed Under Him on Macedonian Front.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Prince George, former Crown Prince of Serbia, had a narrow escape today while inspecting troops on the Macedonian front, according to a telegram received in London.

The horse on which he was riding was shot and killed.

WRECKS CAR; SEEKS ARREST

Chauffeur Tells Policeman He Took Machine Without Permission.

Police Captain Matthew McKeon of the Kingsbridge Station was walking along Mosholu Parkway near Rockwood Avenue, the Bronx, early yesterday morning when he saw a limousine with a battered hood resting against a tree, and a man and woman on the grass binding up cuts caused by glass from a broken wind shield. The man asked the Captain to get a policeman because, he said, he wanted to be arrested for taking his employer's car without permission. Captain McKeon, who was in civilian clothes, said he could make an arrest.

When he was brought into the Morrisania Court the man said he was Arthur G. Farley, 22 years old, of 523 West 134th Street, and that he had just returned from France, where he had served six months in the American Ambulance Corps. He said he had also served on the Mexican border with the Seventy-first New York Infantry. While he was on the way to the garage last night, after being released for the day by his employer, Stella Shalleck, of 420 Riverside Drive, he said he met Madeline Langdon, a model, of 3,115 Broadway, and asked her to go for a ride. They had ridden for several hours, he said, before he ran into the tree.

When Mrs. Shalleck appeared in court and said her chauffeur had permission to use the car Magistrate Breen discharged him.

PRISONERS FAST 24 HOURS.

Vacations and a Vacancy Disorganize Queens Courts.

Two unconvicted prisoners went without food for twenty-four hours and were locked up for more than five hours in the stuffy prisoners' pen in the Jamaica Police Court yesterday, because two Queens Borough Magistrates are on vacation and only one is left in that borough to cover four courts. There are four Magistracies, but Mayor Mitchel has made no appointment to the vacancy caused by the recent expiration of the term of Magistrate James J. Conway.

Magistrates John Kochendorfer and Harry Miller are on vacation, and Magistrate Thomas F. Doyle is doing four men's work Yesterday he presided in the Police Courts at Long Island City and Flushing, and had the courts at Jamaica and Far Rockaway waiting. When he reached Jamaica at 2:30 P. M. lawyers, witnesses, and attendants had been waiting since 9 A. M. John Brown, 28, of 8 Catherine Street, Jamaica, and John Meyer, 46, of 236 Lafayette Street, Glendale, both awaiting examination on assault charges, were in the "pen." Their cases were adjourned again. Meyer got bail and left on a run for the nearest restaurant. Brown had to go back to jail in default of bail. The men said they had had no food for twenty-four hours, having been taken from the jail to go to court too early for breakfast.

BABIES SEE MOTHER SLAIN.

Superintendent on Burchard Estate Kills Wife and Goes to Sleep.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y. Aug. 3.—With his two small children tugging at his arms in fright, Thomas O'Brien, superintendent of the estate of Anson W. Burchard, a wealthy resident of Locust Valley, shot and killed his wife, Margaret, late this afternoon. She was 35 years old and he is 50. The shooting occurred in the doorway of O'Brien's cottage on the Burchard estate. His wife was in the yard. O'Brien used a small calibre rifle. The first shot hit the woman in the chest. She turned and ran for her life, but two other shots hit her in the back and felled her.

O'Brien then put his children to bed, and, removing his coat and shoes, went to sleep himself. He was found and arrested by Constable J. Scott Thompson of Oyster Bay.

Several workers on a nearby estate had seen the shooting. O'Brien told his captor another worker on the Burchard estate caused the trouble. O'Brien, his wife, and the other man, a much younger man than the superintendent, returned from a buggy drive just prior to the shooting. The Burchards were not at home when Mrs. O'Brien was shot.

New Christian Science Officials.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—The election of Edward A. Merritt of Cleveland, Ohio, as a member of the Christian Science Board of Directors; William P. McKenzie of this city as editor of The Christian Science Journal, The Christian Science Sentinel, and Der Herold der Christian Science, and John R. Watts as manager of the Christian Science Publishing Society was announced today. David B. Ogden and Lamont Rowlands were chosen Trustees of the society.

"What will that do? Why, the Kaiser says to them the people of the United States are not with the President; Germans won't fight against the Fatherland. Britten has a bill which speaks that fact. Mason is going to undo the selective draft, and they will have no army, and the Senator from Georgia has introduced a bill to get every man's consent as to whether he will fight or not.

"On my responsibility as a Southerner, I repudiate the action of every Southerner who is not loyal to the President in this war.

"I call upon you on the Republican side. It is true that Mason does not speak the views of the people, that Britten does not speak the views of the German people of Illinois and nowhere else in this country. It is a reflection upon all of them.

"There are a few anarchists and a few traitors. Emma Goldman has been arrested and Berkman has been arrested. If I were the President I would point out some others who belong in that class."

"The gentleman is aware that the two gentlemen from Illinois—Mr. Britten and Mr. Mason—are not in the chamber," interrupted Representative Miller of Minnesota.

"I looked around to see if they were here," retorted Mr. Heflin, "but does the gentleman think that would have anything to do with me in making this statement?"

"Judging by what the gentleman has done before, I think it would have a great deal to do with it," sharply replied Mr. Miller.

"I want to tell where I think those two members are," said Mr. Heflin, "and let them come and defend themselves. I think they are out stirring up opposition to the war, to the selective draft, and getting Germans to hold meetings and asking that they be exempt from service."

It was at this point that Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, and Representative Stafford of Wisconsin demanded that Mr. Heflin's remarks reflecting upon his two colleagues be expunged from the Record. The House voted finally to expunge the latter paragraph of his speech, wherein he accussed Representatives Britten and Mason of stirring up opposition to the war.

The bill introduced by Representative Britten, to which Mr. Heflin referred, is one proposing that American citizens of German descent shall not be sent to the firing line in Europe, but that they shall be drafted for military service at home. The Illinois member, when he introduced the bill, said these citizens were loyal to the United States and would serve its flag, but they should be excused from firing upon the blood relations of the mother country.

Representative Mason has always opposed the draft and urges its repeal and the substitution of the volunteer system.

Dozen Disloyalists, Says Heflin.

Representative Heflin issued this statement tonight:

"There are not more than a dozen members in the two Houses, composed of 530 members, who are doing ugly things and trying to embarrass the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy in his conduct of the war. The country is entitled to know who the men are that are delaying and trying to defeat important legislation, thereby lending aid and comfort to the German Government.

"I do not care whether the member is a Democrat or a Republican, or whether the man is in or out of Congress; he is either loyal or disloyal to the United States. I do not propose that any one here shall handicap and hinder this Government in the passage of necessary war measures without having himself properly branded before the country. The time has come to speak plainly. There are only two classes of people in the United States today. They are the loyal and the disloyal.

"God helping me, I shall continue to render whatever service I may be capable of rendering to my country in this war with Germany."

DR. ALSBERG ASSAILS NATIONAL FOOD BODY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 3.—Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry and successor to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, today told the Association of American Dairy, Food and Drug officials that the association was useless and controlled by special interests. He charged that the membership, which includes the Federal and State officers in thirty-eight States, was not paying heed to the crisis of the nation and was disrupted by "peanut politics."

Dr. Alsberg, who will closely aligned with Herbert C. Hoover in food legislation, opened his remarks with the statement that the association was "hitting the rocks," and had to change its course to save itself.

"You are purely a political association handled by outsiders for special interests," Dr. Alsberg charged. "The yearly convention is an annual battlefield for control. The real work is neglected in the efforts of a clique to control the politics of the association." He added that the American Public Health Association, which had created a food branch, would shortly draw away members.

"Be masters of your own house," he continued. "We are the most important servants of the country, and Europe watches us. Food will continue to be a problem after the war, and it is of utmost neccessary that we centre behind the Administration without other distracting aims."

Dr. Alsberg insinuated that the third house, namely, the trade, had been using the association for the last twenty of its twenty-one years of existence.

J. S. Abbott, Department of State Co-operation, of Washington, D. C., spoke along the same line, and accused the association of being "narrow, high-brow, and failing to appreciate the breath of opportunity."

President J. J. Farrell of Minnesota prevented an open rupture by referring the discussion to a committee to report back next year. A revision of the constitution along broader lines was demanded.

Dr. Alsberg, in his address, declared that Mr. Hoover had a bigger job to uphold than the President of the United States. He added that he was a "game man" to undertake the problem. Dr. Alsberg said there was no cause for alarm in the food situation at present, but it was necessary for everybody to be careful.

James Foust, Dairy and Food Commissioner of Pennsylvania, was elected President this afternoon for the ensuing year. Others elected were First Vice President, A. M. G. Soule, Maine; Second Vice President, J. M. Moore, Alabama; Third Vice President, E. L. Barnhouse, Missouri; Treasurer, George J. Weigle, Wisconsin, and Secretary, John B. Newman, Illinois.

$1,000,000 TO FIGHT LIQUOR.

Federal Council of Churches Plans Campaign in Wet States.

The inauguration of a million-dollar advertising campaign against the liquor traffic in the "wet" States was announced yesterday by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. It will be known as the "Strengthen America" campaign and the purpose is to prove in the advertising columns of newspapers that "liquor must go."

Charles Stelzle, campaign manager, said that, because of the recent action of the Senate regarding national prohibition, it had been decided to make known the plans of the council earlier than had been intended. Local leaders will be appointed in 3,500 towns and cities.

FOOD PLEDGE FOR WOMEN.

Every Housewife to be Asked to Sign a Conservation Card.

Every housewife in the city will have an opportunity to sign a pledge card promising to conserve food. The distribution of cards and the registration of those who sign is to be undertaken by 258 woman organizations under the supervision of the Mayor's Committee of Women on National Defense. It was announced yesterday that the committee has received the pledge cards from Washington and that they are ready for distribution. Dorothea Dickinson of the National League for Women's Service Motor Corps has volunteered to deliver the pledges in her automobile.

The campaign will begin on Monday and the cards will be returned to Police Headquarters until all are in and will be shipped to Washington in bulk. On Wednesday the women will begin a house to house canvass and hundreds of women will distribute cards at the entrances to the large stores.

The Woman's Suffrage Party heads the list of applicants with a call for 100,000 cards to be distributed from door to door in the Assembly Districts. The Food Aid Committee, divided into forty-six districts in charge of paid organizers, has asked for 23,000 cards. The City Club will mail a card to each of its 5,000 members, and the Young Women's Christian Association will distribute cards at each of its branches. Le Roy Peterson, head of the Social Bureau of the Police Department, has arranged to distribute 50,000 cards.

The Executive Committee of the Emergency Food Association of Staten Island, which was active in having the vacant land in Richmond planted, has sent a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Houston, asking whether crops may be wantonly destroyed without redress. The committee says the owners of a piece of property have repudiated the right of the association to use it on the ground that the person who gave the consent had no authority. Now, when the crops are almost ready to harvest, the committee says, the owners propose to cut streets and destroy much of the crop. The letter continues:

"If there is a dispute as to who should have the right to the crops when matured, that point ought to be left in abeyance, but no one should be allowed to destroy food. It ought to be a crime subject to proper punishment. If there is nothing to fit this case, special legislation should be enacted whereby proper jurisdiction could be had."

JAPANESE OBJECTED TO STEEL EMBARGO

Caused the Ban on Exports for Ships to be Extended to All Our Allies.

$25,000,000 TRADE ENDED

Use of Steamers in Transatlantic Commerce May Result in Modifying Edict.

Swiss Agree to Lend $72,000,000 to Germany

PARIS, Aug. 3.—A dispatch to La Liberte from Berne says that Germany and Switzerland have reached an economic agreement.

Switzerland, according to the correspondent, will advance Germany 40,000,000 francs monthly for nine months at the rate of 5 per cent., and Germany will supply Switzerland with 200,000 tons of coal monthly.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3.—The Exports Council prepared today to enforce the order issued by President Wilson placing iron and steel products intended for ship construction under a complete embargo after Aug. 15.

As unofficially interpreted the order may permit the council to grant licenses, after the date named, for certain forms of iron and steel to be used in the manufacture of munitions. Iron and steel plates, structural shapes for ships, and other articles included under these general headings, however, are not to leave the country, under license or otherwise.

It is felt that in this way the steel output of the country demanded for ship construction will be conserved without putting an end to the manufacture of shrapnel and other ammunition by Japan, which has been sending large consignments to Russia, and other allies.

It was reported today that since President Wilson issued his Executive proclamation, which became effective on July 15, no steel for ship construction had been exported to Japan. This action by the exports council was made the subject of diplomatic negotiations, and the decision was reached to make the embargo, which had been put into effect so far as Japan was concerned, applicable to the other Allies for an indefinite period.

It is entirely possible that advices from Japan and other allies of the United States that the steel products desired for ships which will be used only in vessels put in transatlantic trade will result in modification of the embargo by direction of the President. There was a report in some diplomatic quarters today that Japan might meet the requirements which were set forth by the President by sending surplus tonnage to the aid of the Allies.

The attitude of the President on all export matters relating to a determined prosecution of the war, it was said, had lent a backbone to the Exports Council and its advisory bodies, which was the one thing needed for carrying out a program that would place neutral nations on a rationing basis and make it impossible for much needed foodstuffs and munition materials to leak through these countries into Germany.

It was explained today that in the embargo on steel exports for shipbuilding there was no thought on the part of the Government to direct it at Japan. The purpose, it was said, was to conserve for America its complete output of steel for the prosecution of a big shipbuilding program.

It was estimated today by an expert that the contracts made by Japan and other allies with American steel interests, which would be abrogated because of the embargo order, might reach $25,000,000, and perhaps much more. In 1915 Japan exported 17,596,548 pounds of sheet plates; in the previous year fewer than 450,000 pounds. In 1915 the exports of these plates were 31,422,643 pounds, and in the fiscal year of 1917 they were 368,327,960 pounds.

Other steel products mounted similarly. In 1914 no steel wire rods were exported. In the following year the exports amounted to 2,201,220 pounds, and in the last year the total was 5,-938,125 pounds. Other steel rods exported and used for military purposes showed these jumps: In 1914, 4,087,570 pounds; in 1915, 30,975,780, and in 1916, 185,856,318.

No steel billets were exported from the United States to Japan in 1914, but 191,-532 tons were taken by that country in 1915, and 196,534 in 1916. As to steel plates the exports were as follows: 1914, 4,137,960 pounds; 1915, 21,280,245; 1916, 121,554,642.

GRAIN SURPLUS IN RUMANIA.

100,000 Carloads to Aid Teutons, Vienna Newspaper Says.

ZURICH, Aug. 3.—The Vienna Neue Freie Presse, in estimating the world's harvest for the year, says that Rumania, after supplying the needs of her home population and of the Austrian and German armies, will be able to send 100,000 carloads of cereals to Germany and Austria-Hungary.

The newspaper admits that grain in Germany and Austria-Hungary has suffered from the heat and drought, but considers that the harvest will be an average one except as to barley, the crop of which will be poor.

Taking the harvest as a whole, the Neue Freie Presse declares the supply of bread flour and potatoes for the fourth year of the war is assured, although hard times will be experienced until the new flour is put on the market.

WOULD NOMINATE HEARST.

'Independent Voters'' Committee Favors Him as Mayoralty Candidate.

The sub-Committee on Nominations of the Federation of Independent Voters announced last night at its headquarters, 40 West Thirty-third Street, that it had finished its report and would recommend to the Executive Committee that William Randolph Hearst be declared its choice for Mayor.

The committee also recommended that the federation should obtain signatures to petitions that would entitle it to its own party emblem and give it the right to nominate candidates, irrespective of the action of other political parties. A statement issued by the sub-committee said:

"Our platform contains a plank recommending municipal ownership of public utilities and directs attention to the Rockefeller dominance of the public school system."

7,000 MEN NEEDED TO FILL ARMY QUOTA

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Pennsylvania and California led in the number of recruits obtained for the army on Thursday. The former State furnished 160 and the latter 109 recruits. There was a falling off in most other States, which brought the total for the country to 1,500 recruits. Approximately 7,000 men are needed to raise the regular army to war strength. These should be obtained during the coming week. The daily statement issued by Adjt. Gen. McCain, follows:

WANT EFFICIENCY IN ARMY.

Regular Officers Hold That Seasoned Men Are Needed.

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Commenting on a dispatch in today's NEW YORK TIMES to the effect that the War Department is anxious to avoid injustice in appointing reserve officers to rank regular army officers of long service, army instructors here said today that the situation was not considered in the light of an injustice, but was one that involved the efficiency of the National Army. Looking at the matter broadly and not from the standpoint of individual justice, some officers said, the first increment of the National Army should be strengthened by as many seasoned officers as could be spared.

Major George S. Simons, an instructor at Plattsburg, who was detailed early in May as an observer on the western front, has returned here to lecture on recent phases of trench warfare. Major Simons was ordered by the War Department to accompany the Balfour party back to England.

Seventeen candidates leave Plattsburg tomorrow morning for the ground aviation school at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as follows:

From the New England Regiment—L. G. Sherman, L. H. Boutwell, and W. H. McCarthy, First Company; B. Hall, Jr., Second Company; E. W. Higgins, R. H. Thorson, H. F. Maine, and H. C. Riggs, Third Company.

From the New York Regiment—J. H. Bogart, Third Company; J. H. Eggleston, Fifth Company; J. T. Flinn, R. M. Worley, and A. E. Kennedy, Seventh Company; E. A. Craver, Eighth Company; H. L. Roberts and J. R. Hockert, Ninth Company; C. H. Schminke, Second Battery.

The first regimental parade since the opening of the camp was held at retreat this afternoon.

William H. Jones of 381 East 138th Street, a candidate in the Third New York Battery, died at the post hospital early this morning after a two weeks' illness. The case was diagnosed as paratyphoid, complicated by Bright's disease.

MORE AMERICANS TO FRONT.

Section 32 of Field Service, Equipped Here, Leaves Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Section 32 of the American Field Service went to the front today under the command of Keith Vosburg, of Azusa, Cal. The City Club of New York presented the automobiles for the section and organized the personnel.

Section 9 of the Field Service has been cited in army orders and received the war cross for its work in having moved hundreds of wounded. The section remained on duty twenty-seven consecutive hours until its task was accomplished.

LIEGE FINED BY GERMANS.

City Must Pay 500,000 Francs for Failure to Obey Order.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—According to the Echo de Belge, the City of Liége has been fined 500,000 francs for disobeying an order given by the German authorities to demolish buildings damaged by fire on the Quai des Pecheurs.

Liége, capital of Walloon district, is the Belgian city which offered such determined resistance to the Germans at the beginning of the war when they invaded Belgium for the purpose of avoiding the French forts from Verdun to Belfort and of outflanking the French northern and eastern armies. The twelve forts of Liége were repeatedly attacked by the Germans in massed formation from Aug. 4 until Aug. 13, when they finally were reduced by great 16.4-inch howitzers.

Castro Ashore for a Few Hours.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—The authorities allowed Cipriano Castro, former President of Venezuela, to land today for several hours, on condition that two Government detectives accompanied him. With General Maldonado, he spent several hours ashore automobiling, with the police constantly trailing him. He returned aboard the steamer late this evening.

DEMAND AN INQUIRY OF RACE RIOTS CAUSE

CITY GOVERNMENT ASSAILED

Representative Rodenberg Accuses Police of Joining the Rioters and Shooting Down Negroes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Federal investigation of the race riots in East St. Louis, Ill., on July 2, by a Congressional joint committee, was urged before the House Rules Committee today by Representatives Rodenberg of Illinois and Dyer of Missouri, and a delegation of negroes.

"The plain, unvarnished truth," said Mr. Rodenberg, "is that civil government in East St. Louis collapsed, and the ferocity, brutality, and viciousness of the mob that committed the outrages beggars description. The Police Department joined the rioters and helped to shoot negroes. I am told the Colonel in charge of the militia took no steps to handle the situation. A man in whose word I have confidence told me of a person who had been shot by a militiaman. Maurice Joyce, who, I think, will be the next Federal Judge of that district, told me that a negro started toward a group of eight militiamen for protection, that they pointed their bayonets at him, and he fled back to the mob, which shot and killed him, and Joyce himself had a narrow escape from being shot."

Representative Foster of Illinois, a member of the Rules Committee, announced that he today received a telegram from the Governor of Illinois saying he was making a thorough investigation and that no man implicated in the outrage would be spared.

Mr. Rodenberg recommended that investigation be made by a Federal court through a special Grand Jury, and he wanted Judge Landis to conduct it. The Department of Justice sent a representative to confer with Judge Landis, but the latter took the view that it was questionable whether, as an infraction of State law, the riot was a proper subject of judicial inquiry.

Threats within the last few days to burn the $10,000,000 plant of the American Aluminum Company, at East St. Louis, from which comes the clay for the aluminium used in manufacture of airplanes and other purposes at the various plants of the company, were disclosed by Mr. Rodenberg.

Questioned as to whether the participants might be identified, Mr. Rodenberg said Maurice Joyce had told him that, although an old resident of East St. Louis and in the thick of the excitement at the riot, he did not, on his word of honor, recognize a single man engaging in it.

Hallie Queen, a negro Red Cross worker, said the Red Cross was willing to given important evidence as to names of mob leaders.

Several members of the committee informally expressed the view that the resolution for investigation should be reported. Senator Thompson of Kansas, Chairman of the Senate Expenditures Committee, said that committee probably would make a favorable report Monday of the resolution by Senator Sherman for investigation by a Congressional joint committee of the riots.

EX-GOV. SLATON IN A FIGHT.

Exchanges Blows with Legislator Who Criticised Leo Frank Respite.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 3.—Following an attack by Representative J. Seaborn Winn of Hart County on former ex-Governor John M. Slaton on the floor of the House this morning, the two men had a fight in the lobby of a hotel early in the afternoon.

Only a few blows were struck, when friends intervened and separated the men. Both, however, went to the floor before they were separated.

Slaton went to the House this morning under the rule which gives former Governors the privilege of the floor; and on the invitation of Speaker Holder took a seat on the rostrum. At once Winn rose and began to denounce Slaton for commuting the death sentence of Leo Frank, who was convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan. The House was thrown into an uproar and Slaton went out. Members of the House bitterly criticised Winn for his conduct and adopted a resolution denouncing it.

Slaton and Winn met afterward in the Kimball House lobby, and Winn says the ex-Governor called him a "dirty coward" and struck him.

The ex-Governor says he was in the lobby of the hotel, discussing the affair with friends, when Winn entered. He approached Winn, he said, to ascertain the nature of the attack, which he thought had been in the form of a resolution, and called Winn "a contemptible, lying coward," and struck him.

PLYMOUTH WELCOMES PAGE

Ambassador in English Town for War Anniversary Observance.

PLYMOUTH, England, Aug. 3.—This town was bedecked gayly with the Stars and Stripes today in honor of the visit of Walter H. Page, the American Ambassador, and Mrs. Page on the occasion of the celebration of the war's anniversary. The visitors arrived in the afternoon and were met at the station by the Mayor of Plymouth as well as by the Admiral and Major General commanding in this district. A guard of honor gave a General's salute to the Ambassador and the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

After inspecting the guard of honor Ambassador and Mrs. Page drove to the Plymouth residence of Viscount Astor of Hever Castle, where they will be guests for a few days.

Tomorrow's program includes a luncheon to be given by the Mayor, a military display and review, and a patriotic demonstration in the evening. Ambassador Page said he appreciated deeply the cordiality of the welcome on his first visit to the town so closely associated with memories of the Pilgrim Fathers.

EVERY Saturday evening there will be a concert in Washington Square—rendered by well known bands and orchestras. It adds still another interest to that place of so many interests — the Southern terminus of the

KING GEORGE CABLES TO ALL ALLIED RULERS

Expresses Britain's "Unwavering Determination" to Fight Till Victory Is Won.

LONDON, Saturday, Aug. 4.—King George, on the occasion of the third anniversary of the war, has sent identical cablegrams to the Presidents and sovereigns of the United States, France, Portugal, Italy, Japan, Serbia and Rumania, expressing "the unwavering determination of the British empire to pursue the contest until our joint efforts are crowned with success and our common aims attained."

His Majesty also expressed confidence in the unwavering will of the Allied peoples and the heroism of their forces in achieving a final victory, obtaining the possible peaceful progress for humanity. Similar telegrams have been sent to the Kings of Belgium and Siam and the President of Cuba.

In his message to King Albert of Belgium King George expresses his unshakable confidence in the ultimate restoration of Belgium to her rightful position among the free countries of Europe, adding:

"The unfailing spirit to her people under the grievous suffering inflicted upon them by their enemies will continue to inspire the joint efforts of the allied countries against the nation which has trampled them underfoot."

The morning newspapers today commemorate the conclusion of three years of war by long reviews and statements by members of the Government and other leaders proclaiming the determination to fight to the end. Some of these statements are epigramatic. Lord Robert Cecil says, "The path to freedom lies through the German lines." Sir Edward Carson, Minister without portfolio, says: "The Germans unsheathed the sword: they must not be allowed to put it back unbroken."

KAISER'S POLISH BLUNDER.

Failure of German Methods Admitted by Cologne Volkszeitung.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—Up to some months ago the German press was continually boasting of the great reforming and civilizing work which the Fatherland was carrying on in Poland. Recently, however, doubts began to be expressed by some more candid writers as to the effectiveness of German policy. Now the state of affairs has become such that serious alarm has taken place, even in reactionary circles of former smug satisfaction.

Germany's eyes have evidently been opened to conditions in Poland by the arrest of General Pilsudski, the Polish leader and former commander of the legion. It is alleged that he was organizing the Polish Army for use against the Central Powers when occasion offered. In consequence of this arrest all officers of the legion have resigned and been imprisoned.

No one can accuse the Cologne Volkszeitung of any thoroughgoing love for popular government or great regard for the will of the people, yet this journal prints prominently a long article, in which the complete failure of German methods in Poland is admitted and condemned.

"The system of half measures and indecision," it is stated, "has in Germany's domestic affairs wrought tremendous harm, and now it has completely broken down. It has been fatal in Poland and must not be continued. The blame for this does not lie entirely with the Poles. We share it.

"When a kingdom is created its frontiers should at least be fixed and its King appointed. We promised the Polish people independence. That meant surely that at the head of the administration there should be placed as soon as possible people who could at least speak Polish, people whom the inhabitants of the country could trust to hear and understand popular wishes. A few decorative personages, no matter how capable, are not good enough. One person should have been kept away from Poland under all circumstances. That person is the Prussian Government assessor, whom we know so well in Prussia with his monocle and other ornamentative gadgets.

"We Germans are always bragging too much before the world about our administration. We boast of its integrity and wisdom as an ideal for the whole world. Even before the war there was general complaint that we Germans made ourselves disliked abroad, chiefly because we wished to force our alleged better methods on others whether they wanted them or not."

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The success of the Russian revolution in bringing Poland new life and guaranteeing to it a future of an independent free existence, Ambassador Boris A. Bakhmeteff, chief of the Russian War Mission, declared today in an address at the Kosciusko monument in Humboldt Park here.

"The Provisional Government considers the creation of an independent Polish State, formed of all lands inhabited in great part by Polish people, a glad pledge of a durable peace," he said.

A great gathering of Poles heard the address and cheered its conclusion, when the Russian Ambassador laid a wreath on the monument.

opment of property at Long Beach, L. I. He took an extremely active part in the political campaign of 1912.

His close friend, William F. McCombs, interested him in the organization of the Wilson College Men's League, which enrolled 72,000 members, and De Saulles was elected President of the league. For his political work De Saulles was rewarded with appointment to the post of Minister to Uruguay, but he resigned without leaving this city, in order to devote himself to his real estate business.

De Saulles was 38 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur De Saulles of South Bethlehem, Penn. His father was a Major on the staff of General Polk of the Confederate Army. He was a cousin of ex-Mayor George B. McClellan and Captain Philip M. Lydig and a nephew of John G. Heckscher and of Mrs. Stephen Van Rensselaer. He belonged to the Union, Brook and Yale Clubs and frequently made his home at the Yale Club. He had been voted one of the most popular men that had ever been graduated from Yale.

ITALIANS BOMB POLA.

Attack Arsenal and Works at Austria's Naval Base.

ROME, Aug. 3.—Large squadrons of Italian airplanes yesterday effectively bombed the arsenal and military works of Pola, the chief naval station of Austria-Hungary on the Adriatic, according to an official statement made today by the Italian War Department, which reads:

The restlessness of the enemy, also evident yesterday, was met by our reconnoitring parties with prompt and effective fire.

Above Tolmino one of our airmen brought down an enemy machine in flames and forced another to land within its own lines, where it was afterward destroyed by our artillery.

Last night our large flights effectively bombed the arsenal and military works at Pola. All the machines returned safely to their bases. Enemy machines carried out a bombing raid on some inhabited localities on the lower Isonzo, causing few casualties and doing slight damage.

BAFF PLOTTER SENTENCED.

Zaffarone to Service from 5 to 15 Years in Sing Sing.

Antonio Zaffarone, an express driver employed at West Washington Market when Barnet Baff was killed in November, 1914, and who was charged with complicity in the plot to kill Baff, was sentenced by Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions yesterday to serve not less than five years or more than fifteen in Sing Sing.

The Court took into consideration the fact that Zaffarone had been of material aid to the State in the search for the Baff murderers. Zaffarone admitted his part in the plot and first told the authorities that Baff was murdered at the instigation of business rivals.

CUBA TAKES FIRST PRISONER

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—Herr von Heinrich, former Secretary of the German Legation at Madrid, who recently was transferred to the German Legation in Mexico City, was arrested by Cuban Secret Service men this evening and confined in the Castillo de la Fuerza as a prisoner of war.

Herr von Heinrich arrived from Spain today aboard a Spanish liner. He landed quietly and was arrested near the dock.

Caught Stealing Delivery Auto.

Traffic regulations enforced at Forty-second Street and Eighth Avenue yesterday prevented Patrick E. Wynne of 500 West Sixty-first Street from escaping with a Lord & Taylor delivery truck, valued at $2,500, and merchandise valued at $500. He saw Fred Cowman of 527 West Forty-first Street, the driver of the truck, leave the car to make a delivery at Forty-sixth Street and Tenth Avenue, and he climbed to the seat with a companion and started down Tenth Avenue. Cowman gave chase and overtook the runaway at Forty-second Street, where the motor had been held for traffic to pass. A traffic policeman saw the fight for the possession of the car and arrested Wynne. His companion escaped.

AIRPLANE SCANDAL HEARD.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Wing Commander John C. Porte of the Royal Navy Air Service appeared in the Bow Street Police Court today with William August Cassoon, a retired civil servant, to answer charges against Cassoon of unlawfully conspiring to contravene the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption act of 1908. The hearing in the case was furthered adjourned.

Lyman H. Seeley, former general sales manager of the Curtiss Aeroplane Company, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the charge, did not appear. Commander Porte was released on his own recognizance and Mr. Cassoon on bail furnished by two sureties.

The Attorney General, who appeared for the prosecution, said Commander Porte had received in all $240,000 in connection with contracts made between the Admiralty and the Curtiss Aeroplane Company. He added that as a result of the visit of an officer to the United States an inquiry had been held at the Admiralty, and that it had been disclosed that Commander Porte, in a written contract, had transferred all his interests in the Curtiss Company to Mr. Cassoon. The real agreement, however, the Attorney General said, was a verbal one, and under this Mr. Seeley, who was introduced as the agent of the Curtiss Company, was to receive a commission of 15 per cent. on all Admiralty contracts. Of this Commander Porte was to receive three-fourths of 7½ per cent. and Mr. Cassoon one-quarter of 7½ per cent., the remaining going to Mr. Seeley.

The extent of the case was shown by the fact that the Admiralty entered into a contract with the Curtiss Company for their entire output for twelve months, the Attorney General said, the contracts amounting to $11,000,000.

Mr. Seeley at present is presumed to be in the United States.

STUDENT AVIATOR KILLED.

Was Flying with British Instructor, Who is Seriously Injured.

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 3.—C. B. Lambert of Welch, W. Va., a student of the West Virginia Aviation School at Beech Bottom, was killed late today when the motor of his airplane stopped 300 feet above the ground in his first flight.

E. L. Frey, a member of the British Royal Flying Corps, detailed as an instructor at the school, was accompanying Lambert, and sustained injuries which it is believed will prove fatal.

Mitchell at French Aero Club.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Colonel William S. Mitchell, head of the American Aeronautic Mission to France, was offcally received last night at the Aero Club of France. Speeches were made by Henry Deutsch de la Meurthe, the President of the club; Daniel Vincent, Under Secretary of Aviation, and Senator Gaston Menier. After the speeches the President handed a silver plaquette to Colonel Mitchell.

RECOVER $12,000 IN GOODS.

Detectives Arrest Six Men for Receiving Stolen Property.

Detectives of the Third Branch Bureau yesterday recovered goods valued at $12,-000, stolen from the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of 34 Thomas Street on July 2, and arrested six men on the charge of receiving stolen goods in a store at 411 East Sixty-third Street.

When the Amoskeag Company reported the theft of $20,000 worth of goods on July 2 several detectives were assigned to the case. Yesterday they saw a truck drive up to the shop of Vincenzo de Lisi at 411 East Sixty-third Street and unload several packages of goods bearing the mark of the Amoskeag Company.

The police sent for a representative of the company, who identified the packages, and De Lisi, his brother Antonio, and Giuseppe Bertolino were arrested. Later Michael Pecoraro and Antonio Pastronozo of 1,122 First Avenue were arrested, with Giovanni Gienio of 404 East Sixty-third Street. The men pleaded not guilty in the Tombs Police Court and Magistrate Murphy held them in $2,000 bail for examination on Aug. 6.

The Jungaleers from Detroit are taking on a ferociousness nowadays which may land them somewhere. They beat the Yanks yesterday at the Polo Grounds by a score of 10 to 3, and did it in a manner which closely resembled an unfriendly attitude. The kind of batting the Jennings clan exhibited would soon have the Sox twins, White and Red, sitting up nights worrying if the thing should become a habit.

Three Yankee pitchers, Cullop, Shocker and Love, all felt the force of the Detroit bats. Of the 13 hits which fell in a shower around the meadow, Ty Cobb had a homer, George Burns a triple, a double and a single, and Oscar Vitt a triple. It is little wonder that Hughey Jennings danced all over the greensward in glee.

Cobb made the longest and the shortest hits of the game. His homer was cultivated in the seventh after Vitt had tripled off Shocker. The rap went high and whistled its way to the left center field fence. Tyrus then performed a living denial that he is slowing up by skirting the bases just about as fast as Roamer traveled down the stretch at Saratoga.

Cobb Gives an Exhibition.

In the ninth inning Cobb made his shortest hit, a bunt which rolled along the third base line about the length of a cat's tail. He did this just after Vitt got on through Peck's error. Bobby Veach singled to short left, and scored Vitt, Cobb pulling up at second. As Love fanned, Heilman, Cobb and Veach worked a double steal Walters's passed ball aiding the performance.

George Burns soaked a hot grounder at Frank Baker, who tossed to Walters to head off Cobb, who had started for the plate. Cobb changed his mind with remarkable rapidity and started back to third with Walters in hot pursuit. Veach had also started for third, and there was a big tieup in traffic at the dizzy corner. Cobb got to the base first and held it by right of conquest. But the Yanks didn't know that. They didn't know whether Cobb or Veach had a lease on the property.

While this puzzle was turning around in Walters's mind, Burns started for second and Walters tossed the ball down to head him off. The only one in the ball park who noticed that the home plate was as deserted as Broadway after 1 o'clock was Ty Cobb. While everybody was looking the other way Cobb foloed them all and scored.

It is the first time this season that Attorney Jennings has been in good voice at the Polo Grounds. When he was here on other visits he had a frog in his throat. Therefore former Detroit victories here have been seen but not heard. Yesterday you could hear Detroit win as far down as 125th Street. Jennings's visit in a way is welcomed by Groundkeeper Henry Fabian, because Hughey pulls up so much grass at the first and third base coaching lines that Henry will not have to run the lawnmower over it this week.

Burns Thumps Cullop.

The Tigers got gay with Cullop in the first. Bush beat out an infield hit and went to third on Vitt's single to right. While Cobb was being tossed out at first Bush scored. Veach got a pass and Heilman went out at first. Burns whacked a single to left and Vitt and Veach counted.

This same Burns drove in two more in the third. With one gone, Veach singled and Heilman rolled to Cullop, whose throw to Maisel to force Veach was duly muffed by that young man. Burns then smacked a double to the right field wall, which coaxed Veach and Heilman home.

The Yanks got one in the fourth on Marsans's single, Miller's sacrifice, and a single to left by Nunamaker. In the next inning the Yanks drove Willie Mitchell out of the box. Hendryx walked and was forced by Peck, while Pipp was hit. Baker drove a screamer to deepest right, which should have been a home run only Baker stopped running when he reached second, and when he resumed he got only as far as third. The wallop scored Peck and Pipp. Dauss came in for Detroit and halted the destruction.

Burns tripled in the sixth and scored on Cullop's wild pitch. After Yelle singled, Shocker relieved Cullop. Vitt's triple and Cobb's home run in the seventh marked the finish of Shocker.

In the Yanks' portion of the sixth Nunamaker was called out on strikes by Umpire Dineen, and the decision caused such distress among the Yankees that Manager Donovan, Bob Shawkey, and Nunamaker were all ordered off the field. The other two Detroit scores appeared in the ninth, when Vitt and Tyrus Cobb both scored in the manner chronicled above.

RED SOX DROP ANOTHER.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—With Bagby in the box, Cleveland scored another victory over Boston today by the score of 2 to 1. It is the third time in succession that Boston has suffered defeat from Bagby.

The Red Sox had not scored a run off him in twenty-three innings until the sixth inning today, when a double by Barry and a single by Hoblitzel broke his record. Ruth pitched a strong game, but an error by Scott enabled Cleveland to score the winning run in the eighth. Walker was banished for disputing a called third strike.

TOTTERING REDS EASY FOR GIANTS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 3.—In beating, bruising, battering, and biffing the hopeless Cincinnati team by a melody of 10 to 2 here today the gigantic Giants furnished a panorama of maniacal baseball that would have made Rome howl. The thoroughly demoralized and dizzy Reds were a weight to rock the firmament of mirth and cause even the grinning mask of comedy to get the lockjaw.

The pitching was a subject for the health department, the fielding was ochre in its color scheme, and the batting was as effective as the work of an asthmatic Pekingese trying to annihilate a thoroughly healthy fly.

Slim Sallee simply put his celebrated cross-fire and his dinky curve on tap, and it was a case of one, two, three and out. Four perfectly useless hits marked the Red effort up until the eighth, when the milk of human kindness flowed a trifle in the Ohio Sheriff's soul and he let down enough for the astounded locals to tally two runs.

The Giants looked the part of coming champions in all departments. They ran the bases in stellar style, hit viciously and in bunches, and were on their toes throughout.

Toney, who started for Cincinnati, was found for four spanking wallops and a hit batsman in the first inning. This bombardment brought in three runs and they might as well have called it a day right there and saved much perspiration, many baseballs and huge disgust.

Toney settled down in the next three innings and kept the enemy from the pan, but broke again in the fifth and one Reuther succeeded him. What the brutal Giants did to this twirler would make an Armenean atrocity seem like a rather mild matter. It was mostly a case of go up to the plate and tear the cover right off everything the latest Redland Teuton delivered. Single followed single with the rapidity of machine gun fire. Ten hits in less than five innings is the sum total of what happened to Reuther.

Burns, Kauff, Zimmerman, and Holke singled in the opener, which, with a hit batsman thrown in, netted three runs. There was nothing of moment in the second, third, or fourth, but Herzog walked in the fifth and scored on Zim's erudite triple to the scoreboard. This ended the régime of Toney, and Reuther came on. Four straight wallops immediately sounded their xylophonic refrain, and four more runs were over the pan. A base on balls to Herzog in the sixth, followed by singles from the bats of Kauff, Fletcher, and Robertson, chalked up two more buttons, and another came in the seventh on Rariden's single, Reuther's error, and Kauff's third hit.

CUBS DEFEAT ALEXANDER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Cy Williams and Phil Douglas made it possible for Chicago to beat Alexander today and shut out Philadelphia 2 to 0. Douglas held the visitors to five scattered hits and did not permit a runner to pass second base.

Williams's single in the first inning, followings Mann's single and a fielder's choice, gave Chicago its first run. Williams scored the other run on his triple and a sacrifice fly.

BRAVES ROUT BUCCANEERS.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—Boston opened the series with a victory over Pittsburgh today, 5 to 4. Nehf was hit freely in the fourth inning, four singles scoring three runs. In the sixth inning two more hits, and two errors netted Pittsburgh its other run.

Cooper was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning, Carlson replacing him. Two singles, a double, and a triple in this inning scored four runs, while the winning count came in the seventh on two hits and an out at first.

DODGERS KEEP ON WINNING.

Defeat Cardinals 3 to 2 and Gain Seventh Straight Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—Brooklyn's seventh straight victory was achieved today. The St. Louis Cardinals were the victims and the score was 3 to 2. Robbie's Robins have now won nine games out of eleven on the road.

Rube Marquard pitched for Brooklyn. Only one Card reached first in six rounds—Paulette obtaining a life on Olson's error in the fifth. Betzel poled the first hit off Marquard in the seventh. Miller also singled. Long walked, filling the bags. Snyder batted for Cruise, and he hopped the ball straight to Olson, who squeezed the ball tightly and started a big double play.

Brooklyn scored in the first on Olson's triple and Daubert's roller to Miller. Daubert singled and Johnston tripled in the sixth. Daubert tripled, and scored on Myers's out in the eighth.

YACHTS TO RACE 65 MILES.

Annual Stratford Shoal Race to Start at 3 This Afternoon.

The long distance race of the New Rochelle Yacht Club, from Hick's Ledge, off New Rochelle, to Stratford Shoal Lighthouse and return, a distance of sixty-five nautical miles, will be started at 3 o'clock this afternoon, there being no restriction as to the number of the crew on any yacht participating, otherwise the rules of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound will govern. Entries will be received up to noon today.

Three classes will be eligible for competition, yachts sailing under the rating rule, yawls on a handicap basis and yachts enrolled in the handicap association. No yacht will be considered as competing in more than one of the classes, owners expressing their choice of classes at the time of making their entry.

These handicaps will apply to the Stratford Shoal race and to the race of the week following, when the handicap class will race over the course of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club, off Greenwich, Conn.:

First Division—G. P. Granbery's Anita allows. Henry Carsen's Pontiac, 1 per cent.; A. W. Lockwood's Carolina, 2½; Charles Atwater's Bobcat, 4; W. L. Coursen's Wasaka, R. B. Budd's Virginia, and T. S. Clarke's Arvia, 5 each; Myron B. Metcalf's Sachem, 7, and W. H. Farrell's Senera, 7½.

Second Division—A. E. Black's Sally IX. allows: Grace and Loewy's Red Wing, one-half of one per cent.; George Chadwick's Veda, 1; J. L. Mitchell's Mediator, 2½; W. F. Clarke's Nadia, and P. C. Pfeiffer's Clare, 3 each; T. Price's Ariel, 4½; W. P. Krause's Kenmuir, 5¼, and P. W. Howard's Elinore, 6.

Third Division—G. E. Gartland's Robin Hood III. allows: S. C. Hunter's Twinkle, 1 per cent., and F. E. Raymond's Acadian, 4.

Fourth Division—C. Shield's Barbara, R. W. Fraser's Sirene, and B. Lockwood's E'bar, all at scratch, and allow: A. J. Dealy's Ogeemah, 4 per cent.; Daniel Bacon's Solita, 5, and G. W. Lawson's Orienta, 10.

Differentials—First to Second Division, 8½ per cent; first to third, 9; first to fourth, 16.

In the Stratford Shoals race all handicap yachts will sail in one division, and any of them will be allowed to carry balloon jibs.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 3.—The Free-For-All-Pace failed to develop the expected sensation in today's Grand Circuit program, Single G. winning easily in both heats. The Indiana pacer trailed to the half before starting his spurt.

The 2:07 trot was the only real contest of the day, Grand Chimes, the favorite, winning after Miss Perfection had made a strong bid by taking the second and third heats. Marjorie Kay upset the betting calculations in the 2:17 pace, winning handily in each heat by showing the needed reserve in the stretch.

HAYES AND HARDY WIN.

Reach Final in Western Championship Tennis Tourney.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Walter Hayes, Illinois champion, and Samuel Hardy, national clay court champion, were too fast for Charles Garland of Pittsburgh and Ralph Burdick of Chicago in the singles semi-finals of the Western tennis championship today. Hayes won 2—6, 7—5, 6—3, 6—2, and Hardy won 1—6, 6—0, 6—2, 6—2. The finals will be played Sunday.

Hardy and Garland won in doubles semi-finals from Harry Waidner and Harold Ingersoll, 6—2, 6—4, 6—2, and Hayes and Burdick defeated Eduard Oelsner and John Kenfield, 6—1, 6—2, 6—2. The doubles finals will be played Sunday also.

Miss Mary K. Voorhees of Evanston and Miss Carrie Neely will meet in the woman's final as a result of their victories today over Miss Katherine Waldo, 6—4, 6—3, and Mrs. E. C. Thirlby of Traverse City, 6—1, 6—2.

Miss Neely and Katherine Seavey of Kansas City will meet Miss Voorhees and Miss Miriam Steever.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 3.—Another comeback that almost equalled that of Roamer when he won the Saratoga Handicap, marked the racing here today. August Belmont's Stromboli, the sturdy son of Fair Play, which has been in the front rank of handicap performers for several years, was the hero of the occasion. Carrying top weight in the Schuylerville Handicap, at a mile and an eighth, he struggled gamely through the stretch to win by a nose from James Butler's Capra.

In anticipation of the big events scheduled for tomorrow, the meeting is gradually blossoming into its full strength, both in the character of the horses engaged and in the attendance. There were many arrivals for the tests this afternoon, among them Mr. and Mrs. Belmont, who had the extreme satisfaction of seeing Stromboli return to form and catch the judges' eye in the best race of the day. Baseball also contributed a notable spectator, as Colonel Jacob Ruppert today made his first visit to the Saratoga track in ten years, accompanied by William Fleishmann.

With the Kenner Stakes for three-year-olds and the United States Stakes for two-year-olds as attractions for tomorrow, the biggest crowd of the meeting is expected, but there was general disappointment when it was learned that Hourless had not been named as one of the opponents of Omar Khayyam in the Kenner. The reason given is that the Belmont crack is suffering from a skin disease, and it was stated that it would be late in the meeting before he would be ready to measure strides with his conqueror in the Brooklyn Derby. A fine race is also promised in the big two-year-old event, as Escoba, the Western flier, is nominated to race against some of the best youngsters of the East.

The West made a real impression this afternoon, Major Thomas C. McDowell carrying off two purses. His first success was gained by the smart two-year-old filly Olive Wood, a daughter of The Manager, which is said to be the Major's Futurity candidate. Olive Wood won handily, but did not impress the experts as likely to cause much trouble for fillies like Rosie O'Grady or La Russe. The other victory for McDowell was scored by Cheer Leader, which beat a field of selling platers in the last race.

There was a tragic ending to the Lake George steeplechase handicap which provided the poorest exhibition of jumping that has been seen this season. Only two of the seven contenders were standing at the finish and the Greentree Stable's Royal Amber had to be shot as he broke his leg at the jump in front of the grand stand after completing the first turn of the course. Royal Amber was the favorite, and Mrs. Payne Whitney, who races under the name of the Greentree Stable, had tears in her eyes as she witnessed the accident and saw the vain efforts of one of her favorite horses to regain his feet. Powers, his rider, had been hurled thirty feet forward when the horse fell. He was uninjured and ran back to Royal Amber to take the dangling leg in his hands and find it broken. A few minutes later the horse was shot while the band played noisily to drown the report of the pistol. Before Royal Amber came to grief Loch Earn had bolted and Robert Oliver had unseated his rider. Archdale, the leader at the time, also lost his rider a few jumps later, and Leumas, which was running third, unshipped his jockey at the last fence. This left the Glen Ridge Farm's Elect to win by thirty lengths from Ormead. Archdale was remounted to take third money.

The start for the Schuylerville handicap took place in front of the stand and as was the case in a similar situation at Aqueduct. Starter Cassidy sent the field of ten away to a very ragged start, which seriously interfered with the chances of Clematis II, an equal favorite with Chiclet. Martin on T. C. McDowell's Manager Waite was largely responsible for the poor send off as he broke through the barrier and had a lead of two lengths on the horses which were alert enough to follow him. Chiclet and Capra raced after the leader, and Stromboli was in the middle of the field when straightened out, while Clematis II. was next to last and a dozen lengths behind the leader. Chiclet and Capra raced Manager Waite into submission at the end of the backstretch, and going around the turn Stromboli raced up into third place. Clematis II. made up a lot of ground and was fourth on entering the home stretch, where Stromboli hooked up with Capra for the run to the finish. The pair ran locked together for the last furlong, and it was only in the last few strides that Stromboli poked his nose in front. Capra was a length and a half in front of Clematis II.

FOUR FAVORITES IN FRONT.

The largest crowd that has turned out since the beginning of the meeting was in attendance yesterday at the third day's racing of the Staten Island Agricultural Society at Dongan Hills, Staten Island, and was rewarded with the meeting's best racing day.

Of the five events on the program four resulted in victories for favorites, while the other went to a strong second choice. This lone exception to the general rule of the day was J. M. Zimmer's Preston Lynn, on which Mulcahey had the mount. The choice in this event, G. C. Walsh's Brickley, with Maderia up, had to be content with trailing home C. Martin's Smuggler, after a hard race.

R. T. Wilson's two-year-old colt, Scabbard, scored his second victory of the meeting in the second race when Jockey Garrigan piloted him past the judges' stand a winner over the Parkdale Stable's Fenagh Maid, with an advantage of about eight lengths. This race was delayed a considerable time by the unruly actions of Starry Banner, the Quincy Stable's entry, which finished a bad fourth.

The best finish of the day was furnished in the third race, in which W. H. Hogan's Checks, after a hard run through the stretch, managed to lead G. May's Hawthorne past the judges' stand by a head.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; non-winners in 1917; claiming; purse, $350; about five furlongs. Won by Margaret L., Quincy Stable's ch. f., 3 years, 92 pounds, by Ballot-Miss Crittenden, (McGraw,) 8 to 5, 2 to 5, and out; second, Galeswinthe, 4, 115, (Alexander,) even and 1 to 3; third, Lobelia, 3, 100, (Mulcahey,) 2 to 5. Time—1:02.

SECOND RACE.—For two-year-olds; purse, $350; about five furlongs. Won by Scabbard, R. T. Wilson's br. c., 120 pounds, by Helmet-Roman Gold, (Garrigan,) 7 to 10 and out; second, Fenagh Maid, 112, (Gordon,) 2 to 1 and out; third, Pinafore, 115, O'Brien,) out for third. Time—1:03 1-5.

THIRD RACE.—For four-year-olds and upward; non-winners of two races since April 1, 1917; claiming; purse, $350; six and a half furlongs. Won by Checks, W. H. Hogan's ch. g., 4 years, 112 pounds, by Marathon-Monarda, (Taplin,) 8 to 5, 2 to 5, and out; second, Hawthorne, a., 115, (Alexander,) 2 to 1 and 4 to 5; third, Raconteuse, 4, 107 pounds, (Garrigan,) out for show. Time—1:26.

FOURTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; non-winners of $600 in 1917; purse, $350; six and a half furlongs. Won by Brooks, J. E. Davis's br. g., 4 years, 117 pounds, by Leonid-Insolence, (Nicklaus,) 7 to 5, 2 to 5, and out; second, Harwood II., (imp.,) 5, 118, (Garrigan,) 8 to 5 and 1 to 2; third, Nonesuch, 3, 105, (Taplin,) 1 to 4. Time—1:25.

FIFTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse, $400; one and a sixteenth miles. Won by Preston Lynn, J. M. Zimmer's c. g., 6 years, 114 pounds, by Dick Wells-Animosity, (Mulcahey,) 2 to 1, 7 to 10, and out; second, Smuggler, 5, 114, (Himphy,) even and out; third, Brickley, 119, (Maderia,) out to show. Time—1:53.

MISS BROWNE AGAIN VICTOR IN DOUBLES

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 3.—A mixed doubles tennis match supplied the chief element of interest in the invitation tournament at the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club this afternoon. Paired with Miss Molla Bjurstedt, holder of the women's national singles championship, was Theodore Roosevelt Pell, while pitted against this team was one composed of Miss Mary K. Browne of Los Angeles and Frederick B. Alexander. Such an array of talent brought forth a contest that teemed with exciting moments.

Victory rested with Miss Browne and Alexander, but only after a keenly-waged struggle, with the score 6—4, 6—4. The victors in both sets seemed on the path to defeat, but succeeded each time in turning an apparently hopeless situation to their credit. In the opening set Miss Bjurstedt and Pell raced away to a 4—1 lead only to have their further progress halted by the steady play of the rival contenders. A like condition prevailed in the second set, for again the advantage was with Miss Bjurstedt and Pell at 4 games to 1. Before the attack of Miss Browne and Alexander this dwindled rapidly as the California girl and her Eastern partner again succeeded in taking five games in a row.

In the men's round-robin doubles there were some spirited contests. Fred C. Inman and Lyle E. Mahan continued on their victorious way, their conquest this afternoon being over the strong team composed of Karl H. Behr and Nanthaniel W. Niles. The score of this was 6—4, 6—3. Inman and Mahan are now within striking distance of the doubles laurels, for they have not lost a match and have only one more to play, that against Holcombe Ward and Howard A. Plummer.

Behr and Niles and Frederick B. Alexander and Elliott Binzen have each lost a match; Theodore Roosevelt Pell and Bernon S. Prentice have lost two contests and Ward and Plummer have been defeated three times without a victory to give consolation.

Three doubles matches were played. In addition to Inman and Mahan, the victors were Behr and Niles, and Alexander and Binzen. It was the team made up of Ward and Plummer which fell before Behr and Niles with the score 6—3, 5—7, 6—2, and Alexander and Binzen defeated Pell and Prentice at 7—5, 6—1.

The round-robin women's singles match served to further emphasize the superior play of Miss Browne, for she triumphed easily over her sister Californian, Mrs. Robert P. Williams, by a score of 6—1, 6—4. By an odd coincidence this is the same score by which Miss Bjurstedt defeated Mrs. Williams yesterday, and is taken as convincing evidence of a brilliant match when Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Browne meet in the decisive contest of the series tomorrow. This contest will count as one of those to decide possession of the Julian S. Myrick trophy.

In the mixed doubles match the women were even more spectacular in their play than the men, although the latter were attaining a high degree of excellence. Miss Browne once more demonstrated that her command of tennis was founded on a well-rounded knowledge of the game and ability to use this knowledge. Doubtless the most sensational feature of her game was her overhead play when she many times smashed forcefully and true from well behind the service line.

Pell, who was Miss Bjurstedt's partner, has been in one of the training camps recently, but he came to Seabright with a fine degree of tennis skill at his command. He showed to marked advantage, particularly his sweeping free back-hand, seeking out many an opening for a passing stroke unerringly. Miss Bjurstedt had a forehand passing stroke that hummed along for many placements, especially those down the lines.

A fine schedule of matches is on the program for tomorrow. The men's doubles matches are Behr and Niles vs. Pell and Prentice and Ward and Plummer vs. Inman and Mahan. These will be played at 3 P. M. Following this is the match between Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Brown, and Alexander and Binzen play Behr and Niles at 5 o'clock.

Men's Round-Robin Doubles.—Karl H. Behr and N. W. Niles defeated Holcombe Ward and Howard A. Plummer, 6—3, 5—7, 6—2; Frederick B. Alexander and Elliott H. Binzen defeated Theodore R. Pell and Bernon S. Prentice, 7—5, 6—1; Frederick C. Inman and Lyle E. Mahan defeated Karl H. Behr and N. W. Niles, 6—4, 6—3.

Mixed Doubles.—Miss Mary K. Browne and Frederick B. Alexander defeated Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Theodore R. Pell, 6—4, 6—4.

His Own Country

and Yet—

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE says:
It is big in its treatment of the theme, thanks to the author's absolute and continuous breadth and justice of view.

THE BOSTON TRANSCRIPT says:
It reveals an extraordinary amount of study and a sincere desire to give a dispassionate view of both sides of the question.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE says:
The author has not shirked a single fact on either side of the case and yet has given neither side cause for offense.

THE PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN says:
The people of the South are under obligation to Mr. Kester for his frank and elaborate presentment of imperious and imminent social conditions.

Mr. Kester's attitude toward the negro and his racial future is neutral and interrogatory. There is not a particle of propaganda in it—it just tells a story and paints a picture.

THE NATIONAL ARMY.

The draft goes on with increasing speed as the new machinery gets in working order. There is no fear of failure. There is no prospect of unexpected delay. It is a slow business to select 687,000 men out of 9,500,000, and it was natural enough that in the beginning the proportion of physically unfit men among those examined and the proportion of men avowing their intent to claim exemption should seem unduly large. But it is already seen that the proportion of the fit who have no valid claims to exemption will be just as was expected, about one in four of the men enrolled for the first draft. In some districts it will be necessary, of course, to make new enrollments. In the large cities, and especially in their poorer districts, the percentage of the physically incompetent is large. But the average of available men throughout the country for the national army will not fall under the estimate.

With the operation of the draft the national army comes into existence. Let us hope that while this Republic endures it will never go out of existence. Hereafter we must always have a sufficiently large reserve of trained citizen soldiers to insure our safety. If we had possessed such an army the course of this war would have been different. We might never have been compelled to join in the hostilities. The Lusitania probably would not have been attacked. Germany has relied upon our lack of military preparations. But the Teutons know by this time that we are bent upon making up for our past neglect. Within a year this new national army will be a military force to be reckoned with. Meanwhile we have our greatly expanded regulars and our National Guard to throw the weight of American power in the great conflict.

The national army is destined to be the most popular force and the one upon which in time we shall chiefly rely. Its numbers will be limited only by the duration of the war. We can enroll, train, and equip 5,000,000 or more of such men, the best the nation produces, if necessary. Each member is a true representative of the spirit which has compelled us to take up arms in the cause of justice and humanity. Not conscripts in the old sense, not unwilling recruits sent to fight battles for a King or an autocracy, but citizens of a Republic in which every citizen of fighting age has volunteered his services, a democratic army to fight for the preservation and the development of democracy.

THE I. W. W.

The lynching at Butte, Mon., of FRANK LITTLE of the Executive Board of the Industrial Workers of the World was a deplorable and detestable crime, whose perpetrators should be found, tried, and punished by the law and justice they have outraged. Public order and security, often disturbed and endangered by members of the I. W. W., are as much hurt in their essence and spirit by this lawlessness of presumed volunteer defenders of the law as by the violences of the society for which they unconsciously make sympathy by this murder.

Not in palliation of the Butte assassins, but in warning to seditious and violent persons of fiery speech, the language and acts of LITTLE, that brought him to his end, should be recalled. He told the Governor of Arizona, "I don't give a d——n for your country." He talked to a mass meeting of miners of "Uncle Sam's scabs in uniform." He threatened to prevent the Government from sending troops to France if it took control of the copper mines. He excited strikes whose plain object was to injure the United States.

A civil tongue becomes the disaffected in war. In the civil war "Yankees" and "Abolitionists" in the South, "Copperheads" and "secret sympathizers" in the North, sometimes got hard measure. It is dangerous to be publicly offensive when popular emotion is strong, when anxiety, loss, and suffering have made the nerves sensitive. That time will be reached in this war.

LITTLE was lynched. The I. W. W. has been trying, and is busily trying still, to lynch the United States. Wandering bands of outlaws, their leaders well supplied with money, apparently acting according to an organized plan, have tied up a quarter of the American copper mines, have attacked the lumber industry, have burned crops and wrecked agricultural and other machinery. To hamper the building of ships, the making of munitions, the supply of food to our Army and Navy, and to the Allies, is the clear result and obvious purpose of these acts. The I. W. W. agitators are in effect, and perhaps in fact, agents of Germany. The Federal authorities should make short work of these treasonable conspirators against the United States.

MR. MURPHY'S CANDIDATE.

Opportunity knocks somewhat loudly at the door of Tammany Hall. During the many years in which Mr. CHARLES F. MURPHY has been the leader of the Democratic organization in New York City he has never had the pleasure of finding himself associated and co-operating in a Mayoralty election with some of the chief men of the city, with many nonpartisan organizations of high standing, with newspapers like The Evening Post, The Tribune, and THE TIMES. We are convinced, we cannot resist the belief, that in this association Mr. MURPHY would find very great pleasure, if only from its novelty. We feel, therefore, that we are not so much taking a liberty as exercising a privilege when we point out to him that this high and unusual enjoyment is now within his reach.

Mr. MURPHY is having a good deal of difficulty in finding a candidate for Mayor. The nature of the difficulty is plain, for above all things Tammany Hall desires victory, and none of the gentlemen whose names have thus far been mentioned as possible candidates could be elected against Mr. MITCHEL. Mr. MURPHY, of course, does not look for help from the feigned zeal of Mr. JACOB LIVINGSTON of Kings in behalf of the Cropsey candidacy; he knows very well Judge CROPSEY is not going to throw away thirteen years on the Supreme Bench in such a hopeless undertaking. The Tammany chieftain is shut up to the hard condition, unusually hard this year, of choosing a candidate who can be elected on his own merits.

In all seriousness, therefore, we offer to Mr. MURPHY the advice that he cause his organization to nominate JOHN PURROY MITCHEL for Mayor. He will be elected anyway, and for that reason his nomination by Tammany would be good politics. But we challenge any man within the Hall or outside of it to suggest any reason against the nomination of Mr. MITCHEL by Tammany that would not be a bad reason. All the good reasons are on the other side.

It would be an astonishing choice, but would not Mr. MURPHY be willing that his organization should astonish the community for the community's good? There is one sufficient reason why Mr. MURPHY should join the Fusion movement, and make the nomination and election of its candidates unanimous. By a multitude of testimonies it is known that the present Fusion administration is the best the city has ever enjoyed. By what possible argument can Mr. MURPHY justify his desire to deprive the city of the services of an admirable and proved administration? Mr. MURPHY will not admit that he is against good government. Yet if he denies that the city has been well governed the last four years, he puts himself in contradiction with unimpeachable witnesses. Let Mr. MURPHY join the forces of the light and leading and persuade Tammany to nominate a candidate who can be elected.

THE BANKING SITUATION.

The national banking system approaches its end with high credit. Its report as of June 20 is the last that will be made with the old reserve requirements, cash in tills included. The surplus, according to the old method, the excess above legal requirement, is $842,000,000. The surplus by the new method is $828,000,000. That is to say, the banks carry in their tills $14,000,000 above their reserves in the Federal system. That is an actual increase of reserves, making the seasonal comparison, but a trifling decrease in relation to the growth of business. The deposits increased $1,913,000,000 compared with a year ago, but the loans increased only $1,139,000,000. The indication is strong that the deposits are of the sort that grow from profits or savings, rather than the sort which come from borrowing of credit.

The excess of deposits above loans is but a little short of four billions of dollars, or approximately the increase of credit which the excess of reserves would warrant. In times of strain it is not unusual for the loans to exceed the deposits. The present remoteness of such an overloaned condition may be reassuring to those who have such a fear of inflation that they are prejudiced against expansion of bank business in due relation to other business. Large and prosperous as the banking business is, it rather lags behind the other indubitable evidences of large exchanges. It will be time enough to call a halt to bank expansion when bank clearings and rail traffics are declining. The overprudent might start a little sooner, but it shows deficiency of insight and courage to call for contraction when business is growing and bank resources are unutilized. Investors might do so. But bankers are not investors. We have remade our banking institutions in order that our banks might reflect business conditions. Bank resources have increased two and a quarter billions, but banks are not even "loaned up." There is such a thing as too cheap money, and it is rather baffling to ask what would be the effect of quieter trade with such a surplus of idle resources as is revealed in these stirring times.

Naturally, this condition of undertrading is strongest where banking resources are least liquid. The central reserve cities are less than 2 per cent. above their legal requirements, due both to the intelligence of their managers and to facilities for liquidation ample for all demands. Other reserve cities carry reserves larger by half than the law requires. But the country banks carry more than twice the reserves which the law calls for, to say nothing of the billions of credit which might be created by the use of acceptances and the illimitable supply of currency by rediscounts. This underloaned condition of the banks is especially notable when it is considered that it follows one Liberty Loan and precedes another. The traces of bank absorption of these investments, so much more desirable by others than by banks, are negligible. All United States bonds are under a billion, and the increase within a year is $174,000,000. It might rather be wished that more of them were Liberty bonds, for they do not prolong the lingering of our national bank currency. But the fact is that there is a tendency to cling to the 2 per cents. which carry the circulation privilege. Rather than lose profit corresponding to low interest, the banks expanded note circulation by $2,696,742 during July. It was the fault less of the banks than of the laws making expansion of currency possible in that manner when there is gold afloat, almost derelict in a banking sense, surpassing any possible need and hindering the full use of asset currency.

The time may come when it will be perceived that it is better and cheaper to pay higher interest in consideration of withdrawal of the circulation privilege. The authority to exchange twos for threes on that basis seems less attractive to the banks since an additional half per cent. has been paid on the Liberty Loan, with no certainty that the rate is yet at the top. It is paradoxical to say that the banking situation is too good. But it is sure that we are not utilizing our resources to the full in the interest of either world democracy or of regularizing our still imperfect currency conditions.

NEW YORK FOOD CONTROL.

The reduction of the high cost of living in this State was a serious matter until the politicians turned it into a jest. Surely it was a joke to disqualify the regulator assigned for the Governor's appointment on the ground that he was committed to the consumers' interests. It is even a better joke to suggest a commission whose members cannot sit in the same room in peace and comfort, and who are far above a job which will require real work. The politicians seem to think that the regulation of prices is as easy as politics, and that what the case calls for is that sort of regulation which certainly will make living cheaper for consumers, or more profitable to producers, or preferably will promise to do both at the same time.

The regulation of prices of what people buy with their wages is not like the regulation of public utilities. Any sort of a bungle in that can be excused, or even can be turned into a merit if it produces results demanded by prejudice. But the men who are to say what people must pay for food or fuel will act under a meticulous observation and disposition for faultfinding which will make their going harder than that of a penitent with peas in his shoes.

The newly appointed controller of food in England congratulated himself on the fine stock of unpopularity which he would gather in the next few weeks. In that temper he may accomplish something. But no man who counts votes can accomplish anything worth while for himself or anybody else. Food control in this State can mean nothing beyond the cheapening of food, for this city in particular. The population of the State is divided not very unevenly between this city and "up-State." Up-State there are other cities, but they are more nearly self-supporting and nearer to local sources of supply. As between farmers and consumers, the division of population is about as one farmer to nine consumers. New York farmers do not raise food enough for two months' consumption in this State.

Five-sixths of our food must be brought into the State, and most of it stored here. It was wise, and necessary, for the Governor to explain that he did not intend to seize producers' stocks. It is unwise for the Governor to threaten the storers of food. He can drive the storers outside the State, merely across the river or the invisible borders of other States. That would increase the cost of supply, and would not increase the quantity available. The cost of the food eaten in this city is fixed where the wheat is grown, say in Kansas, or the oranges in California, or the apples in Oregon, and so on endlessly. Can the Governor or the Legislature cheapen the products of those States? Can they induce the supply thence to be brought here by threats against those who deal in them? Will it cheapen food in this city to increase production in the State by those whose costs are larger than the costs of those who have driven the farmers of England out of business?

The Governor rightly shuns the price-fixing problem. It is not possible to please both buyers and sellers, both producers and consumers. Those who promise it are deceivers or deceived. The Albany strategists are manoeuvring for position along political rather than economic lines. There is more meant than meets the eye in the dispatch which says that the farmers' friends want the price of what may be seized to be fixed by the Dean of the Agricultural College at Cornell. The views of that excellent institution are known, and probably correct. Wheat paid for on its appraisal would almost induce Kansas farmers to move to New York. It would be cheaper and surer to buy Kansas wheat at the minimum voted to the producers at Washington. The proposal that farm laborers should be paid mechanics' wages and that the labor cost should be included in the price of wheat seized in New York is not intended for a joke and is not funny at all. It may come true. The orgy of the old protectionists has undergone transmutation into a novel agrarianism, in which consumers live for the sake of enriching the farmers. This is an issue in which those who regard chiefly the public interests can know neither friend nor foe nor any accustomed alignment of political forces.

If the alleged object of the State food regulation is co-operation with Federal regulation, as it ought to be, the object could be accomplished in a bill of half a dozen lines. The bill is longer than that because it assumes to say what ought to be done by way of co-operation with the Federal regulator. No man knows that, for the good reason that the Federal regulator does not know, and cannot know until the conditions under which he must act become known to him. Discretion cannot be put into a law, nor even into a regulator. It must be born in him, originally, although it can be improved by experience. The idea of appointing regulators committed to any view of regulation, or to intrust regulation to any sort of commission, after what has occurred at Washington, is insulting to every inhabitant of New York State, even including New York City.

NEW COMMANDERS.

The report that most of our general officers in France will be men under 45 years is probably well founded. We have comparatively few Generals now and most of those we have are nearer 60 than 45. It is not very likely that men who have passed their prime will be assigned to commands in France. Every young officer in our army now has a chance for rapid promotion. Many advancements have already been made, many more must be made in the near future. But we are not led to believe, from the Washington reports, that we are to have no Generals at the front over 45 years of age. A man of 45 is still in his prime, and at that age he has acquired the experience and stability of character needed for high command. With a large army we must have many Generals. The disposition to advance men from the lower grades is commendable and inspiriting. It fires the public imagination to think that the Lieutenant of the immediate present may command a division before the war is finished.

There is no reason, however, why any of our few general officers who are still relatively young men should be discouraged. Nor are there grounds for believing that any tried officers of the regular army are to be outranked without good cause by the men trained at Plattsburg. The advancement of the most capable Plattsburg men to the rank of Majors of the reserve is right. But regular army men who are still Captains, after many years of military practice, will soon be Colonels. There is no doubt that all the available men among the Majors and Captains of the regular army will be regimental commanders with a sure chance of further promotion. As for the present officers of the National Guard, in the lack of definite announcements speculation as to their future would be futile. Many of them, especially among the younger men, have spared no pains to master military science. They have taken their commissions seriously and tried to fit themselves for command. There are others who undoubtedly owe their commissions to personal popularity or political influence. It is fair that their claims to military distinction should be subjected to severe scrutiny in the most practical way.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Mystery, but Not Inexplicable. Many previous assurances on the highest of German authority that the naval battle off the coast of Jutland was a great and glorious German victory now get confirmation—of course none was really needed—by like statements in the careful and elaborate reviews of the three war years which the always accurate and trustworthy German newspapers have just published. To doubt the truth of this claim would be to impugn the veracity, and therefore the honor, of all the officers in the German Navy, beginning with its revered Commander in Chief, the Kaiser, and running down through his Admirals to grades low enough to be almost indistinguishable from common humanity. The entertainment of such a doubt for more than the briefest of passing moments would be unthinkable.

That question must be considered settled, and certainly it is so considered except by a few ill-conditioned skeptics—fellows of the baser sort who are still capable of charging that Germany started the war, and of hoping that she may not win it. One can be far removed from that vicious category, however, and still feel obliged to struggle, now and then, with another question which the settlement of that question at least seems to raise. It is this:

If the Jutland battle was—or, to put it better, as it was—a German victory, why is it that the Kaiser's Grand Fleet has not continued the work so well begun?"

Months have passed since that day so glorious for the Fatherland, and in no one of them have the German heroes attempted the repetition of their magnificent achievement. Why they have not is a darkest mystery, for obviously what could be done then could have been done again—and again—and by this time there should not be a single British warship left to burden and offend any one of the Seven Seas. Long pondering of this problem eliminates theory after theory until there is left only a single explanation.

The thing has not been done out of a chivalrous, perhaps too chivalrous, regard for British sensibilities! Germany shrinks in characteristic kindliness from inflicting even on a misguided and hostile people the pain that would follow the revelation that its strangely over-celebrated and over-trusted navy was manned and officered by cravens and incompetents. Germans can be stern, but they cannot be cruel.

A Pacifist Who Can Be Commended. In a near column appears a letter that is commended to the earnest attention of pacifists of all their several sorts—and especially to the attention of those whose sort of pacifism forces or allows them to make what amounts to war on their own country, to antagonize the execution of its plans, and to thwart the achievement of its purposes.

Mrs. SPENCER TRASK—KATRINA TRASK to the readers of her poems and plays—has long been an ardent friend of peace and an equally ardent enemy of war. She is both, now, as much as ever, and she still disbelieves in the efficacy, and questions the expediency, of war as a means of settling international controversies. Presumably she would still deny what those who are not pacifists regretfully admit—that there are enemies who are open to no persuasion except that of force, enemies on whom that one persuasion must be used if the world is to remain habitable and tolerable to the lovers of peace and justice.

But Mrs. TRASK, in a letter that was read to her employés at a recent flag-raising on her estate, admirably explains why she is not preaching pacifism at this time—why she acquiesces in the judgment of the Government that represents the great majority of her fellow-Americans—why she is doing what she can to help, not what she might to hinder, the successful prosecution of a war which she hates as war, but views with sympathy and hope because it seeks to attain the ends believed by her to be essential to the welfare and safety of humanity. In other words, Mrs. TRASK, unlike so many other pacifists, does not look at war and peace as abstract entities, but in their relations.

She sees that war is not all blood and dirt—that it has causes and objects—that while it may not be the best of imaginable ways to do what must be done, it sometimes is the only way available to mortals in their present stage of development. She sees that one soldier may be fighting for right against another soldier who is fighting for wrong, and that to cover the two with a common condemnation for fighting at all is the height of injustice and the depth of stupidity.

Probably there is hardly a militarist outside of Germany who does not quite or nearly agree with this form of pacifism in all its more important details. At any rate, it shows no trace of the treason and sedition that mark so much of current pacifism, and it is free, too, from the thinly veiled cowardice, the neurotic horror of pain and death, that also characterized the greater part of it.

One Man Fights Hundreds. In the days when an armored knight on an armored horse did not hesitate to charge as many peasants as might venture to bar his way, it was said of him that "the wolf does not need to count the sheep." Gunpowder created more of equality among men, and for long it was chiefly courage that made up for disparity of numbers among men equally well armed. Now the airplane has restored something of the old conditions.

In one of yesterday's dispatches there was told in thrilling detail how a single British aviator had attacked without hesitation all the occupants of a German flying field, and how, after causing no end of confusion and doing a lot of damage, he diversified his excursion by assailing several machine gun positions. His little private, individual war reached its climax when he engaged—and put to flight—a body of 200 marching soldiers.

Of course the airman's life was in constant danger, but his speed and his few score feet of elevation above his enemies gave him the advantage that the armored knight had over the peasants. They were far from being sheep, the Germans whom he refused to count, but they as well might have been, and he flew home unscratched.

Such exploits seem like the comedy of war, yet the men who are killed in them remain long dead—as was said aforetime of the South American revolutions, which also have their comic aspects for many.

Federal Jobs for Slackers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Having teeth pulled, taking drugs to affect the heart action, and the misuse of eyeglasses are indeed crude and painful methods of escaping the draft. The slick slacker does not use them. He is husky, has no dependents, his number is near the top of the list, and his chances of being called are excellent; but he loves life too dearly to risk his in the trenches. He secures appointment as a minor official of one of the numerous Federal boards or Liberty Loan Committees, thereby becoming technically a Government employe and exempt from the draft. Men of influence, by whose aid such appointments are obtained, should realize that there are hundreds of men not qualified for military service available for these positions, and that they are contributing to an unworthy cause in assisting shirkers to ignore their country's call to arms. Magazines for the Troops.

I have repeatedly noticed in traveling that a large number of magazines are left in the trains by the public. Would it not be a good idea for some one of authority in the railroad world to communicate with the various heads of the railroads with a view of having orders issued for all magazines to be turned in at the end of a train's run? These magazines can be concentrated at a few central points and from there shipped to France.

AN EXAMPLE FOR PACIFISTS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Katrina Trask (Mrs. Spencer Trask of Saratoga Springs) is one of the most prominent pacifists in this country. She has written extensively on the subject, vigorously and intelligently, and her pacifist play, "In the Vanguard," has been widely performed and is still being given.

At a recent flag-raising on her place, being too ill to be present, she addressed a letter to her employes because some of them thought that her attitude since our declaration of a state of war was at variance with her principles and ideals. Here is what she says on the subject:

You all know that I am a pacifist; that I have steadfastly worked for peace; that I have always raised my voice most earnestly in protest against war. You know that since the titanic tragedy overswept Europe in 1914, although I longed to have this nation make an indignant protest at once—a protest which would ring around the world—and, although I wanted it to sever at once all connections with Germany and pour forth every help to the Allies, yet I have earnestly used my influence against our country going into war.

But since the day that war was declared I have been absolutely silent; I have constantly refused to take part in any pacifist demonstration or to sign any peace petition. On the contrary, I have entered in every way into the active preparation of the country for war, and I have given a glowing sympathy and pride to my dear young men who have enlisted.

I have heard that some of you feel that because I have done this I have changed. I have not changed.

I have heard that some of you think my present course is a contradiction of my anti-war position. It is not a contradiction.

It is due to you that I make clear to you my thought.

I desire personally the very same things for which we have now gone to war. I want for the world the very same things for which our country is now so splendidly preparing to fight.

My soul revolts against the barbarity and unspeakable cruelty of the Germans; their military code contradicts even the primitive instincts of humanity.

I hate tyranny—I would make any sacrifice to free my fellow-men from the bondage of autocracy.

I want liberty—liberty for all men.

I have dedicated myself to work for democracy.

I, however, am personally persuaded that war is not the best or surest way permanently to accomplish these things.

I have in no way changed my intellectual convictions or my principles.

But this country is a republic—the majority rules, and the majority of the United States has chosen the way of war. Congress has declared war; our President, in words that thrill the soul, has proclaimed war.

Therefore, we who differ as to the method of accomplishing results should be silent. We should follow with the heartiest co-operation possible in the way that Congress has ordained—that the President has proclaimed. That is the reason why I have been silent—why, although I would willingly, gladly lay down my life to secure permanent peace, I have refused to take any part in the pacifist protestations, why I have refused to sign my name to any peace petition.

This is not a time to speak of differences, of individual creeds, or of personal principles. We all wish to work for the same things—liberty, democracy, humanity, fraternity. This is a time to speak only of our united purpose and of our ardent desire to do everything we can to help our country. This is what I intend to do, and I urge you all to do the same.

If you go to fight this heroic hour may God's blessing go with you. If your conscience forbids your going, be brave enough to say so. But you must be very sure that it is your conscience which makes objection to your going and not your objection to going which makes your conscience. There is the same difference between the man who has an honest, conscientious objection to war and the man who, being afraid to go, makes his conscience his excuse, that there is between honest coin and counterfeit coin.

The rest of Mrs. Trask's letter, too long to give here, is a magnificent call to service.

A Scandinavian Union.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The writer is a native of Denmark, and has been a citizen of the United States since 1894. I suggest that Norway, Sweden, and Denmark form a northern confederacy, abolishing all tariff duties.

Sweden has coal, metals, lumber, hides, fats, and fish. Norway has the same products. Denmark has cereals, meat, and dairy products. The three countries together are self-sustaining, and have plenty for export. They command an army of 500,000, and have a population of 10,000,000.

For a hundred years a Scandinavian union has been the aim of the people. Now is the time when everybody is busy. Let them stay strictly neutral or join the Allies.

In the meantime, I consider a strict embargo on exports from the United States to Scandinavia fully justifiable.

Weather Bureau Temperatures.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Weather Bureau reads the temperature on the top of a tall building, under the most favorable conditions, where, if there is any breeze, the thermometer is bound to be affected accordingly. I would suggest they use a captive balloon so they could go up a little higher. The people live near the hot pavement, and it is the actual conditions under which we are forced to live that count. Christian Science and a huge imagination would have to work overtime to make one accept the official figures. H. D.

WE WHO WAIT.

Tatters lay prone at my feet last night,
His shaggy head on his forepaws resting,
His body still, but an anxious light
Plain in his eyes, that were roving, questing—

Mournful brown eyes that were wont to dance,
Now asking dumbly, "Where is my master?"
I could but whisper, "Somewhere in France—"
Fighting the tears that came fast, and faster.

Donald would never like that! 'Tis clear
We must be braver; and we are trying.
If he comes back, (oh, the gripping fear!)
Tatters won't tell that he saw me crying.

We were so proud of him when he went,
Splendid and strong, with his dear eyes glowing.
Tatters and I on the curbstone spent
Wearisome hours, to speed his going.

What would a sight of him now be worth
To the two sad hearts he left behind him!
Tatters and I would go round the earth,
Though we walked on bleeding feet, to find him.

We can do nothing but pray and dream,
Not that one dog—or one sweetheart—matters;
Yet I petition the All-Supreme,
"Please bring him safely to me and Tatters."

FUSION ON THE JUDGES.

Special attention is to be paid to the judiciary nominations this year by the Fusion Committee of 250. Particularly will the City Court, where six new Justices are to be elected, come in for a reorganization of its personnel. With the view of getting the best opinion of organizations and individuals opposed to Tammany Hall regarding judicial candidates, the Committee on Judicial Nominations of the Fusion Committee, of which Emory R. Buckner is Chairman, will hold public hearings beginning next Tuesday night at the Fusion headquarters, 244 Madison Avenue. The fullest expression of opinion regarding nominations for the bench will be encouraged.

According to present plans, the Fusion Committee intends to renominate only two of the six City Court Justices whose terms expire this year. They are Edward F. O'Dwyer, the Chief Justice, and Justice Strasbourger, who was appointed by Governor Whitman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William L. Ransom. Justice O'Dwyer is a Democrat and at one time was President of the National Democratic Club. He has bitterly opposed the Tammany leadership of Charles F. Murphy. Among the men who are already being considered for the City Court bench by the Fusion leaders are Leonard M. Wallstein, Commissioner of Accounts, and Borough President Douglas Mathewson of the Bronx, who is not up for renomination this year.

The Fusion leaders also have given special attention to the selection of the two Supreme Court Justices who are to be elected this year. It was said yesterday that the Judiciary Nominations Committee had decided to recommend the nomination of Supreme Court Justice Samuel H. Ordway, a Republican, to succeed himself. Justice Ordway was appointed by Governor Whitman to succeed the late Justice Amend, but to retain his place on the bench he will have to be elected this Fall. The Fusion leaders point to Justice Ordway as the type of Justice they want to see on the bench. Another Justice will be elected to succeed John W. Goff, who retires this year by age limit. Professor Francis B. Aymar, dean of the New York University Law School, is being mentioned as a candidate. The terms of a number of Municipal Court Justices also expire this year, and the Fusion Nominating Committee will consider candidates for these places next week.

Chairman Buckner explained yesterday that while the Republican organizations of Manhattan and the Bronx and representatives of the city democracy and Republican and Democratic Clubs were expected to be present at the hearing on judiciary candidates next Tuesday night, the invitation to attend had not been limited to clubs of a political nature, but that he was especially anxious to hear from individuals.

"There will be full opportunity for all to express their opinions," said Mr. Buckner. "The only limitation at the first meeting is that only candidates for the City Court and for the vacancies in the Supreme Court will be considered. Other public hearings will follow, at which candidates for other judicial offices will be considered."

The Law Committee of the Fusion Committee is giving all its attention to the work of having the election law amended so as to make it easier for the soldiers to cast their votes this Fall. A. S. Gilbert, Chairman of the Law Committee, called attention yesterday to the urgent need of revision of the election law, not only to get the soldier vote, he said, but to protect the franchise of soldier and sailor citizens of this city and State who may be in Europe on Election Day.

"The election law now provides," said Mr. Gilbert, "that ballots cast by soldiers and sailors in the field in time of war shall be placed in sealed envelopes and in that condition forwarded to the Secretary of State, whose duty it is to distribute these envelopes to the various election districts where they would ordinarily have been cast had the voter been at home. There is no provision for canvassing the vote in the field, nor making any record of the vote which can be forwarded separately from the ballots.

"It was, of course, never contemplated that soldiers and sailors of the United States ever would be engaged in conflict on European soil. Nor was it ever contemplated that peaceful merchant ships would be sunk without notice. Under present conditions, however, it is quite possible that ballots cast by our soldiers and sailors in Europe may never arrive in this country. The soldier and sailor vote will thus be lost, the men disfranchised, and the result of the election thrown in doubt."

Governor Whitman, Senator Ottinger, Republican, and Senator Foley, Democrat, it was said, had been made fully aware of the situation. Chairman Childs of the Fusion Committee said that he hoped the special session of the Legislature would correct deficiencies in the election law and that all political parties and committees in this city would join forces in the effort to give the soldiers and sailors of New York a square deal. To correct deficiencies in the election law it will be necessary to provide for an initial canvass of the soldier vote in the field and for the preservation of a proper record in case of loss of the ballots.

"The situation is beset with difficulties," said Mr. Gilbert, "due to constitutional provisions, but these difficulties, I am sure, can be legally overcome."

With the election law amendments out of the way, the Law Committee will take up the question of selecting a Fusion emblem for the official ballot this Fall, the committee having decided that no matter what the outcome of opposition to Mayor Mitchel and the other candidates for the Republican nomination the names will be found on the official ballot at the head of the Fusion ticket.

THE YOUNG DOCTORS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is incomprehensible how any virile young American doctor, who has completed his medical school and hospital training, is not married, and has no dependents, can fail at this time to appreciate the need in which our Government stands for his service. And yet the age class that I have described has but few representatives at the three Medical Officers' Training Camps now in session in the country. The average age of doctors here at Fort Oglethorpe is just under 40, and from what I hear from Fort Riley and Fort Benjamin Harrison this average is maintained in those two places.

"Where are the younger men?" is the question asked on all sides. And in the present crisis it is an ugly question and cannot be answered without throwing discredit upon the younger men as a class.

It is high time for those of the younger men who are holding out as alternates to base hospital units to realize that their place is not with such units, and that furthermore the Government, in spite of its inclination to make use of these alternates, will not in the stress of war change horses in the middle of the stream, unless illness on the part of the base hospital personnel makes such change necessary. The war has amply shown that the work in base hospitals can be effectively, and in my opinion, better, done by men over 45, thus releasing the younger men for field service work, for which they are so much needed.

The younger men should know that they cannot enter upon the duties of field service work with their professional training only as stock in trade. Careful training in tactics, sanitation and administration are a foundation without which they cannot hold down the lowest rank the Government offers. Ask the men who have been at Fort Riley or Fort Benjamin Harrison since the first of June.

We have been at war with Germany for a period of four months, and the present indications point to this war lasting for as many years more. Will you younger men make it necessary for the Government to draft you into the service? What reason will you some day give to your children for not having answered the call of your country in its hour of need?

RICHARD DERBY,
Major, M. R. C., U. S. A.

URGE W. B. ELLISON AS TAMMANY MAYOR

While most Tammany leaders expressed satisfaction yesterday with the suggestion of Henry De Witt Hamilton, former Adjutant General for the Democratic Mayoralty nomination, the friends of William B. Ellison, former Corporation Counsel, put his name forward with so much vigor that it was said he is now being seriously considered by the Democratic Fusion Committee. It was further said that he would be acceptable to Tammany Hall.

Some of Tammany's leaders found objection to Mr. Hamilton, asserting that he was not well enough known. Mr. Hamilton said he had not raised a hand to bring about his nomination and did not know that he was being considered until he read about it. "If they want me to run," he said, "why, I'm a soldier." Mr. Hamilton also gave out a statement attacking the city administration. He said:

"To own a piece of real estate in this town today is almost like serving out a punishment for crime. The salary rolls have been increased by nearly $8,000,000. Both the values and the tax rates have gone steadily upward. There was to be a great reform by establishing a Bureau of Standards. This powerful engine of efficiency and economy has cost the city $400,000. They kited the salaries of the favorites and reduced those of the clerical and the hard-working forces. They increased even their own salaries by the thousands and created exempt positions to be filled by favorites of the reigning powers. The net result of this expert financing is a budget for this year greater by $25,000,000 than when the fusion government came in. The city is being dragged into bankruptcy, but the great body of rent payers, who are the ultimate taxpayers, will have something to say on that point on the 6th of next November."

Pamphlets setting forth Mr. Ellison's qualifications were issued by the committee having his campaign in charge. He is regarded as especially strong among policemen and other city employes, having acted for some time as counsel for the Executive Committee of the Civil Service Forum, representing more than 150,000 civil service employes. Some of his connections are set forth in the pamphlet as follows:

"His ancestors fought on the side of the American Colonists in the Revolutionary War, and again in the war of 1812. Later still, they fought in the armies of the North to maintain and preserve the Union that they had helped to create. The family is intensely American. Mr. Ellison is a member of the American, the New York State, the New York City, and the New York County Bar Associations; the Manhattan and Atlantic Yacht Clubs; the Merchants' Association, of which he is Chairman of the Committee on City Government; the West End Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Real Estate Board of New York, the United Real Estate Owners Association, the Real Estate Owners Protective Association, and the Insurance Society."

District Attorney Swann announced yesterday that he would be a candidate for renomination. He said he expected to get the Tammany nomination, as he felt that he had only half accomplished the work he had set out to do when elected two years ago to fill out the unexpired term of Governor Whitman. Mr. Swann said he considered that he had been elected for a four-year term, but he did not indicate that he would make an issue of the matter in case he was not re-elected. Word came from Queens yesterday that Joseph Cassidy, once Democratic leader of the borough, believes that a Tammany Hall organization man can win in the Mayoralty election this year.

"The people are tired of this so-called reform and you can bank on it that Tammany will be again restored to power," he said. "The organization should not hide behind some unheard-of man and parade him forth as a high-brow, but should come right out in the open and nominate a man whose affiliations with the regular Democratic organization are known. I think Al Smith would make a good candidate, and, if elected, would make a good Mayor."

The Democratic Fusion Committee yesterday accused Mayor Mitchel and his associates on the Republican Fusion ticket of attempting to bring the war into the municipal campaign. Former Assemblyman Charles Harwood, Chairman of the Publicity Committee of the Democrats, said the Mayor was unwilling to discuss the real issues of the campaign, such as the West Side Improvement, the Gary system in the public schools, real estate, and other matters, and was attempting to use the American flag as a cloak to cover official scandals.

"When the police," he said, "through lack of intelligent and competent direction, made such a miserable fiasco of the Cruger case, the Mayor's Police Commissioner cried 'War!' and pleaded that he had been so busy doing the work of the United States Secret Service that he had been forced to neglect police duty. We think Chief Flynn is competent to handle his own job. When the Mayor's wire-tapping squad was caught in the act of spying upon business men for the financial benefit of Mr. Mitchel's Wall Street friends, he waved the flag and talked loudly about patriotism and international complications. But that falsehood was bared by a legislative committee.

"When the Legislature blocked the real estate deal by which the Mayor's friends would have richly profited out of the nation's needs for defense, Mr. Mitchel shouted 'Germans.' He accused his opponents of being traitors, an accusation he was forced to retract when arraigned before the Senate for contempt.

"Apparently Mr. Mitchel is loath to discuss the West Side grab, the Gary system, the real estate scandals, and other acts of his administration. Are we to be treated to the spectacle of a candidate for Mayor dashing from borough to borough with a flag in each hand, shouting 'I am a patriot'? Let's send our flags to the battlefields and fight the municipal campaign on municipal issues."

MRS. WILSON'S GIFT TO QUEEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A package of hospital garments, made by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, is being carried to the Queen of Rumania for hospital use in her country by the Red Cross mission to Rumania.

Other hospital articles made by Mrs. Wilson and Miss Bones were distributed some time ago to Red Cross organizations of England, France, Italy, and Canada.

WEALTH TO CONNAUGHT HEIR

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The will of the Duchess of Connaught, who died in March last, disposes of property of the value of £125,611 ($628,055.) The Duchess bequeathed £25,000 to the former Princess Margaret of Connaught, now Crown Princess Gustave Adolph of Sweden, and £50,000 to Princess Victoria Patricia. The remainder of the property goes to the son of the Duchess, Prince Arthur of Connaught.

COOL WEATHER CUTS HEAT DEATHS TO 4

653 HORSES REPORTED DEAD

The four days of sweltering weather which has been a nightmare to every New Yorker became only an unpleasant memory yesterday with the steady drop of the mercury which took a tumble of 27 degrees in seventeen hours. At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon just before the electrical shower the temperature was 94, while at 7 o'clock yesterday morning it had dropped to 67. As the day advanced the temperature arose until shortly before noon the maximum of 76 was reached. In Manhattan and the Bronx the following deaths due to the heat were reported to the police after 2 o'clock yesterday morning:

There were sixteen heat prostrations reported to the police in the city. Statistics given out by Dr. Charles S. Bolduan of the Health Department showed that 190 of the 529 deaths reported in New York City to the department for the twenty-four-hour period ending at noon yesterday were due directly to the heat. Dr. Bolduan said that these figures were obtained from the death certificates issued by the department to the physicians in attendance. Health Commissioner Emerson said yesterday that 653 horses died from the heat during the period commencing at 10 A. M. on Monday and ending at 3 P. M. yesterday.

Reports from all parts of the country show that the heat wave has been broken. Heavy rains fell in many parts of the Atlantic Coast. Rises in temperature were noted in one section of the Missouri Valley, but generally speaking the temperature in the West has been restored to normal. A little warmer weather is predicted for New England and Middle Atlantic States tomorrow.

OFFER TO BE GODMOTHERS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The War Department is receiving a great many letters from women, in various parts of the country, offering to be "godmothers" to soldiers at the front who have no one at home with whom to correspond. These offers are being filed in the office of Brig. Gen. McCain, Adjutant General, for use in the event of requests for "godmothers" being received from men with the expeditionary army. It was officially stated today that no such requests have yet been received.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Winchell Smith and John L. Golden placed in rehearsal yesterday a new comedy by Salisbury Field, entitled "Poor Butterflies." The cast includes Fred Niblo, Ernest Lawford, Myrtle Tannehill, Florence Shirley, Edward Gillespie, Percy Standing, Jane Lawford, Roland Rushton, and T. Tomamato. It will be produced in Long Branch Aug. 20, and a week later will be seen here.

For the first time since "The Merry Countess" was presented on Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's estate at Newport five years ago that resort is to see a musical comedy. The Shuberts have arranged to produce "Maytime," the operetta with which the Casino will begin its new season Aug. 13, there next Friday and Saturday nights.

ADOPTS GRANDDAUGHTER.

Mrs. McLochlin Takes Child of Divorced Son-in-law.

Mrs. Mary A. C. McLochlin of the Belnord Apartments got permission yesterday from Surrogate Cohalan to adopt her granddaughter, Mary Graham Lorge, 5 years old, whose mother, Mrs. Irene Graham Lorge, divorced Jules Barrington Lorge, now of Akron, Ohio, last January. Mrs. Lorge got the custody of her daghter, and the permission of the father for the child's adoption was not necessary, but the Surrogate directed that he be notified by publication.

Mrs. McLochlin, who is the owner of valuable real estate, said in her petition that the mother is "not able to support the child out of her own means in a manner commensurate with her future position in life." The child's name now becomes Mary Ann Graham McLochlin.

MRS. BAYNE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Olga R. Bayne has filed in Reno, Nev., an action for divorce against Dr. J. Breckinridge Bayne, a wealthy social leader of Washington. The complaint was placed on secret file and neither Mrs. Bayne nor her attorneys would disclose the nature of the charges.

Mrs. Bayne is also wealthy and is a cousin of former President Theodore Roosevelt. For several years she has been prominent in New York and Washington society.

Friends of Dr. and Mrs. Bayne were surprised last Summer to learn that Dr. Bayne had sailed for France to take charge of a hospital unit. Mrs. Bayne went to the Lilacs, the Summer home of her father, Robert B. Roosevelt, at Sayville, L. I.

KILLED ON HONEYMOON TRIP

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 3.—Herbert L. Molitor of Brooklyn, N. Y., was instantly killed and his wife and Adolph Silz were injured when a motor cycle with a rear car attachment rammed a bridge railing in Suffield, Conn., near here, this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Molitor, who were recently married, were on their honeymoon, and Silz, whose home is in Brooklyn, was driving the car.

C. D. Fraser Estate $1,100,000.

ARDSLEY, Aug. 3.—A report of Transfer Tax Appraiser W. C. Clark, made public today, discloses that the estate of Charles Duncan Fraser of Ardsley was appraised at $1,100,000, practically all left to relatives. It yields to the State an inheritance tax of $39,000. This is the third large estate, the appraisal of which Mr. Clark has completed in a week. The others were those of Seth Low of New York and Edwin Gould, Jr., who was accidently killed while hunting. Both were Summer residents of the county.

MRS. VAN VALKENBURG TO WED DUKE OF OPORTO

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The engagement has been announced at Naples of the Duke of Oporto to Mrs. Philip Van Valkenburg of New York, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Rome.

Mrs. Philip Van Valkenburg has been married three times. Her first husband was Lee Agnew, an inventor, whom she divorced. Her second was William Hayes Chapman, who was 73 years old when she married him. At his death he left her an estate valued at nearly $8,000,000. On Nov. 23, 1900, she was married to Philip Van Valkenburg, a wealthy lawyer of this city and a member of one of the oldest Dutch families here. Five years later she was divorced from him in Putnam, Conn.

Before her third marriage, Mrs. Van Valkenburg had been courted by General Count Tcherep Spiridovitch of Russia and Count Aubert de Sonis of Paris. Previously it had been reported that she was to marry various titled men, including Lord Kintore.

The Duke of Oporto, a bachelor, is the only brother of the late King Carlos of Portugal, and is 52 years old. At one time he was engaged to the Archduchess Marie Valerie, the youngest daughter of the Austrian Emperor.

"A clear and wise economic picture of Mexico, beyond any others that I have read." Dr. Talcott Williams of Columbia University.

THE MEXICAN PROBLEM
By
C. W. Barron
Author of "THE AUDACIOUS WAR"

A business solution, based on first-hand investigation. Mr. Barron's vivid and illuminating portrayal of Mexican unrest, casts a shaft of light over the whole field of international affairs and throws into sharp relief the fundamental causes of all wars.

"This is the need of Mexico today—opportunity to labor, opportunity for the family, opportunity for food, clothing, better shelter, and better social conditions.

"And this is exactly what American and European capital and organization have brought to Tampico, attracted by its underground wealth, and this is what will ultimately redeem Mexico and forward her people by industrial opportunity."

NEW YORK MEN WHO HAVE ACCEPTED SERVICE IN THE NATIONAL ARMY

THE LISTS HERE PUBLISHED INCLUDE ALL THE ACCEPTANCES OBTAINABLE LAST NIGHT FROM THE DISTRICT BOARDS IN SESSION IN MANHATTAN, THE BRONX, BROOKLYN, QUEENS AND RICHMOND.

The results of yesterday's work of New York City's Exemption Boards in session—the first day in which any considerable number of the 189 boards had begun their task of filling the city's quota—is shown in the accompanying lists.

This table summarizes the results in the districts which had reported up to the time of going to press:

DRAFT RESISTERS STIR WASHINGTON

IN SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Resistance to the execution of the selective draft law has taken organized form in some parts of the country, and the Government is preparing to adopt measures to meet the situation. All this organization is in the South and Southwest, regions which are to receive the most material benefits of the draft through the building of great cantonments for sheltering the national army. At the outset of organized objection to the draft most of the agitation was in the mountain regions of the South, but it has now spread to other districts, and one of the most serious revolts against the law is in Texas.

The Department of Justice has been informed that fifty-three members of the Farmers' and Laborers' Protective Association have been indicted in the United States Court at Dallas for an organized attempt to resist the draft. In Seminole County, Oklahoma, farmers are reported to have armed to prevent Federal officers from executing the draft law, and there are signs that this spirit of resistance is spreading in the State. There is also said to be organized resistance in Georgia.

Through an agent of the Internal Revenue Service, the Department of Justice has learned of an extensive revolt against the draft in Western North Carolina. Mountain people and farmers are reported to have armed. Special investigators have been sent there.

Thomas E. Watson, who once ran for Vice President of the United States on the same ticket with William J. Bryan and whose journal, The Jeffersonian, was recently barred from the mails, is collecting a fund to resist the draft, according to information received at the Department of Justice. The department is collecting information as to Mr. Watson's activities.

While the Federal authorities are inclined to believe that these efforts are sporadic they are taking all precautions against any general attempt to prevent the execution of the law. The situation is complicated by the treasonable activities of the I. W. W.

Ruling on Postal Employes.

A ruling issued today by the Post Office Department shows that department officials will make few requests for the exemption of postal employes from military service. Postmasters are instructed not to ask for exemption for carriers or laborers, or for clerks in second-class offices below the $1,000 grade, clerks in first-class offices below the $1,100 grade, or any above these grades unless they are qualified distributors of mail.

The ruling is the first formal action by an executive department in compliance with President Wilson's order directing that department officials indicate exemptions and that the requirement of indispensability be rigidly enforced.

As generally construed the postal ruling shows the purpose of the Administration to make the Government departments leaders in freeing valuable employes for war service.

The entire mail carriers' force, numbering thousands of men, of whom a considerable percentage is within the draft age limits, is excluded from exemption except for physical reasons or because of dependent families. Every part of the country is reached by the ruling, as even the rural carriers are included.

The department's ruling in regard to clerks leaves the railway mail clerks within the exemption classes, as they are highly specialized distributors.

Provost Marshal General Crowder took steps today to reduce the number of exemptions because of dependent families. Instructions were sent to the Governors of all States pointing out that the minimum pay of soldiers is now $30 a month, and that local boards must consider whether a man's dependents could not be supported on that amount. The telegram follows:

"Please call attention of local boards to the fact that a soldier pay is not less than $30 a month, and that all clothing, subsistence, medical treatment and housing are furnished him. Under the law he may allot any portion of his pay to a dependent. Many soldiers receiving $30 a month are easily able to allot $25 monthly to the support of dependents. In case of death in line of duty the Government will pay to the beneficiary designated by the soldier six months' pay.

"Section 4 of the Selective Service act provides that those in status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable may be discharged, but it does not require that they shall be discharged in all such cases. The discretion of local boards is invoked by this provision, and such boards may well take the facts recited above into consideration in deciding claims for discharge due to dependency with a view to determining whether, as a matter of fact, the person claiming such discharge will not be in as good or better position to support his dependents after selection for military service than he was before. If such is the case, of course, the discharge should not be granted."

Government officials generally are beginning to take up the individual questions that arise where Government employes are called for service. Secretary Daniels said today that knotty problems were arising in the Navy Department as to what individuals in the clerical force, navy draftsmen or skilled workers at the navy yards are absolutely indispensable.

The number of exemptions asked by the various departments will be reduced to the absolute minimum, it is indicated, even if some temporary derangement of the clerical work results.

General Crowder has suggested to the Governors that each assemble the full membership of all district boards in his State for a general conference to insure uniform procedure regarding appeals. The Governors were asked also to appoint an official in each local district to file appeals. County attorneys were suggested.

Early and scattering reports from local boards do not indicate any increase in physical exemptions from the army draft over the average of 25.77 established in 1863.

ARMED BANDS RESIST DRAFT IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 3.—Groups of armed men, numbering probably 400 in the aggregate, were gathering in several places in South Central Oklahoma tonight, prepared to resist forcibly their selection as soldiers under the draft law. Discovery by officials late tonight of the existence of a new band of resisters, who are thought to have established a base near Shawnee, a few miles southeast of this city, has increased the anxiety of State officials as to the probability of confining the agitation within the five counties already affected.

At the direction of Governor Williams, who hesitates to use National Guardsmen against the resisters, hundreds of armed civilians have concentrated in Seminole, Hughes, Pontotoc, Okmulgee, and Pottawatomie Counties and will make an effort at dawn tomorrow to arrest the resisters.

According to late reports to Governor Williams, one of the bands has located near Sasakwa, another is at Holdenville, another at Wewoka, and the last heard from had gathered at Rock Crossing on the South Canadian River.

Several arrests have been made of men charged with resisting the draft throughout the affected localities, and one, a Socialist agitator, was arrested at Holdenville when it was discovered that he was carrying a grip filled with ammunition. Sheriffs of the five counties have informed the Governor that the situation is out of their control, and State officials await with anxiety the outcome of the attempt being made by civilian posses to arrest the men tomorrow. The bands are composed for the most part of negroes, Indians, and farmers, who are tenants on the lands held by the Government in trust for Indians. It has not been determined what influence was behind the movement to resist the draft law.

Adjt. Gen. Earp stated tonight that under orders from the Governor guardsmen would not be used except as a last resort. He added that the officers who sent out the call for help believed they now would have sufficient men to handle the situation.

Sheriff Bob Duncan of Seminole County reported captured by draft resisters at Seminole, returned to Ada tonight with ten prisoners captured five miles northwest of Saskawa, where the mob is reported to be centred. There were about eighty persons in that particular gathering, Sheriff Duncan said. They were dispersed by a posse of twenty-five citizens without firing a shot. The officers released eleven prisoners held by the mob.

TYLER, Texas, Aug. 3.—Charged with resisting the selective draft law, Tom Sanders, H. P. Smith, Pick Smith, Cortez Nation, and Lath and Joe Lee were arrested by Federal agents near here today. The men had purchased arms and ammunition, which were found in their possession.

GOOD DAY FOR RECRUITING.

Recruits for the National Guard will be enrolled at the regular army recruiting stations after tomorrow, and officers and men of the drafted militia units will assist the regular army men at the stations, it was announced yesterday in a telegram sent to Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan by Adjt. Gen. Henry P. McCain. Colonel R. D. Walsh, detailed in charge of recruiting for the regular army in New York, was instructed to co-operate with the National Guard in enlisting men for the service.

The passing of the hot wave gave impetus to recruiting, and more than 125 men were enrolled yesterday for all branches of the service and for the British service. Seventy-five men were recruited for the United States Army. Twenty-three were accepted before noon and sent to Fort Slocum. In a few hours in the morning the navy station at 34 East Twenty-third Street enlisted sixty-six men. The weekly average has been only seventy-five, and before the station closed last night it had exceeded that number for the day. The land battleship Recruit in Union Square enrolled twenty men for the navy.

Only the marine corps failed to attract yesterday. It had only eight men at noon, although it was making a special effort to get cooks, bakers, and butchers. It was announced that the corps would enlist no more men for special service in navy yards and coast defense batteries, but that "marines must be ready to go anywhere."

CITY MEN DRAWN FOR ARMY SERVICE

Street. In two days 310 were passed upon. Of these 70 were disqualified by the doctors and 159 claimed exemption. Among the others were many aliens, the number accepted for service being, it was said, between 60 and 70. Dr. George R. Stuart, the medical member of the board, said that he was certain a great many exemption claims in this district would be overruled. The district's quota of 253 men is the second in the city.

Board 110, with headquarters at 237 West Thirty-fifth Street, on Thursday examined John Chilkis, a Greek, who stood the test, but not being an American citizen was exempted.

"What's the matter with you people, anyway?" asked Chilkis. "Why don't you take me? I want to fight for the United States and when I prove I am all right you turn me down." Yesterday Chilkis returned, accompanied by his wife, who is an American. "I demand that this man be exempted on the ground that he has dependents," Mrs. Chilkis said. She was told it could not be done, for he was exempted because he was an alien. "When you married him you became a Greek so far as the law is concerned," Mrs. Chilkis was informed. The woman, who did not agree with the verdict, grabbed Chilkis by the hand and led him from the room.

One Brother Will Go.

"I am one of two brothers," he said, "and we both contribute to the support of our mother. Will it be all right for me to waive exemption and advise my brother to claim it when he is called?"

"You had better settle that question with your brother," he was told.

"All right, I will," he answered, "but you can put it down that one of us is going and it's probably me."

Hiram B. Suskind, a drug clerk, employed at 291 Bowery and living at 2,116 Vyse Avenue, the Bronx, passed the test before Board 18, in the Bronx Borough Hall. "I have no dependents," he said, "but I will not fight." His case will be disposed of at an early date.

Although the men who appeared before Board 154, at 60 West Thirteenth Street, made a fine showing so far as physical condition is concerned, the proportion of those claiming exemption continued unusually high. An exception to the rule was Matthew McCarthy of 799 Broadway, who was about to enlist in the regular army when notified that he had been drafted.

"Here I am; I want to go, and I don't want to wait long, either," he said, "and if it's a case of waiting, I respectfully ask permission to enlist in the regular army." McCarthy passed and is happy to be in the national army.

Hans Kahlenbeck of 318 Crescent Street, Long Island City, came very near being drafted into the army yesterday. He had passed the examination and waived exemption when the discovery was made that he is an enemy alien. He was promptly excused.

Disorder occurred last night at Board 167, 2,039 Madison Avenue. When the board closed its doors, after examining eighty-three men, a line of nearly 300 was waiting. Many of those in line had received notices to appear for physical examination. Others were seeking information in regard to draft numbers and the filing of exemption claims. The line extended from the board headquarters through 129th Street to Park Avenue. Most of the men in line were negroes. Dr. S. Shapiro, Chairman of the board, ordered the men to leave, but they clamored for immediate attention. Some one telephoned the East 126th Street Police Station and two patrolmen dispersed the crowd.

According to the police, Mr. Bennett of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense telephoned them that the committee had received several complaints from persons who had been waiting all day to be examined by the board. The Adjutant General's office in the State Arsenal also telephoned that complaints of a similar character had been received at that office. Jerry Harrington White of 132 East 127th Street called at the East 126th Street Police Station and said he had been waiting for several hours and that members of the board had made no effort to expedite the examinations or to answer requests for information. Wade Jiggehs, a negro of 116 West 139th Street, complained that he and others in the waiting line had been pushed about, abused, and denied admission to the board rooms. The police say they were informed that the doctors quit examining men at 4 o'clock, although W. J. Hickey, clerk of the board, declared examinations had continued until 5:15 P. M.

Loyal German-Americans.

Board members in all parts of the city commented on the fact yesterday that Americans of German ancestry are making a splendid showing in the draft. On Thursday Board 188, sitting at Stapleton, S. I., obtained twenty-nine men for the army, and of these seven were Americans with German names, seven were Italians, five were Irish and the rest had English or Scotch names. Six Italians, three Germans, and four Irishmen were among the sixteen men accepted by Board 171 in Long Island City on Friday, while of the eleven men who waived exemption before Board 145 in the City College on Thursday six were Irishmen, while one of the remaining five was a German.

Reports received by several Exemption Boards yesterday indicated that a number of persons had given incorrect or fictitious addresses when they registered. Seven of the notices sent to report for examination at the board in District 105, Public School 56, at 351 West Eighteenth Street, were returned from the Post Office. In District 132, Hunter College, Lexington Avenue and Sixty-eighth Street, investigators reported twenty fictitious addresses. A large number of the persons reported as "not found" are aliens.

ANNOUNCES CLASSES TO TRAIN 'NONCOMS'

Camps Association Will Instruct Men in Work of Sergeants and Corporals.

The Military Training Camps Association of the United States has undertaken, with the approval of Secretary of War Baker and the commanding Generals of the various army departments, the organization of training commands in various parts of the United States, which will fit ambitious young men selected for the national army for noncommissioned posts.

Captain Arthur F. Cosby, Executive Secretary of the Training Camps Association, said yesterday that it was the intention of the association to organize a training command in every city in the country where the association has a branch, and that in those places where the association was not represented branches would be organized to carry out the project. The drillmasters will be Sergeants of the regular army, while regular army officers will supervise the work.

"The problem of getting efficient noncommissioned officers for the great army we are now drafting into the service of our country," said Captain Cosby, "has given much concern to those who are in charge of raising the American forces. A young Captain from Plattsburg, or other training camp, will get a company of 150 men to train as soon as the army is mobilized, and unless he has some capable noncommissioned officers to aid him the difficulties he will face can be easily imagined. The 'noncom' is one of the most important men in the army, and the more efficient these men the more efficient the army is certain to be.

"We are soon to mobilize more than half a million of the country's best young men, and it is in order to give those men an opportunity to fit themselves in advance for noncommissioned rank that these training commands have been organized. Secretary Baker has given the project his enthusiastic approval, as has also General Bell, the Commanding General on Governors Island.

"It should be made clear that the men who take advantage of this opportunity also improve their chances of winning a commission in the new army. It has been wisely decided that the junior officers of this army shall come from the army itself, and the training which is to be given at Governors Island and in various other parts of the country will give these men just that much advantage in the race for those coveted positions. Every drafted man is welcome, and in every instance the preference in these organizations will be given to the man who has been drafted into the army."

Captain Cosby said that training commands would be immediately organized in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, and other cities. The Governors Island command has been in existence many months now, the commander being Captain A. L. Boyce of the Officers Reserve Corps, while the drillmasters are all noncommissioned officers from the Twenty-second United States Infantry.

By tomorrow a notice inviting drafted men to join the command will be posted in the headquarters of every exemption district in New York. That notice will read in part as follows:

"These classes for civilians are instructed by regular army drillmasters and have been in operation for a year and a half. No red tape. No uniforms. Any drafted man can join. Come when you can. In addition to drills there are occasional military lectures by regular army officers, and military marches and hikes.

"Classes are held every day. Take the 3:45 Government boat at South Ferry any day except Saturday and Sunday, when the hour is 1:45. An evening class on Monday and Friday nights leaves the ferry house at 5:45 P. M.

"Passes for any or all of these classes can be secured without cost from Captain A. L. Boyce, Military Training Camps Association, 19 West Forty-fourth Street."

TO TEST RECRUITS' NERVES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—In an effort to obtain for the new American army men of strong nerves, able to stand the terrific strain of war, the Surgeon General of the Army, Gorgas, has perfected plans for weeding out men found to be nervously or mentally unfit for that service.

Men will be excluded from service, it was announced today, if they are found to have organic nerve disease such as locomotor ataxia, for mental defects sufficient to class them as defectives, for insanity or a definite family record of it, and for chronic addiction to drugs or alcohol. The services of 150 specialists, psychiatrists, neurologists, and alienists have been engaged, including some of the mosts distinguished men in these professions in the country. These specialists will conduct a series of severe examinations and every soldier will be subject to scrutiny.

EXEMPTION OFFICIAL FAILED TO REGISTER

Arthur C. Byrne Thought Membership in Military Body Excused Him.

NOW IN MARSHAL'S CUSTODY

Arthur C. Byrne, Vice President of the C. E. Byrne Piano Company, who is a member of Long Beach Exemption Board, and also of the Long Beach Home Defense League organization, was arrested yesterday by Government agents charged with violating the provisions of the Selective Draft law by failing to register on June 5 last. Mr. Byrne was brought to New York and questioned by Assistant United States District Attorney Frank M. Roosa.

Mr. Byrne, who is 25 years old, acted as the board clerk at the Long Beach registration office on June 5, and has been busy for several days preparing the list of men who are subject to call to the colors in the Long Beach district. In explaining his failure to register Mr. Byrne said that he was a member of the Albany Burgess Corps, a military organization similar in many respects to the Old Guard of New York, and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston. Mr. Byrne, because of his membership in the Albany Burgess Corps and the Home Defense League, said that he thought he was exempt from service under the Selective Draft law. Mr. Roosa placed Mr. Byrne in the custody of United States Marshal Power of Brooklyn pending a further investigation of the case. Friends of the young man said last night that there was no doubt that Mr. Byrne really believed he was exempt for the reasons stated.

Henry Banks, Frank Rayman, and Frank Zedel, the last two Russian Poles, pleaded guilty in the Criminal Branch of the Federal District Court yesterday to failure to register on June 5. It was pointed out that the men had been in the White Plains jail and had not been registered through the failure of an official letter from the Department of Justice to reach the Westchester Sheriff. Judge Martin T. Manton in the Criminal Branch of the Federal District Court, because of the unusual circumstances, sentenced the men to serve one day each in the Tombs.

Wilson Farnum, who said he was an actor, arrived in New York from Albany yesterday, and was immediately arrested for having failed to register. When arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock he said he was willing to register. Commissioner Hitchcock held him in $1,000 bail to wait the action of the Grand Jury. John J. Hoar, also known as "Watson" and as "William Meyers," was arraigned on the same charge, and also held in $1,000 bail to wait the action of the Grand Jury.

William D. Houston, until recently employed as a ticket seller by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at the Broad Street station in Philadelphia, when arraigned before Judge Manton yesterday pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with having in full uniform posed as a Lieutenant of the Medical Reserve Corps of the army, and also with having impersonated a Government officer so as to pass a number of worthless checks. Houston, whose home is at 3,704 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, passed the first of the checks while staying with his bride at the Waldorf-Astoria a fortnight ago.

After the plea of guilty was accepted, Prosecutor Knox told Judge Manton that Houston had committed a serious offence, and as he was caught disgracing the national uniform he should receive a substantial sentence as a warning to other fake warriors. Houston was sentenced to serve a year and a day's imprisonment in the United States Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

The serious offense referred to by Mr. Knox involves a charge of bigamy. Houston, it was stated, was already married when he eloped to New York with the Philadelphia girl who was registered as his wife at the Waldorf.

John E. Levens, who was arrested last week for posing as an officer of the Aviation Corps, was also arraigned for sentence yesterday. This case was more pitiful than serious and Judge Manton let the man off with some good advice and a fine of $25.

DRAFTING OF ARMY TO COST $8,660,480

Baker Sends Expense Estimate to Speaker of House—Per Capita Charge Is $7.29.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Secretary Baker sent to the Speaker of the House today an estimate of $8,660,480 for the expenses of drafting the new National Army. The Secretary advises that $2,658,413 has already been appropriated, and approximately $6,000,000 additional is needed to defray the cost of registering 10,000,000 men and drafting the more than 1,000,000 for service.

The unit cost for drafting each of the 1,187,000 men of the National Army, according to Secretary Baker, is $7.29. The Secretary of War advises that this is cheaper than any other system.

"On a tentative estimate that the generous system of exemptions and discharges will result in the necessity for examining four registrants to produce one soldier," said the letter of Secretary Baker, "it is apparent that the system must be capable of examining some 5,000,000 persons during the year. For this task the organization requires a personnel of over 18,000 persons."

Secretary Baker explained that a number of persons utilized in the draft process serve without pay, but there must be provision made for the pay of numerous assistants. He adds:

"When the boards are not in operation the cost of the system is practically negligible. Therefore the cost of inducting one man into military service will not vary greatly with the number of men raised. The unit cost is computed at $7.29 and the estimate shows that this is less than one-half the cost of inducting men under any other system that has yet been devised."

ALARM BANISHED BY CROP OUTLOOK

CORN CROP IS GIGANTIC

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—An optimistic view of the crop situation is contained in a report just issued by the Committee on Statistics of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Abundant crops are promised.

The committee, as the most encouraging feature of the condition, described "the general confidence of the business world in the future, the large volume of business, and the generally sustained conduct of commercial activity in the midst of war's alarms." The committee takes no stock in alarmist views of a food famine. Archer Wall Douglas, Vice President of the Simmons Hardware Company of St. Louis, Chairman of the committee, makes this statement in connection with the report:

"Those in touch with fundamental conditions have known all along that there was never any real danger of food shortage so far as the United States is concerned, unless because of a calamity and an unusually unfavorable season. The real need was for a far greater than average production, not for ourselves, but for our allies across the water.

"The total yields of both Spring and Winter wheat combined will in all probability be greater than the results of 1916. This is said to be due largely to increased production per acre.

"The outlook for a record-breaking corn crop is unusually good just at this moment, according to the report, though there are possibilities which may somewhat reduce the enormous expected yield.

"In many cases, owing to the late Spring, cotton was plowed up and corn planted in its stead," says the report. "There is also a greater acreage, and an almost certainty of a greater production of broom corn and the sorghum grains, kafir, milo, and feterita, than any previous year. The harvest of oats is especially remarkable for the abundant yields per acre; the ultimate output will probably be not far from a billion and a half bushels. The yield of the rice crop will not vary much from that of 1916, which was the largest up to that time.

"The production of potatoes, both Irish and sweet, will probably exceed that of any previous year. Tobacco is in general a good crop. In spite of handicaps the hay production will be large. There is an unusually large crop of beans and peas. The acreage of peanuts this year is enormous.

"The cattle industry is good, though cattle on the ranges in Eastern New Mexico and in Western Texas have suffered severely from lack of rain.

"The lumber interest as a whole is very busy, but in many sections is handicapped by lack of cars.

POLICE VISIT PRE-CATELAN.

Arrest Two Waiters on Charge of Maintaining a Disorderly Resort

Persons who attempted to enter the Pre-Catelan restaurant and cabaret in West Thirty-ninth Street last night were told that because of a slight fire in the basement business had been suspended for the day.

Several hours before, however, Detective Stillman of Police Headquarters had ordered guests out of the restaurant and had arrested Peter Wolf, the head waiter, who said he lived at 88 Havemeyer Street, Corona, and Thomas Noonan, a waiter, of 130 West Thirty-sixth Street, charged with maintaining a disorderly resort.

According to the detectives, they posed as wealthy lumbermen from Canada on Thursday night and arrested Miss Marie McMahon of 164 Manhattan Avenue and Miss Helen Martin of 237 West 108th Street on a charge of vagrancy. The young women, said Stillman, had been introduced to the "wealthy lumbermen" by the waiters. They were arraigned in Jefferson Market Court and their case postponed. Wolf and Noonan were arraigned before Magistrate Frothingham yesterday afternoon and were held in $1,000 bail each until Aug. 7.

The Pre-Catelan was formerly owned by the Bustanoby Brothers, Andre and Jacques, and after the death of the former it was conducted until a few months ago by Jacques Bustanoby, who sold it to Philip Barnes, representing the Pre-Catelan Company, Inc. Mr. Barnes is also proprietor of the Sunset Inn on Washington Heights. He said last night that he knew nothing of the alleged activity of the waiters and asserted that the police were persecuting him.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN SOUTH.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Aug. 3.—Not a wheel turned today on the Georgia, Florida & Alabama Railroad because of a strike of the four union brotherhoods, started last night after Judge W. M. Harrell of the Superior Court had issued a permanent injunction against the strike by the Trainmen's Brotherhood. The court order was based on the ground that under the Adamson law brotherhoods might not strike within the nine months prescribed as a test period for the law.

Railroad officials declared national brotherhood heads had refused their requests to supply union men to operate trains. The strike was called to compel reinstatement of a discharged engineer. The railroad runs from Columbus, Ga., to Carrabelle, Fla., 230 miles.

It Is in the Dictionary.

Like gratitude, executives of a certain local retail store are beginning to think that the only place appreciation can be found is in the dictionary. This store has a sign posted where employes can see it without hurting their eyes any, and it reads something like this: "119 employes were late today, in spite of the fact that the store opened fifteen minutes later than usual. Is there any such thing as appreciation?" There is a hole cut in the sign so that a new figure can be inserted each day, which might be taken to mean that lateness on the part of employes is by no means a new thing.

Changing Specifications.

To the houses in the woolen trade that in the past have been consistent bidders on Government contracts the constant changing of specifications lately has been a source of no small amount of worry. The representative of one such concern pointed to a bundle of samples on his desk. "It took me a week to make those up," he said, "only to find when I had them finished that the specifications had been changed again." He freely expressed himself that the Government should supply its soldiers and sailors with the usual long-wearing and well-appearing uniforms, regardless of the small difference in price.

Milliners to Have Big Session.

Plans have practically been completed for the fashion show that is to be held at Castles-by-the-Sea, Long Beach, on Aug. 16, under the auspices of the Retail Millinery Association of America. Aside from the social features and the exhibition of smart advance styles, it is planned to make the show a thoroughly practical and helpful one. A number of trimmed hats will be shown on living models, and among them will be hats selling at $36 to $42 a dozen, $48 to $72 a dozen, and $78 a dozen and up. In addition to these there will be hats made up by Fifth Avenue retail specialty shops and model hats designed by members of the association. Tickets, which include both the social and business ends of the affair, are $5 each.

CONFER ON DISCOUNTS.

Retailers and Garment Makers Trying to Come to Agreement.

The conference of retailers and garment manufacturers at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday, over the change in discounts, which the latter have instituted, got nowhere except to clear the minds of those present of arguments for and against the new rates. It was decided, however, to hold another meeting next Tuesday, at the same time and place, and the decision was regarded as a hopeful sign of the two parties reaching some agreement in their dispute. On Monday the retailers' committee will get together to formulate some plan of action to guide them in their subsequent meeting with the manufacturers.

Yesterday's conference brought together a number of prominent retailers, including local department store owners, resident buyers, and the representatives of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and the Retail Dry Goods Association, and the spokesmen for the Cloak, Suit & Skirt Manufacturers, the Dress & Waist Manufacturers' Association, the Separate Skirt Manufacturers of New York, and the Merchant Ladies' Garment Association. The meeting was held behind closed doors.

The manufacturers have reduced their discounts from 8—10—60 to 2—10—60. The retailers' protest against the change is based on the arbitrary manner in which it was made without consulting them and on the disturbance the new rates will cause in their present system of operating. After the meeting it was said that both sides had stated their arguments with little effect on the opposition. At one time the argument reached a stage where personalities were freely bandied about. Franklin Simon was Chairman at the meeting.

The retail men who are intrusted with drawing up a plan to present at the next meeting of the conferees are the following: P. A. Conne of Saks & Co., Herbert N. Straus of R. H. Macy & Co., S. R. Rothschild of Abraham & Straus, S. M. Goldberg, S. M. Sostman of the May Department Stores, R. M. Chalmers of J. M. Myers, J. M. Gidding, and Franklin Simon.

DRY GOODS SALES BETTER.

Special to The New York Times.

"Wholesale distribution of dry goods for the current week is running ahead of shipments for the corresponding week last year. Road sales for immediate and future deliveries have been in excess of those for the same week a year ago. Fewer merchants have been in the market. A large number is expected to attend Chicago's market week, Aug. 6 to 11, and the Fall style show, Aug. 8 to 15. Collections show a very satisfactory increase over those of the same period last year."

COMMODITIES PRICES.

A Rise in Those of Corn and Dairy Products Is Shown.

Foodstuffs, including some of the more important ones, again took a turn upward this week, according to Dun's list of wholesale commodities prices. For the first time in quite a while, however, there was no change in flour, and the leading items in the metals list duplicated this condition. Of the sixty-two revisions shown for the week, only twenty-three were declines. Last week there were thirty-eight declines in sixty-eight changes.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on forty-two standard commodities this week at this city, unless otherwise specified. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week last year:

Not the least of the interesting changes in foodstuffs prices during the week were the further increases in butter and eggs. All of the listed varieties were higher, the rise in eggs—especially nearby fancy ones—being relatively sharper than in butter. The existing margins between this and last year's prices on the best grades of butter and eggs are now larger than for some time. The best butter is now 10 cents a pound higher, and the best eggs are up 11 cents a dozen over 1916.

Flour did not change, but at Chicago higher prices were quoted on live hogs, prime lard, and short ribs. On the other hand, live beef, live sheep, and mess pork declined. Potatoes dropped still further, and now they are only 75 cents a barrel higher than at this time last year. Onions and certain varieties of beans were also lower. Not many changes were shown by the fresh fruits, but the dried ones were more irregular than for several weeks. Rice was cheaper. Teas and coffees were steady, but there was a further rise in raw sugar. Fine granulated, however, did not change. A drop in white Singapore pepper was the only revision in spices.

For the first time in quite a while there were no advances or declines in the metals, save in the so-called minor ones. Lake and electrolytic coppers were up, as were lead and tin. Tinplate fell off in price, and there were recessions also in furnace and foundry coke. In the lumber list higher prices were recorded on hemlock, white pine, and chestnut. Leathers appeared to be firm on the bases of the recent declines, while in the hides the only changes were declines on Colorado and No. 1 calfskin stock.

With no quotation obtainable on nearby wheat, a rise in corn began and ended the changes in the grains. Brazilian crude rubber was firmer, as was lump lime. Tallow dropped. In the naval stores turpentine and resin again went up, and in the drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs, and oils eight of the twelve changes were upward. Features were lacking. A number of grades of Burley tobacco were advanced, possibly under the stimulating influence of increased buying for soldier consumption.

The textiles showed no great amount of price change, though an interesting situation was presented by the cotton goods market. Here the lack of active trading brought lower prices to various gray cloths, while staple prints were set forward 1⅛ to 2½ cents a yard. Staple ginghams also were higher. Jute and wool products were firm generally at last week's quotations.

Reworked Wool for Shoddy.

Great promise is held out for the new name applied to shoddy. By substituting "reworked wool" for this word, it is believed that a good deal of prejudice attached to shoddy will die out. A mill man pointed out yesterday, however, that everything depends upon just what standard the product going under the name of reworked wool will meet. He suggested it might prove more beneficial to the trade if the word shoddy were retained to specify the lower class of cloth byproducts and the expression reworked wool used for only such material as comes from the processing of new rags.

Big Mohair Season.

One of the leading factors in the mohair trade has about completed its selling for the 1918 season. The sales recorded show not only a big increase in volume from the dollar and cents standpoint, but the quantity disposed of is also larger than usual. The main reason set down for the successful season is that the clothiers have been inclined to substitute this fabric for woolen and worsted goods that cost more. With a high-grade mohair selling around the two-dollar mark, the clothiers are often disposed to purchase such a construction in preference to another cloth for which a higher price is asked.

Offering of the Wool Dealers.

Even to factors in the woolen trade who follow very closely the developments in the raw material market the action of the Boston wool dealers in offering 50 per cent. of their holdings to the Government is puzzling. The wool census just completed seems to indicate a fairly large supply on hand, with no necessity for an offering of the sort which would be made only under extreme circumstances. That the Government is not at loss for sufficient supplies appears evident to the mill men, in view of the Navy Department's action in furnishing the mills with wool to fill contracts. The trade has not forgotten that the previous offer of the patriotic wool dealers of Boston resulted in higher prices being paid to them by the mills when the market was once more thrown open.

A New Silhouette Is Coming.

Spurred on by the charge that suit sales are lagging here because they show too much in common with those of past seasons, one of the best-established model makers in this country is preparing to spring a new silhouette on the public. It is already on view to the select few, but it is probable that it will not be seen in general use to any extent until around Oct. 1. The new silhouette has been named the ajusté, and, above the waist, at least, it follows closely the lines of the riding habit. The jacket is tight-fitting across the shoulders, the sleeves are tight, and the bust and waistline are closely fitted. The skirt is narrow at the shoetops, but it tapers upward into a graceful peg-top effect, the fullness of which is supplied by clever draping at the hips.

Laces Do Look Better.

Despite the pessimists that are found in every line of business, reports coming from the lace trade continue to indicate a slow, but steady, improvement in the movement of laces in this market. Metals and filets are the leaders, with a growing call for venises in evidence in certain quarters. "Vals.," clunies and other old favorites also are beginning to show more life. As time goes on more and more stress is being laid on metals for the new season in widths ranging from 2½ to 12 inches. One of the best-known houses in the trade, for instance, is plunging on them and expects them to supply the bulk of the sales of one of the best lace seasons in recent years.

Martyrs Are Not All Dead.

One of the best-known textile men in this city, who has considerable to do with the cutting-up trade, said yesterday that he was inclined to believe that retailers were having a harder time to place orders at the old discounts than they are trying to make out. "Without going into the pros and cons of the situation," he asserted, "I am in a position to know that there are some members of the garment industry who are in the fight for lower discounts so earnestly that they are actually sacrificing profits to principle. They are not willingly sacrificing their merchandise, perhaps, but the fact remains that, in some cases where a quantity business is done and quick selling is required, it has been necessary either to lower prices or give in on terms in order to sell the goods. In more than one instance I know that prices have been lowered and the new terms stuck to."

Gray Goods Buying Improves.

Trading in the local gray goods market again showed more snap yesterday, but the great bulk of the business, at least so far as printcloths were concerned, was done on the offerings from second-hands. Considerable yardages were disposed of from these sources, with the result that the market is beginning to get bare of goods for re-sale. Of 38½-inch 64-60s this is especially true, large contract sales of them having been put through yesterday at 10 cents. For October-December shipment 38½-inch 60-48s moved well from second-hands at 8½ cents, while for similar shipment 39-inch 68-72s and 80-squares sold from the same sources at 11 and 13½ cents, respectively. First-hands reported quite a little scattering business, with sheetings more active for Fall deliveries. Among the active items in this end of the market were 5.50s, which sold at 8¾ cents. Printcloth prices, first-hand, closed firm on these bases:

Weekly Failure Report.

Bradstreet's reports 190 business failures in the United States, against 256 for the previous week, and 278, 274, 262, and 263 for the corresponding weeks of 1910 to 1913. The Middle States had 37; New England, 25; Southern, 32; Western, 56; Northwestern, 20, and Far Western, 20. Canada had 18, against 18 for the preceding week. About 96 per cent. had less than $5,000 capital, and 2 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

Out of Town.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 3.—Their business cut off to a great extent after the opening of the Hudson tubes from New York to Jersey City, Perlmutter Brothers, one of the oldest department stores in Jersey, with a big store on Newark Avenue, went into the hands of a receiver today. Joseph Perlmutter, one of the partners, made the application to Vice Chancellor Griffin, who named Prosecutor Robert S. Hudspeth of Hudson County, receiver. Hudspeth said his first examination showed the firm to be solvent. The liabilities are between $85,000 and $100,000. The real estate and buildings are worth $155,000, on which there is a mortgage of $70,000. The new clean stock in the store is worth about $50,000. Most of the debts are due to banks. The receivership was obtained to prevent further depreciation.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Improve Under Moderate Buying Steel Embargo Not Disturbing.

Conditions in the securities markets were practically unchanged yesterday from those prevailing in preceding sessions of the week, but it appeared as though a better feeling prevailed in respect to the future of industry under war conditions. Apparently a phase of this improvement of sentiment was grounded upon cogitation over the Senate Finance Committee's proposal to reduce the tax on the surpluses of corporations from 15 per cent. to a tentative figure of 10 per cent. There is slight question but that apprehension of a drastic application of war imposts to the fruits and the accumulations of industry has long affected speculation, and investment to a lesser degree, and any indication that the burden may be lightened is grasped eagerly in financial quarters. Moderate buying of Steel and other stocks of the same class carried them forward a substantial distance in the morning, while active upbidding of the tobacco and leather shares was again in evidence. Later what appeared to be evening-up operations over the Saturday holiday and the week-end reduced the earlier gains without imparting to the market an appearance of anything except general firmness. A development of especial interest to followers of the railroad stocks was the increased demand for issues which have lately emerged from financial difficulties, including Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, and Pere Marquette shares.

The strict embargo declared against export shipments of ship steel was by no means a disturbing influence. On the contrary, the President's action was interpreted as evidence that the country is to use efficiently every means at its disposal to strengthen the position of the allied nations not only against the inroads of the German submarines on shipping, but also in the way of building up sea-carrying facilities both during and after the war. It was assumed that in case the steel makers were prevented by Government orders from fulfilling existing contracts for exporting shipbuilding material to neutrals, the goods would be absorbed quickly at home. The effect on prices of the embargo could not be predicted, according to steel makers. It would be natural to assume that a restriction of the market would tend to bring about a revision of quotations, but the subject is open to conjecture only, as the Government has yet to make known the result of deliberations on price fixing.

The foreign exchange situation continued to attract much attention in banking circles. Day to day developments in the Scandinavian, Dutch, Swiss, and Spanish exchange markets indicate that a change favorable to the American dollar without some as yet unforeseen alteration of conditions growing out of the export embargo, or by increased shipments of goods from England and France to the neutral nations, is not in sight. The latter have shown a dislike for further additions to their gold supplies, but they do desire more goods. Increased exports to the neutrals, or the establishment of adequate credits with them by Great Britain, would tend to lift the sterling rate on the neutral markets of Europe, and this, it is contended by bankers, would quickly help the position of the dollar in those markets. Great Britain lent further support to her exchange here yesterday by sending in $6,000,000 more gold, but no information has been obtained that the British Treasury is taking steps to strengthen sterling rates in European countries.

LONDON MARKET IS FIRM.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The feature of the trading on the Stock Exchange today was a sharp rise in Canadian rails on reports of the Government controlling Canadian Northern and financing Grand Trunk-Pacific. Gilt-edged securities continued to harden and the buying orders exceeded the supply of stocks.

Most of the other sections responded to these movements and the market closed before the holidays tomorrow and Monday firm and confident.

The Stock and Baltic exchanges here and all exchanges in Liverpool will be closed tomorrow and Monday.

Trading Quiet on Bourse.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes 61 francs 15 centimes for cash. Exchange on London 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent. loan 87 francs 50 centimes.

Timid Capital

To the shrewd investor who realizes this fact, we will gladly send our booklet "Is Interest Return An Index of Safety?" and our 12 page monthly "Bond Topics."

Gold to the amount of $6,000,000 was received yesterday at the Philadelphia Mint from Canada for the account of J. P. Morgan & Co. It is understood that this shipment is the initial consignment of a relatively small movement. The gold was delivered in Philadelphia, instead of New York, because of the congested condition of the local Assay Office.

Yesterday's import of gold from Canada is the first made since July 7 last, which terminated a movement aggregating $126,000,000. Total gold imports thus far this year amount to $527,000,000.

There was withdrawn yesterday from the Sub-Treasury for export $600,000 of gold for shipment to Spain and $150,000 for Panama.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Liberty Loan Offering.

Unofficial reports from Washington are to the effect that the offering of the remaining $3,000,000,000 of the Five Billion Dollar Liberty Loan will be made on or about Nov. 15, and that in the meantime the Treasury will sell approximately $1,000,000,000 of short term certificates. Officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York say that they have not been advised of Secretary McAdoo's plans and have no information regarding the forthcoming offering. If no legislation is obtained the bonds will have to bear interest at the rate of 3½ per cent., the act authorizing the issue fixing that rate as the maximum. Bankers are awaiting the official announcement with keen interest and are hopeful that all the terms of the loan will be made public at one time and not piecemeal, as was the case last May.

Loan Organization Perfected.

It was said yesterday that such great progress had been made in perfecting the organization of bankers, bond men and publicity agents for the next Liberty Loan that the machinery could be put into working order at practically a moment's notice.

Ship Steel Embargo and Home Market

Such prominent steel men as had braved the hot spell and were still at their desks yesterday afternoon were not inclined to consider the embargo declared by the President on steel for ship construction, prohibiting all export after Aug. 15, except under special license, as of much practical importance to them. Such comment as was heard in steel circles had to do with the embargo as a diplomatic move rather than as a business move, and in its tone was as detached as though the embargo were in the wool trade. The reason for this attitude, every steel man agreed, is that the demand for ship steel within the borders of the United States is already so far ahead of the visible supply, with prospects of going even further, that the big companies are inclined to view the shutting off of the foreign market rather as a relief from an annoyance than a hindrance to their business. Moreover, the effect on prices they consider negligible, because of the virtual certainty that the Government for a long period is to be the chief consumer of steel, and will take what it wants at its own price in any case.

The Embargo and Foreign Contracts.

Having concluded that the shipping steel embargo would be virtually without effect on the home market, the only interest in the matter left to steel men was the question of its effect on existing foreign contracts. The general attitude of the trade on the subject may be illustrated by the remark of a high official of one big company, which has heavy contracts for foreign delivery of plates for ship construction, running considerably after Aug. 15: "We didn't put any saving clause in our contracts for an embargo, and I haven't heard of any other company that did, but we are not worrying. The whole thing is up to the Government these days in any case. If the Government steps in to prevent our deliveries under contract, the Government will be expected to protect us, and I think it will. We haven't decided yet whether or not to ask for special licenses, because we expect to leave the whole matter in the Government's hands."

The purchasing power of the American dollar in June was 46 cents, compared with 47.6 cents in May and 47.8 in April, according to compilations made by W. C. Foster of Buffalo, whose arbitrary basis is the average of prices during the years 1900 to 1906. His figures show that in 1914 the average purchasing power of the dollar was 82.2 cents, in 1915 66.4 cents and in 1916 51.4 cents. In February of this year the value was reduced to 50.3 cents and in March it dropped to 48.5 cents.

Liberty Bond Quotation.

The Stock Exchange announced yesterday that beginning next Monday the method of reporting transactions in Liberty bonds on the ticker would be changed. Thus far they have been quoted in whole numbers and the fiftieth parts of a whole number. For instance, a quotation of 99.45 meant a price of 99 45-50. Under the new method hundreths instead of fiftieths will be used. A price of 99.90 will stand in place of the 99.45. The change was decided upon in order to do away with some confusion which has existed in the minds of bond owners when they looked up the record of daily trading. The new quotations will set forth the exact price of the bonds in dollars and cents, as 99.90 means that a $100 bond commands a price of $99.90 and a $1,000 bond a price of $999.

Tobacco Shares Gain Ground.

Yesterday's session of the stock market might be put down in the history of the current warm week as "tobacco stock day." American Tobacco rose 5 points, Liggett & Myers advanced 13 points on the sale of 100 shares, Tobacco Products 2⅜ points, and United Cigar Stores 1⅝. The last two have found considerable favor in trading eyes for a fortnight and more, on the expectation of favorable developments. Both have been "tipped" persistently for higher prices on the ground principally that earnings justified the payments of dividends at an early date on Tobacco Products and a possible melon cutting of some sort for United Cigar Stores.

HOW OIL STOCK IS DEPLETED

U. S. Geological Survey Issues Report on Situation.

A report of the United States Geological Survey regarding the crude petroleum situation in the United States in the month of June, 1917, has considerable interest in view of recent statements regarding the dangerous depletion of stocks, which it bears out to some extent regarding certain of the fields, with the striking exception of the largest of all—the Oklahoma-Kansas field. The following table summarizes the report in this respect:

Field.	Stocks on June 30. Barrels.	Loss from May 31.	Loss from June 30, 1916.

*Gain.

A considerable increase in shipments from the fields over last year, and at most a slight decrease over that for May, 1917, is reported from most of the fields. The Appalachian field reports a movement of 2,001,650 barrels in June, 88,456 fewer than in May, but 293,360 more than in June, 1916. The Oklahoma-Kansas field, however, reports moving 11,367,735 barrels in June, 754,753 more than in May, but 1,925,986 fewer than a year ago. The Gulf Coast field moved 1,360,397 barrels in June, 118,353 fewer than in May, and 113,221 more than a year ago.

THE COTTON MARKET

Net Gain of 74 Points for August and 22 to 25 for Later Deliveries.

There was a sharp advance in the cotton market yesterday, with near months relatively firm on rumors that Southern spot buyers were trying to obtain cotton out of the local market for August shipments. Contracts were very scarce, and only a little buying was required to send August contracts up to 21.18, or 88 points above Thursday's final figures; while October sold at 25.22, or 53 points net higher. The advance in later deliveries was less pronounced, but the tendency to cover short contracts for over the two-day holiday was stimulated by the near-month strength, and the new crop generally sold about 40 to 43 points net higher. The close was several points off from the best under realizing, promoted by private reports of showers in Texas, and a Galveston message reported that one of the coastwise lines was accepting cotton for New York. The final quotations showed a gain of 74 points for August, and gains of 23 to 25 points for October and later deliveries.

The market was quiet and irregular during the early trading. The opening was unchanged to 5 points higher on a little Liverpool buying, but the demand was soon supplied and prices worked about 4 to 8 points net lower during the middle of the morning. The tone then steadied on covering, which became more active as the scarcity of contracts made itself felt. This naturally indicated a continued absence of hedge selling from the South, and the nervousness of near-month shorts was increased by discussion of unfavorable shipping conditions for replacing local stocks.

There was some talk during the day of too much rain in eastern sections of the belt, but complaints of that sort did not attract much attention, as the rains follow a week of generally dry weather. There was some selling late in the day on reports of showers in the Southwest. On the whole, however, there seemed to be no change of sentiment as to crop prospects, although reconsideration of Wednesday's low condition figures probably helped to restrict offerings. Reports for the day were 11,906 bales, making 44,994 so far this season against 17,641 last year. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 25 points higher.

WHEAT.

The wheat market continues to await action in Washington. Old contracts are being evened up in the different markets, and fluctuations are feverish. The cash position is quiet, and very firm. Farmers are holding their wheat. The Modern Miller said that throughout the soft Winter wheat States stacking is more general than ever known before in these districts. Cash wheat in Kansas City was quoted at $2.66 for No. 2 red and $2.80 for No. 2 hard, with but little offering. Old Spring wheat was quoted at $2.95 for No. 1 Northern in Minneapolis, and $2.90 for No. 2 Northern. Cash wheat was offered in the local market, with No. 2 red quoted at $2.60, free on board, and No. 2 hard, $2.65, free on board, although quotations were nominal. No. 1 hard from the Southwest was still quoted at $2.96½, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

CORN.

Trading in the corn market was of fair volume, but, while operations were entirely in the new crop positions, the movement of prices continues to be dominated by the cash situation. In other words, the trade is inclined to be cautious about taking chances on the selling side of the new crop, with cash corn selling more than a dollar a bushel above the price of December delivery. This makes the chances of a big demand for new corn more than probable, and the splendid prospects for the new crop are having comparatively little influence. A few complaints were received from the Southwest of damage by drought, but over the greater part of the belt the crop is making good progress and the hot wave has been broken. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $2.44½ and No. 2 mixed at $2.42½, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

The oats market was slightly lower, owing to reports of abnormally large yields and prospects of increased offers from the country. The firmness in the cash position served to discourage heavy selling of September, and differences between September and December showed a tendency to widen. The local cash market was steady. Standard quoted at 90½c; No. 2 white, 91c; No. 3 white, 89½@90c; No. 4 white, 88½@89c; fancy clipped white, 92@94c; ordinary clipped white, 90@93c, all elevator.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil experienced another sharp advance, closing with net gains of 23 to 39 points. Shorts were active buyers, and sentiment was influenced by the further sharp upturn in lard. It has become evident that the market became oversold on the recent break, and prices have experienced a very radical advance, notwithstanding the fact that there are numerous bearish factors in the situation. The peace rumors, while not generally credited, have doubtless had a bullish influence on the market, and the recent large export sales of lard have served to revive confidence in prevailing prices. Total sales for the day were 56,600 barrels.

PROVISIONS.

The whole provision list developed activity and strength, with lard leading. Shorts were active buyers, and there were also evidences that packers were on the buying side. There was more or less covering for over Saturday's holiday and sentiment was influenced by peace rumors and talks of foreign buying aside from the recent buying for the Belgian relief. Holdings at scattered points seemed to be well absorbed. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 16,000 head, estimated for Saturday, 10,000; Kansas City received 3,500.

COFFEE.

While the coffee market was not active yesterday, prices were firmer, with futures closing at a net advance of 12 to 13 points. Sales were reported of 13,750 bags. The market opened at an advance of 1 to 3 points and improved during the day on a scattering demand, which was accompanied by reports that interior buyers were showing more interest in the cost and freight market. It was said, for instance, that if firm offers were available here on a reasonable basis, there would be sufficient demand in sight to take care of fully 100,000 bags, and there were also rumors of a better inquiry for spots out of the local stock.

SUGAR.

There was no letup in the continued advance in sugar futures, and at the start new high records were made with September selling at 6.08, and later in the day this month reached 6.15, carrying the full list to new highs. Trade houses bought early and absorbed offerings, but when Wall Street and outside interests hurried to cover their shorts they took profits. Spot sugar was at the highest level ever recorded, and this favored contracts which closed close to the best point of the day, final figures showing net gains of 4 to 17 points, with total sales of 24,000 tons.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 15,802 packages. The tone of the market holds firm. Trading was quieter, especially on high grades, but all such were in smaller proportion in the arrivals, and held very confidently. A little more medium and low grade butter was offered, but no concessions were made in asking prices. Renovated continues scarce and firm. Creamery, higher than extras, lb., 40¼@41c; extras, 92 score, 40c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 39@39½c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 37¼@38¼c; thirds, 37@37½c; unsalted, higher than extras, 41¼@42c; extras, 40½@41c; firsts, 39½@40c; seconds, 38½@39c; State dairy, tubs, finest, 39½@40c; good to prime, 38@39c; common to fair, 36@37½c; renovated, extras, 37½c; firsts, 36½@37c; lower grades, 35@36c; ladles, current make, firsts, 34¼@35c; seconds, 34c; lower grades, 33@33½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 34c; No. 2, 33½c; lower grades, 32¼@33c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 9,634 cases. There is a fair movement in good to fine qualities and some receivers report a little better clearance of the lower grades, although this has been effected only by continued pressure to sell and a willingness to accept comparatively low prices. Fancy goods scarce and firm, and the general range of values is without change. Nearby white eggs in light supply and strictly fancy qualities free from any hot weather defects are hard to find and prices for such rule firm. Defective lots irregular and selling in a wide range. Fresh gathered extras, dozen, 39@40c; extra firsts, 37@38c; firsts, 34@36c; seconds, 30@33c; thirds and poorer, 25@29c; dirties, No. 1, 28@29c; No. 2 and poorer, 20@27c; checks, good to choice, dry, 26@27c; undergrades, 18@25c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 47@48c; ordinary to good, 42@46c; gathered whites, good to fine, 42@46c; poor to fair, 32@40c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 32@42c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby hennery browns, 40@44c; gathered browns and mixed colors, 34@40c.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

Commenting on the condition of trade and the business of the banks, Dun's Review says:

Aside from the torrid weather, progress has continued impeded by the uncertainties arising from war conditions, and in some important branches there is rather more evidence of the midsummer lull than was manifest last year. The strong position of leading producers is illustrated by the Steel Corporation's unexampled earnings, but in most industries regular commitments are more or less restricted by the present high costs of materials and by the doubts about prospective price revisions.

Rising tendencies appear in bank clearings this week, and the total at leading centres, $5,029,830,928, was somewhat in excess of the previous week and again set new precedents for this period. Comparison with last year discloses a gain at all points of 20.7 per cent., while the figures are no less than 63 per cent. larger than at this time in 1915. The exchanges at New York, $3,298,865,478, show increases of 14.6 and 56.4 per cent. respectively, and the aggregate outside the metropolis, $1,730,965,450, is 34.4 per cent. better than a year ago and 77.2 per cent. greater than in 1915.

Bradstreet's says:

Domestic buyers hold aloof from making purchases of iron and steel, price advances have been checked, and manufacturers welcome the respite at this juncture when the Government is buying freely while proclaiming an embargo on exports of certain products. Prospective commandeering of vessels, the virtual control of certain machine tool plants, and price dictation for outputs of finished steel clearly indicate the passing of important entities from a peace footing to a war basis.

W. P. G. Harding Visits J. P. Morgan

W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, came on to New York yesterday from Washington. He visited the Federal Reserve Bank and later conferred with J. P. Morgan at the latter's offices. Mr. Harding rode off with Mr. Morgan in the banker's automobile. Mr. Morgan is a member of the Federal Reserve Advisory Council. No information was obtainable at the Reserve Bank regarding Governor Harding's visit.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

A good tone was displayed by the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange virtually throughout the day. There was a degree of irregularity in the closing dealings, but it was noted that such a prominent stock as United States Steel common failed to react materially. A fresh crop of peace rumors circulated, but apparently without effect upon the market. To a large extent, the day's movement of prices was dominated by Steel common.

WEST SIDE CONTRACT NEARS COMPLETION

ABOUT READY FOR HEARINGS

Report of Progress Made to Committee of Service Commission and Board of Estimate.

The drawing of a new contract between the city and the New York Central Railroad Company for the west side improvement, which has been going on for several weeks is practically completed, and if the company accepts the terms work on the improvement may begin soon. Reports as to the progress made in this and in other matters involved in the improvement were submitted yesterday at a meeting of the joint conference committee of the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate. Time presses, for under the law enacted at the last session of the Legislature an agreement must be reached by Dec. 1, or full control of the matter will pass into the hands of the Public Service Commission.

During the drawing of the contract a careful examination was made of the franchises, rights, easements, and property titles of the railroad company along the west side, and an early report covering all of these points will be made. Those present at yesterday's meeting were Borough Presidents Marks of Manhattan, and Van Name of Richmond, representing the Board of Estimate; Public Service Commissioners Hervey and Whitney, and the commission's chief counsel, William L. Ransom. After the meeting Commissioner Hervey, who has been elected Chairman in place of Commissioner Hodge, said that public hearings would soon be held for the discussion of fundamentals and to receive any suggestions the public might care to make.

Chairman Hervey was asked about the position of Vice President Place of the New York Central Railroad Company. Recently several members of the committee met Mr. Place at luncheon and the improvement was thoroughly discussed.

"Mr. Place takes the position," Mr. Hervey replied, "that his company and the Board of Estimate had done their best to reach a satisfactory agreement. He said that if anyone had a better form of contract than the one negotiated by him and the Board the company would be glad to consider it. All the company wants," he said, "is what is fair and right.

"That seems a fair proposition, and we are trying to meet it. Mr. Place has been working for six years and longer on his form of contract. We will not have to begin work all over again. Our starting point will be the improvement of vital points thus far negotiated and drafted. The work already done will be utilized and conserved."

All of the data collected by the Controller, the Corporation Counsel, and Mr. Place has been put at the disposal of the committee. City departments, that have been called upon for records concerning transfers of land, etc., have lent valuable assistance to the work. Concerning the difficult question of the transfer of land and the sacrifice of public rights, Mr. Hervey said:

"Before a contract to buy, sell, or exchange real estate can be entered into it is usually best to ascertain just what each party to the proposed bargain owns and is able to give title to. We don't want the city to give up anything to get back land it already owns, and we must know just what franchises and rights the railroad company now has so that we can judge whether it needs any more. To ascertain definitely the situation in these respects seems to be the first requisite for an agreement commanding public confidence. We hope soon to be able to make public information which will clear up certain misapprehensions as to these matters."

Harold G. Aron, head of the Real Estate Department of Instruction in the New York Law School, has been engaged to assist in drafting the real estate sections of the contract.

NEW CENTRAL RATES SHOW GENERAL RISE

SMALL ADVANCES IN CITY

Statisticians of the Public Service Commission got far enough through the maze of figures of the new fare schedules filed by the New York Central Railroad Company to submit to the commission yesterday a preliminary report. It was found that the increase in rates within the city limits was slight, varying from one to fifteen cents. But the rates to more distant points were substantially increased. The fare from this city to Albany is advanced from $3.10, the present rate, to $3.58, and the round trip rate from $5.75 to $6.65.

Other advances between this city and the points named are: To Utica, from $5 to $5.93; to Syracuse, from $6.06 to $7.25; to Rochester, from $7.68 to $9.28; to Buffalo, from $9.28 to $10.98, and to Niagara Falls, from $9.28 to $11.15.

It was also shown that while there were some reductions in rates they were far outnumbered by the advances, that the reductions were mainly in one-way fares to points reached only by the New York Central lines, and that these reductions were in reality increases, because the round-trip tickets were in nearly every instance just twice the amount of the one-way fare. The company also seeks to benefit by restricting the tickets to the day of sale, thus doing away with the thirty-day privilege.

On the Hudson Division, which is the main line of the road, the schedules show 180 advances in one-way fares and 64 advances in round-trip fares; on the Harlem Division there are 106 advances in single and round trip fares and two reductions, and on the Putnam Division there are 20 advances in the price of single and round trip tickets and the same number of reductions. It was said that there were 300 advances in fares and only half a dozen genuine reductions.

The company notified the commission that it desired to put the new rates into effect on Sept. 1 unless the Public Service Commission disapproved. At the meeting of the local commission yesterday afternoon the new tariff was suspended until Sept. 20, on the motion of Commissioner Hervey, who said that before consent was given to the increased rates a full inquiry into the need for them should be made. The first hearing will be held on Aug. 15.

So far the company has filed nothing with the commission except three volumes filled with figures showing the proposed changes in fare rates on the company's three lines. No reasons have been given for the proposed increases. Full explanations will doubtless be presented by the company in the public hearings, when the commission will be represented by ex-Judge William L. Ransom.

PRIZES FOR LOAN POSTERS.

A competition for posters to announce the next Liberty Loan was started yesterday by the Art Alliance of America. New York bankers have contributed $650 for prizes and an additional $100 has been put up by the Federal Woman's Liberty Loan Committee. The competition is open to all artists and art students who submit designs by Aug. 25 at the Art Alliance Galleries, 10 East Forty-seventh Street.

The first prize, $150, will go to the poster having the highest artistic qualities combined with the power to induce subscriptions. The second prize will be $100. If the Government selects one of these posters it will be bought for $250. A prize of $250 will also be paid for a poster designed by a woman artist, which is particularly adapted to present to women their duty to purchase Liberty bonds.

No Room for Disloyalty

ORGANIZED labor is engaged in the task of ridding itself of enemy influence. It is a praiseworthy task and a vital one. The element of disloyalty in the ranks of organized labor must be very small indeed, but no taint of suspicion should attach to any association of workers whose effort is so essential to the welfare of the country in a time of war. No one can be a true friend of labor who is not also a true friend of his country, and no one should, for a moment be permitted to speak or to act for labor who is at all open to the suspicion that he is half-hearted in support of this country in the struggle into which it has been forced. Loyalty is not a divisible quantity. One cannot be half loyal; neither can one be partly loyal to America and partly loyal to America's enemy.

Shipping Controversy Ended

THE controversy in the Shipping Board has been ended by the resignations of those who were engaged in it. It was an unseemly controversy, no matter who was right, for it was a controversy which delayed the construction of ships, and every day of delay there represented enormous cost. Some means of accommodation ought to have been found, or if that were impossible, the dispute should have been brought to a head long ago and ended as it now has been, or in some other way. It is not without regret, however, that the country can consider the possibility of losing the services of a man capable of constructing the Panama Canal. It is to be hoped that another field will be found in which the nations can profit by the work of General Goethals.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

A deal of more than ordinary interest which will lead to immediate improvement in the Pennsylvania Station zone was closed yesterday in the purchase by Archibald D. Russell of a large plot in Thirtieth and Thirty-first Streets, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues. The Thirty-first Street portion, which was acquired from the Pennsylvania Railroad, includes the parcels from 216 to 230 West, inclusive, while the abutting property on Thirtieth Street includes 225 to 237, inclusive. The plots at 225 and 227 were bought from the New York Colored Day Nursery, 229 and 231 from the Bond and Mortgage Company, 233 from John Finck, and 235 and 237 from the Becker estate. The frontage on Thirtieth Street is 147 feet, and 167.6 on Thirty-first Street, opposite the Pennsylvania Station.

The property was held at about $500,000. It has been leased by Mr. Russell for a term of twenty-one years to the Adams Express Company, which plans to improve it at an early date with a service building for its express business.

George Milne was the broker in both transactions. Mr. Russell a few years ago sold the block front on the west side of Eighth Avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Streets, to Larkin Brothers, who erected the Twenty-two-story Printers' Craft Building, which was practically fully rented soon after completion.

Fifty-sixth Street Sale Near Fifth Avenue.

An important sale, which will lead to the transformation of a large Fifty-sixth Street residence near Fifth Avenue for business, was closed in the purchase by Frederick Brown from Dr. Francis Le Roy Satterlee of the latter's dwelling at 6 West Fifty-sixth Street. It is a four-story house, fronting 25 feet, just west of Fifth Avenue. Mr. Brown plans to alter it into a five-story building with stores on the lower floors. The property was held at $125,000. Its assessed value is $115,000. W. L. Burrill of the office of Albert B. Ashforth negotiated the sale.

Sale on West Fiftieth Street.

Buys Harlem Garage Site.

J. Romaine Brown Company sold for the estate of Mary G. Pinkney a plot on the north side of 143d Street, east of Lenox Avenue, to James McLaughlin, who will improve the property with a fireproof garage.

Buyer of 26 West Fifty-fourth Street.

$8,000,000 Loan on New Hotel Pennsylvania.

The Prudential Insurance Company has made an $8,000,000 mortgage loan to the Pennsylvania Terminal Real Estate Company. The mortgage covers the property on the east side of Seventh Avenue from Thirty-second to Thirty-third Streets, 200 by 400, now being improved with a twenty-story structure to be known as the New Hotel Pennsylvania. The loan extends for six years at 5 per cent per annum.

Six tiers of steel beams have already been erected, and the white stone facing of the new structure is being placed on the second and third stories. The hotel, which will be connected with the Pennsylvania Station, will contain 2,200 rooms.

A mortgage as a building loan was recorded yesterday of $750,000, given by the City Mortgage Company to the 105 West Fifty-fifth Street, Inc., on the plot at the southwest corner of Sixth Avenue and Central Park South, (Fifty-ninth Street,) for the erection of a fourteen-story apartment house. The plot is opposite the New York Athletic Club, fronting 71.6 by 100.5.

Bronx Sales.

Anna M. Jones sold to E. Cohen for investment 2,726 Decatur Avenue, a five-story apartment, occupying a plot 57 by 100, near 195th Street. The property was held at $60,000.

Brooklyn.

Calder's Real Estate Company sold the apartment hotel, 69 and 71 South Oxford Street, known as the Roanoke Hotel, to E. Paige of Hartford, Conn., for investment.

The Realty Associates sold 1,136 Fifty-fourth Street, between Eleventh and Twelfth Avenues, a two-story brick dwelling, on a lot 20 by 38 by 100.2, to Mathilda Miller.

The new four-story apartment house, with stores, at 612 and 614 Bushwick Avenue, corner of Jefferson Avenue, on a plot 50 by 100, has been sold by Charles Buerman & Co. for M. Woleski to William Slottman.

Queens Borough Sales.

William D. Bloodgood & Co., Inc., sold 261 Twelfth Avenue, a new five-story twenty-five-family apartment house, located in Astoria, to Dr. A. R. Allen, for investment.

The Ed Cooper Building Corporation sold to L. Burkard the property on the northwest corner of Cooper Avenue and Slocum Street, Ridgewood, consisting of a dwelling and store, on a plot 34 by 81.

F. Fitting, M. Menzel, H. Gebhard, and W. Woldmuller sold to E. F. Cornell 25 by 100 feet on the southwest corner of Charlotte Avenue and Seventh Street, 50 by 100 feet on the west side of Tenth Street, 325 feet north of Jackson Avenue, and 25 by 100 feet on the north side of Charlotte Avenue, 50 feet west of Eighth Street, in the Charlotteville section of the Fourth Ward.

Long Island.

J. Irving Walsh sold for George H. Budke to James Slater McHugh, a new private dwelling and garage at Irving Place, adjoining corner Central Avenue, Woodmere, L. I., for $15,000.

Buys Fifty Staten Island Lots.

Leases West Side Flats.

The three 5-story apartment houses at 69, 71 and 73 West Eighty-eighth Street, the latter being at the northeast corner of Columbus Avenue, have been leased for the Theophilus E. Roessle estate by J. Jelot to a client for ten years. The aggregate rental will be $162,500.

Commercial Lease.

Ogden & Clarkson Corporation leased for The Gotham Hotel, the building at 10 West Fifty-fifth Street, to Mood, dressmakers, formerly at 30 West Thirty-ninth Street.

Castle Venice Sale Today.

Arthur C. Sheridan will sell at auction today, at 1 o'clock, on the premises, the country shore residence known as Castle Venice, fronting on Long Island Sound at Rotan Point, Conn. The house is built of granite. The property contains three acres, with garage and other outbuildings. It is near the country estates of William Ziegler, Jr., John S. Hoyt, and John D. Crimmins.

Sale at Deal Today.

Joseph P. Day will sell today, at 2:30 o'clock at auction on the premises at Deal Beach, four corner residential plots, averaging in size from 75 by 150 to 106 by 150. THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The heated spell is practically at an end, although temperatures are still above the seasonal average in Southern New England and in portions of the Middle Atlantic States.

There has been a second rise in temperature in the Missouri Valley, where temperatures are again considerably above the normal.

Showers have been frequent in the South Atlantic and Gulf States and heavy rains have fallen along the South Atlantic Coast.

Generally fair weather will continue north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi Rivers, except in the western portion of the lake region, where thunder showers are indicated for Saturday and Sunday.

Temperature will rise in the boundary States from Minnesota to New England.

FORECASTS TODAY AND SUNDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, and Northern New England—Fair Saturday and Sunday; somewhat warmer Sunday.

Southern New England—Fair Saturday and Sunday.

Western New York — Fair and slightly warmer Saturday and probably Sunday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

INDICT COOPER FOR THE CRUGER FAILURE

BLAME POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Extraordinary Grand Jury, which has been investigating the Cruger case, returned an indictment yesterday charging Acting Captain Alonzo P. Cooper with neglect of duty, and a presentment making a number of criticisms on the Police Department.

The Grand Jury decided not to pass on the conduct of a high police official against whom evidence had been received, but to leave this question to a special Grand Jury which will be summoned on Aug. 27. The Grand Jury had had time to hear only a part of the evidence against this official. Evidence against several detectives concerning their failure in the Cruger case, and evidence that motorcycle policemen had accepted graft was also passed on to the new Grand Jury.

Acting Captain Cooper, who is charged with a misdemeanor, was in charge of the Fourth Branch Detective Bureau when the report was made that Ruth Cruger had disappeared. The specific charges against him are that he neglected to issue orders for a thorough search of the basement, in which the body of the girl was buried, and that he failed to order a thorough investigation of the reputation borne by Alfredo Cocchi, her murderer. He was released on bail of $1,000 by Judge McIntyre. The presentment of the Grand Jury says:

The Grand Jury has been unable, so far, to do more than merely begin an investigation into the affairs of the Police Department of the City of New York; but we have advanced sufficiently to ascertain the following facts:

First—That there is a lack of co-ordination and co-operation between the uniformed police force of the City of New York and the Detective Bureau of the department. Matters of importance concerning cases are ascertained by the uniformed force and are not reported to the branch detective bureau. Members of the detective force attached to the branch bureau make no effort to seek information from members of the uniformed force in regard to matters of interest in their work, peculiarly within the knowledge of the uniformed force.

Second—There seems to be a lack of interest in the discovery of crime on the part of the officers and detectives of the Fourth Branch Detective Bureau. This indifference and apathy on the part of the officers and detectives prevents the discovery of crime and permits the escape of criminals.

Third—There seems to be no adequate supervision of detective work on the part of the Commissioner in charge thereof.

Fourth—In the case of missing persons there has been a senseless and cruel rule on the part of the Police Department to do nothing in regard to a missing person for twenty-four hours. When urged by friends and relatives of missing persons to take immediate action they have invoked this rule. The Grand Jury is of the opinion that missing persons should receive at least the same attention as do missing automobiles and that there should be a general alarm issued at once in the case of a missing person.

Fifth—There seems to be little or no supervision over the motorcycle policemen, who appearently remain off post as long as they desire and congregate in places outside of their respective posts.

The Grand Jury urgently recommends that the Grand Jury of the Extraordinary Term of the Supreme Court ordered to be convened the 27th of August, 1917, continue this investigation.

In thanking and dismissing the Grand Jury, Judge McIntyre of General Sessions said that he had hoped to have the present Grand Jury continue with its work, but that Governor Whitman had directed that the continuation of the Cruger investigation should be held by a Grand Jury summoned to act with Supreme Court Justice Goff.

The new Grand Jury, which will meet on Aug. 27, will investigate the Police Department from top to bottom. Part of the testimony already taken in the Cruger case, which throws a vivid light on detective methods then existing, will be repeated to the new Grand Jury, and it will then take up phases of the Cruger case which the present Grand Jury did not have time to inquire into thoroughly. Police Commissioner Woods will be recalled to the stand, and Deputy Commissioner Guy Scull will be called to complete a statement in defense of his methods at the head of the Detective Bureau. Inspectors Faurot and Cray and a number of detectives and other witnesses will have to be called before the Cruger case is fully heard.

After that other police matters will be taken up in an investigation, which may last from two to three months, according to Assistant District Attorney Talley. One of these questions will be the motorcycle and automobile graft revealed by the Cruger case. Another will be alleged police protection to poolrooms and handbook keepers. A third will be a study of the reasons for the failure of the police to deal effectively with silk burglaries. Police records in the hands of the District Attorney show that more than 3,100 silk burglaries have occurred so far this year, causing losses totaling nearly $500,000, but that arrests occurred in only 10 per cent. of these cases. An investigation will be made of records and reports of various kinds to discover whether the disregard of police rules which prevailed among motorcycle policemen is to be found in other branches of the service. An investigation will be made of indications that certain members of the Police Department have deliberately failed to take action against large receivers of stolen goods.

Continuing the reforms which have been instituted in the Police Department since a number of criticisms were made upon it by Commissioner of Accounts Wallstein after his investigation of the Cruger case, Police Commissioner Woods announced yesterday that he had established a school for detectives and that classes would begin week after next. Commissioner Scull had planned this innovation several months ago, but the details have not been worked out until recently. Such a school was put in operation by Police Commissioner Waldo, but it was dropped because so many detectives had to appear in court that the classes were broken up. The instructors will be detectives and officials who are recognized as the most expert men in the department in particular branches of detective work. The school will be under the direction of Police Inspector John Cray, and the following will be in charge of instruction in different subjects: Lieutenant Richard McKenna, trailing and shadowing; Sergeant Frank Cassasa, pickpockets; Lieutenant Patrick Gildea, loft and safe burglaries; Captain Arthur Carey, homicides; Sergeant Curtaine, flat burglaries; Detective John Finn, wagon thieves; Lieutenant John Boyle, pawnshops; Acting Captain Grant Williams, missing persons; Lieutenant Joseph Donovan, reports and records; Detective Clinton Wood, labor troubles; Acting Captain William Jones, firearms; Inspector Thomas Myers, automobile identification; Captain Thomas J. Tunney, anarchists, and Lieutenant Williams, gangsters. Several lawyers will lecture on the legal subjects, particularly giving the law on circumstances justifying arrests.

It was further announced that a new form of report had been drawn up to simplify the work of detectives. The detective will be able to give routine information regarding reported crimes by writing answers to printed questions.

Deputy Police Commissioner Dunham yesterday postponed the trials of Lieutenant John Stapleton and Sergeant August Mayer, who are accused of neglecting to protect the silk store of Max Nirenberg at 659 Broadway after Mr. Nirenberg had reported that he had evidence that it was planned to rob his place. The trials were postponed because of the absence of Mr. Nirenberg.

F. T. DAVISON IS GAINING; NO PERMANENT INJURY

Legs Are Partly Paralyzed Now, but Hospital Authorities Say He May Re-enter Aviation Service.

Alarming reports as to the condition of F. Trubee Davison, younger son of Henry P. Davison, member of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross, who fell with his airplane into the water off Huntington, L. I., last Saturday, were declared to be greatly exaggerated by surgeons at St. Luke's Hospital last night. After a statement made by Thomas Cochran of the Morgan firm about a consultation of specialists at St. Luke's Hospital, where young Davison was taken on Saturday night, the report became current that injuries to his spine had paralyzed his legs and that he might never fully recover the use of them. It was said that he could not walk for a long time, possibly a year, and that he would probably never be fit for military service again.

At the hospital last night it was said that this version of the young aviator's injuries was much overdrawn. His legs are partly paralyzed at present, but his progress in the last few days has been very rapid and it is thought that he will be able to get about in a very much shorter time than a year. There was no indication, it was said, that he would not recover completely and be able again to enter the aviation service.

Four or five physicians and surgeons have been in constant attendance at his bedside and his parents and brother, Henry P. Davison, Jr., have been with him almost continually since he was hurt. Yesterday his brother, who is also in training for the aviation service, went back to Huntington, unshaken by the accident, to resume his schooling.

The entire Davison family is engaged in some sort of war work. Mr. Davison is giving all his time to the Red Cross, his wife is engaged in relief work, and the two daughters, Alice and Frances, have learned wireless telegraphy.

OSBORNE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Says He Will Get Naval Prisoners Back Into Service.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 3.—Thomas Mott Osborne, former Warden of Sing Sing, who has been appointed to the command of the Portsmouth Naval Prison, took charge of the institution today, appearing in the uniform of a Lieutenant Commander of the Naval Reserve. In an address to the prisoners and guards, Mr. Osborne said he would try to carry out the wishes of Secretary Daniels and make the prison a model one.

The Government, he added, had made an investment in the men confined there, and had put him in charge in an endeavor to realize on its investment. For that reason, he did not believe men should be thrown out of the service. "It is my duty to do repair work among the men and get them back into the service with a clean record," he said.

PRINCETON SHORTENS TERM

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 3.—By the decision of the special Princeton Faculty Committee, appointed to consider problems arising out of the war, students may now get their degrees at Princeton University in three years instead of four. This will be obtained by special intensive course of study and work during part of the Summer vacations.

For the men who have not completed their college course, it is the university's intention to present special engraved war certificates, setting forth that the holder was a student in good and regular standing and left to enter his country's service.

MRS. LA TOUCHE HELD IN BIG BAIL FOR THEFT

ARRESTED AFTER DISCHARGE

Magistrate Decides That Complaint Is Civil Action Instead of Criminal Proceeding.

Mrs. Marion La Touche, 66 years old, and said by Assistant District Attorney Weil to be one of the most noted of women swindlers, who was arrested last week on a charge of promoting a get-rich-quick scheme among women, was held in $35,000 bail yesterday by Judge McIntyre in General Sessions, where she was arraigned on an indictment charging her with the specific misappropriation of $200. As she was unable to furnish a bondsman the woman was committed to the Tombs pending trial.

The complainant was Mrs. Anna M. Fitzgerald of 78 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn, who alleged that she gave Mrs. La Touche $200 to invest and never received anything in return, though she said she made several demands. According to Assistant District Attorney Weil there were several other women who reported to him that they had been swindled by the defendant. One complainant declared she had lost $11,000, while two others in the court room said they had been swindled out of smaller sums.

Mr. Weil asked Judge McIntyre to fix bail at $50,000 in view of the woman's alleged past record.

"Her career extends back to 1875," he said. "In her lifetime she has swindled hundreds of women out of millions of dollars. When she takes their money she disappears and does not show up again for a year or two. She has been indicted for grand larceny at least twice in the past and has served time in prison."

"I know all about her," the Court said. "In order to make sure that she will appear when wanted I will fix bail at $35,000."

Mrs. La Touche was arrested just as she was leaving the Tombs Court where she had been discharged by Magistrate Murphy on a similar complaint made by Mrs. Alice M. Hutchinson of 363 West 123d Street. Mrs. Hutchinson charged the defendant with the grand larceny of $2,000 which she said had been given to the latter to invest for her. Magistrate Murphy decided that the complaint was a civil action instead of a criminal proceeding.

ASSAIL CHILDREN'S HOME.

Farm Is Quarantined and Superintendent Is Fined.

As the result of an investigation of a charge made by Morris Cohen of 3,970 Third Avenue, the Bronx, that children committed to the care of the East Side Home for Destitute Children, 326-328 East 121st Street, kept at the farm conducted by the organization at Hopewell Junction in the town of Beekman, Dutchess County, were underfed and neglected, the farm is under quarantine for diphtheria and Mrs. Blanche Cannon, the superintendent, has been fined $35 for conducting the place without a license from the town.

The authorities, after the quarantine is lifted, it is said, will continue their investigation of the death of John Pandora, 17 months old, an inmate of the home, who, it is alleged, died as the result of burns received when he was bathed in scalding water. When the original charges were made F. H. Wentzel, State Superintendent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, began an investigation. What he saw at the farm resulted in presenting the case to Assistant District Attorney Edward H. Haas of Poughkeepsie.

It was found that while Mrs. Cannon had a license from the New York City Department of Health she had none from the Beekman Board of Health. Justice of the Peace De Long summoned Mrs. Cannon for trial, but found that the State Board of Health had discovered that diphtheria was prevalent on the farm and had quarantined the place. It was necessary to hold the trial in a barn on the farm. Dr. Tripp, Health Officer of Beekman, testified that no license had been issued. He said that he visited the place and found conditions unsatisfactory. Mr. Wentzel testified that the children appeared to be underfed; that conditions were of an insanitary nature, and that the place was unclean.

Mrs. Cannon was fined, but six weeks of grace were allowed by the court. Then if the fine is not paid she will be confined in the county jail for thirty-five days.

There were sixty children at the Beekman farm on Friday, July 20, when Mr. Haas and the representatives of the Children's Society visited it. According to the testimony of the agents of the Children's Society the children were underfed.

NEW ARRIVALS AT THE ZOO.

From the beginning of the war there was a steady decline in the arrivals of wild animals from Europe until it ceased altogether, and on account of the lack of cargo space no wild animals or birds have arrived recently from South America. In consequence William T. Hornaday, Director of the Zoological Park, was elated yesterday over the arrival of a collection of animals, birds, and reptiles from Australia made after six months' hard work by Ellis S. Joseph at a cost of $6,000. The collection included two rabbit-eared bandicots, two water mongooses, two West Australian rat kangaroos, one tree kangaroo, three yellow-footed rock wallabies, two Woodward kangaroos, one Paddy Mellen wallaby, two rufus-necked wallabies, two Tasmanian black phalangers, and four marsupial mice. Among the reptiles were twelve snake-necked turtles, six bluetongued lizards and ten dragon lizards.

An attempt was made to send over an Australian duck-billed platypus, which is the only combination of animal, fish and bird known to naturalists. It has a duck bill, web feet, broat, fat, horny tail, which is used as a rudder in swimming and as a club in a fight, lays eggs and suckles its young. Without reason, the duck-billed platypus will leave its lonely cavern on the bed of the sea for the shore and climb to the top of a tall palm tree. The strange combination of mammal, fish, and bird will make a survey of the surrounding scenery for a few moments and then dive from the tree into the sea. When pleased the platypus will rub its back against a rock and utter soft low gurgles resembling the growls of a Newfoundland puppy. When angry it rushes about and jabs things with its tail.

The New York Woman Suffrage Association, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Chairman, has moved to new quarters at 3 East Thirty-eighth Street. The new headquarters is a four-story brownstone building. A 25-cent table d'hote lunch, begun for propaganda work, will be continued in the new building.

Aid Is Needed for Young Wife.

A young wife is having a hard struggle to keep her home together. Her husband is unable to work, and the entire support of their two children, a girl of 6 and a boy of 4, falls on the woman, who is not strong. Contributions toward a fund of $56 to assist the family may be mailed to the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities at 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, marked "for 0328T."

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Aug. 3.—Duer du Pont Breck, Assistant Secretary of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, was found dead near his bungalow on the shore of a small lake near here early this morning. A few minutes after Mr. Breck had left his house with a shotgun to shoot birds on Hempstead Plain the butler heard a shot, but did not go to the window to look out. When a servant started from the house to walk toward the lake a few hours later he found the body of Mr. Breck near the lake. The charge of the gun had entered the neck and jaw, and death had apparently come instantly.

Dr. Louis W. Laneheart, who was called, expressed the opinion that the shooting was accidental. He said that Mr. Breck had apparently put the butt of the gun to the ground to make an examination of the muzzle or some other part of it and the shell had been discharged. Walter R. Jones, Nassau County Coroner at Hempstead, received information of the death, and he said he would hold an inquest on Wednesday.

Chase Mellen, a brother-in-law of Mr. Breck, and a member of the law firm of Strong & Mellen, 27 Cedar Street, New York, and George M. Hubbell, a real estate operator, of 46 Cedar Street, who lived with Mr. Breck in the Summer cottage, said their companion had been in the habit of making short shooting trips, but they refused to discuss the shooting. Mrs. Breck and a son and two daughters, now in Maine, have started for Garden City and will arrive tomorrow.

COLD TO GERMAN LANGUAGE.

Failure to find an instructor willing, for $12 a week, to devote four hours weekly to the teaching of German, and a lack of students who wish to learn that language in the school of the Brooklyn Eastern District Turnverein, are reported in the German newspapers of this city. At the club house at Bushwick and Gates Avenues, Brooklyn, it was said last night that the Board of Directors had decided to discontinue the school unless a teacher could be found before September. It was further said that Henry Abeles, President of the United Turner Societies, declared he would be willing to instruct the class himself if a teacher did not apply for the place.

More than fifty pupils have studied the German language in the class in other years, but last Spring the number dropped to thirty-eight. The German language newspapers said that it was resolved "with a heavy heart temporarily to suspend the German school maintained by the society, as of late a material lack of interest has made itself felt and there is a great lack of pupils who wish to satisfy their thirst for knowledge in German."

PITTSBURGH LIFE MEN INDICTED FOR THEFT

Birdseyes and Montgomery Are Charged with Grand Larceny and Held Under $7,500 Bail.

Company's Directors Tell Grand Jury How Assets Were Manipulated.

On the testimony of the Directors of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company the May Grand Jury, at a night session held on Thursday, voted indictments charging Clarence F. Birdseye, Kellogg Birdseye, his son, and George F. Montgomery with grand larceny in connection with the alleged wrecking of the company in May.

The three defendants voluntarily surrendered to District Attorney Swann yesterday afternoon, and were arraigned before Judge McIntyre in General Sessions. Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Talley asked that bail be set at $10,000, but attorneys for the three men pleaded that the amount was excessive. Judge McIntyre finally released the defendants under $7,500 bail each.

The indictment charges the three with defrauding the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company out of $1,300,000 through manipulation of its assets. A second count alleged that they fraudulently represented to the officials of the insurance company that the insurance authorities of New York State and Pennsylvania had given their consent to the sale of the Washington Life Building, at 141 Broadway, for which the company was to receive bonds of the Dare Lumber Company, the paper value of which was placed at $3,900,000. The count further alleged that the defendant said the insurance officials had agreed that the Pittsburgh company should loan the purchaser $2,000,000 in cash and $900,000 in bonds of the Dare Lumber Company. Through these misrepresentations, the indictment recites, the Birdseyes and Montgomery actually obtained $1,300,000.

At the time of the investigation into the muddled affairs of the company in May, witnesses told Assistant District Attorney Talley that the two Birdseyes manipulated the ownership of the Washington Life Building by means of a dummy, Stonewall Jackson by name. The Dare Lumber Company mentioned in the indictment was promoted by the two Birdseyes and Montgomery. Although investigation disclosed that this company had only one apparent source of revenue, a ninety-nine-year contract with a New York wood-pulp concern capitalized at only $2,000, nevertheless its paper value grew to $20,000,000.

The three defendants, together with Robert Moore, President of the Commercial Trust Company of this city; J. C. Watson, and W. D. McQueston, were indicted in Pittsburgh early in May on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the insurance company's financial difficulties. The two Birdseyes, Moore, Watson, and Montgomery were later arrested on warrants issued at the request of the Pennsylvania authorities and admitted to bail pending extradition proceedings.

Books for Students of Psychical Phenomena

Since Sir Oliver Lodge, the English scientist, published his book "Raymond," or "Life and Death," in which he tells of constant communication after death with his gallant young son killed in the war, interest in psychical research has been greatly stimulated. Whatever personal opinions one may hold, one would be blasé, indeed, to remain uninterested in the face of sincere and scientific believers in such phenomena. For almost everyone the subject holds an attraction.
